PROJECTED NEW CAR LINE HAS NOT BEEN GIVEN UP

W. L. Thompson Says a Railway Will Be Built to the Park If He Has to Do It Himself.

HE THINKS THE OPPOSITION WILL DIE OUT.

There is every prospect that within the next year the residents of this city can ride to Thompson park over a new street railway.

"The majority of those persons opposed to the construction of the proposed railway from the city up Pennsylvania avenue to the boulevard," said W. L. Thompson this afternoon, "I believe will be the strongest supporters of the scheme as soon as they weigh the matter carefully."

Continuing Mr. Thompson said: "The matter of building this road immediately has been dropped, but it will be taken up again very soon. A street railway has a tendency to increase the value of any territory through which it is run, and if in other cities why not in East Liverpool? People in Pittsburg along the principal street of the city, Fifth avenue, did not object to a good street railway service. It had a tendency to increase business in the lower part of the city, and in the outskirts it increased the value of residence properties. The same can be done in this city, and the fact has been proven."

When asked if he would begin work on this line soon, Mr. Thompson did not care to express himself on the matter, but from the way he talked one was led to believe that an additional road would be built in the territory designated. In fact, the gentleman said that a road would be built to the park if he had to build it himself.

The remark was quite a broad one, and it is known that when Mr. Thompson makes up his mind to make an improvement, it is generally made. As to to the route that will be traversed by the road nothing definite can be learned, as all matters concerning it are yet in embryo.

It is known that Mr. Healy, of the East Liverpool railway company, has the privilege to construct an extension to the Calcutta road branch from its present terminus at Thompson park, through to the East End, but when work on this extension is to be commenced cannot be learned. This company has a large amount of work on its hands just at present, and the opinion of many is that the road via the boulevard to the East End will be begun before fall.

SAGGER MAKERS FORM NEW LOCAL

They Are Reported at Loggerheads With Trenton Kilnmen Just Now.

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., July 11.—The installation of a uniform price list in the sanitary potteries, which went into effect last Monday, marks a new epoch in the history of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in this city.

Directly upon the success of the Brotherhood, comes the news of dissension in the ranks of the local assembly of the K. of L., prompted by the refusal of the Trenton Manufacturing Potters' association to adopt the uniform price list which they presented last April.

The Knights of Labor are composed principally of insurgent jiggermen, who withdrew from the organization after its first attempt to install the uniform list in the general ware plants of the east.

William Clayton, who was the controlling influence of the Knights of Labor, has withdrawn from that organization, and is using his oratorical powers in advocating the belief of the Seventh Day Adventists.

Albert Craat, who along with Clayton was one of the organizers of the jiggermen, has left the organization and is now foreman of the pressing shop of the Mercer pottery.

For more than a year past the Knights of Labor have been advertising their fast increasing membership, which, as now seen, was simply a movement to secure members from the Brotherhood. A mixed local was formed, comprising jiggermen, kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, numbering in all only about 125 members.

The organization last April created considerable surprise by advocating the adoption of a uniform price list for general ware plants which was submitted to the manufacturers for approval. The list compiled by the insurgents was pigeon holed, and nothing more has been heard of it, save the many attempts of the Knights of Labor to secure a conference.

The adoption of the sanitary list virtually goes to show that the Brotherhood has been recognized by the manufacturers as the controlling body among the potters. The success which the Brotherhood has attained in the west in settling local disputes has appealed to the manufacturers, who have consented to treat with the Brotherhood officials in the future.

The new sanitary list affects about 1,200 clay workers, who are distributed among the plants located in the following cities: Kokomo, Wheeling, Tiffin, New Castle, Camden, Elizabeth and Trenton.

The list provides for a general increase averaging from 8 to 10 per cent, and a more uniform rate to be paid in the manufacture of specialties.

EAST LIVERPOOL AHEAD

COLUMBIANA COUNTY LEADS IN B. & L. ASSETS.

This City Has $1,348,452 in Such Associations—Its People Believe in Co-Operation.

John J. Purinton, secretary of the Potters' Building & Savings company, is preparing a paper on "The Conditions of the Building & Loan Associations of Eastern Ohio," which is to be read at the annual meeting at Put-in-Bay this year. He says that Columbiana county leads all the eastern counties bot. in the number of building and loan associations, number of members and amount of money deposited with them. Columbiana county having $2,413,788.88 of assets. Of this amount the East Liverpool associations have $1,348,452.07.

There is no city in the state of Ohio outside of Dayton that makes as good per capita a showing as this. And when we remember that this money and these associations are the property of 5,000 stockholders and not the property of 40 or 50 moneyed men, we more fully appreciate the substantial character of our city and citizens, and the high standing and regard in which the building and loans are held by the laboring class.

It surely proves that the workingmen and women believe in co-operation and want the full return of what ther money earns.

Suit For Partition.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—John Wallace, of Columbiana, has entered suit in common pleas court for the partition of the estate of Mrs. Margaret A. Wallace, late of Columbiana, consisting of a three-acre piece of land in that town. Mr. Wallace asks that a 1-3 interest be set off to him.

Married By Dr. Taggart.

Charles E. Kenendy, of Wheeling, and Miss Margaret Nixon, of this city, were married last evening at 8 o'clock by Dr. J. C. Taggart at the First U. P. church parsonage.

PRACTICAL JOKERS WITH REVOLVERS

A CROWD SOON COLLECTED

And Scared the Victim Nearly Out of His Wits With Shouts and Shots. How the Plot Was Originated and Was Carried Out.

A goose-pasturing without precedent in this city occurred last night in the Smoky row district. It was witnessed by scores of people and they are all suffering today from hearty and side-bursting fits of laughter forced upon them by the unusually comic accompaniments to the joke. The name of the victim is known, but by his earnest request it is withheld. He came to the city some time ago and has been regularly employed by a plastering firm.

It seems that since coming to the city he has been unable to find a young lady friend of the sort he desired. He confided to another young man at the Washington house, who promised to help him out. He promised an introduction to a most attractive young woman and promised to arrange for a meeting. Then he called his friends together and the plans for the joke were laid.

Returning to the plasterer, the joker invited him to follow. He followed and was led up the street to a dark corner. Both stood there a few minutes, waiting for the lady. The plasterer was struck dumb by the appearance of another man backed by a dozen friends. A revolver was suddenly thrust in his face and the new comer said: "I've got you now. You are the man that has been after my wife for months."

Before giving the victim a chance to reply the pistol, loaded with blank cartridges, was fired several times. The hotel man made it strong by falling with loud moans to the pavement. The scene that followed beats anything on record. The poor fellow, scared almost to death, started on a wild run up the street with the gang after him firing their pistols at every stride. Reaching the C. & P. freight yards he sank to the ground and moaned, almost inaudibly. "Please don't shoot me. I never did any wrong in my life."

His appeals came to naught. The crowd by this time had increased to over 200, many being attracted from neighboring streets, made a rush on the unlucky chap, and after a dozen or more volleys were fired at him he once more took to his heels. The last seen of him was far up the railroad track, disappearing around the end of a box car.

A THIRD TRACK

From Rochester to Wellsville Among Proposed C. & P. Improvements.

The Cleveland & Pittsburg Railroad company proposes to make more improvements about this city than the general public has anticipated. The laying of a double track is not all. It is said the purpose of the company is to build a third track from Rochester to Wellsville, and from that point to Bellaire there will be two tracks. In this city surveyors are now at work making a survey for the third track. Under the old survey for two tracks, the new track would be run along the line of the fence at the Hotel Lake property. That this need not be done the new survey has been ordered.

The matter of securing additional property about this city, it is said, has slackened somewhat, but the original intention of the company is not dropped.

Did Not Interfere.

John Monsey, foreman of the East End sewer pipe works, denies that he interfered in the arrest of Gould, an employe of the works by a colored constable from Wellsville. Mr. Monsey asked the constable to defer making the arrest until evening in order not to delay the work of the plant. The colored official threatened Mr. Monsey with arrest, and he ordered him from the premises. This ended the incident.

Raised the Quarantine.

A DISAPPEARANCE AT SMITH'S FERRY

EDITOR J. A. HOWELL'S PEN

Interesting Features of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania Suburb. Charming Spot For an Outing—Tale of Ohio River Floods.

J. A. Howells, editor of the Ashtabula Sentinel, has been spending his vacation at Smith's Ferry. Mr. Howells is a brother of the novelist, W. D. Howells, and like him wields a facile pen. In a letter to his paper, he writes thus of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania suburb:

This is a charming spot for a summer outing. A mile below is the line which divides Pennsylvania from Ohio and West Virginia. In front of the hotel is a country road and then a locust grove on the brink of the river. At the back of the hotel is a counry road and the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad, and then the hills rise abruptly 200 or 300 feet, clothed to the very top with trees and bushes. We are told that the view from the top of the hill gives a magnificent stretch of the Ohio and country and for miles up and down the river. We will believe it without trying to prove it by climbing up the hill.

In the grove are two stones, three feet high and 6x10 inches square; between them is a smaller one on which there is a meridian mark. A short time since a party of government surveyors came along and erected a frame work over it which looks like a hen coop made to keep ostriches in. It is made of odds and ends of drift wood but to give it some dignity, a notice printed on cloth is tacked on it which reads: "United States Geological survey. $250 fine for molesting this signal $25 reward to informer."

We are kept busy watching the river and a little ferry boat plies across the river at this place. It is very intering to see the little boat going back and forth. It is propelled by the force of the current.

Just now nothing could be more charming and restful than a stay on the banks of the la Belle river—Ohio. The water is up to the banks and the banks are green to the water's edge. As we look across the river from our shady grove, we see on the bank a dozes large houses in generous yards which face the river, and occupy a mile frontage. A half mile back, hills rise off the bottom to the height of one or two hundred feet, their sides and tops covered with forest, wheat oats, corn and orchards. The varying colors from deep green to golden grain gives a picture which can never be tiresome, especially at this time when the monotony—if there can be a monotony in a broad river—is broken every hour or two by a passing steamer. Later, say in August and September, when the river has run down to a third of its present width, and the boats have ceased to run, then that part of the interest in the river is gone.

The dwellers on the banks of the Ohio have their troubles as well as their joys. There are few places along the river, where the people live on the "first bank," that they are not liable to be driven out of their houses by high water. The hotel where we are stopping was built in 1835. Its occupants have been driven into the second story probably a dozen times since it was built, and in 1884, the water was four feet deep all over the first floors; in March of the present year the water was within two feet of the first floor. The merchant next door had to move everything out of the basement of his store, and the water was within six inches of the floor. After being drowned out there is a bad time for the "wo men folks," as the flood leaves a thick coat of mud, and the damp floors make a mess of everything.

Thirty years ago the oil boom was on at this place. Smith's Ferry became at once an important point. Many flowing wells were struck and speculation was rampant. People came to buy territory and to buy oil. At this time there is one well which for all these years has given a small but steady yield, and furnishes a good monthly revene to its fortunate owner.

One of the oldest residents related to us this incident. Some thirty

SECRET SERVICE MAN

IN THIS CITY LOOKING AFTER COUNTERFEIT COIN.

A Large Amount of It Is Now Reported In Circulation Here.

Circulation of spurious coin in the city has given rise to the filing of numerous complaints at police headquarters during the past week. Although it is said that the counterfeit is in some cases of large denomination the greater number detected consists of dimes. The street car companies are probably suffering the heaviest of any, but the merchants are close seconds.

A secret service man is in the city and doing all possible to run down the circulators. It is the general opinion that those doing the work are strangers and a close watch is being kept on suspicious looking men.

A GILT-EDGE CAMP

Quarters of East Liverpool Boys at Port Huron Interestingly Described.

The Resorter, published at Port Huron, Mich., has the following in its last issue about the Gilt Edge Camping club of this city:

"The Gilt Edge Camping club, 27 strong, is now camping below LaSalle Beach. The young men are from East Liverpool, O., a section where the hot weather drives its inhabitants to a cooler clime, and they seek here along the shore of the lake recreation and comfort for a short period of three weeks. The club is a new one, this being its first year's camp, but the boys intend enjoying themselves just as if they were old timers.

"Their outfit consists of a dining tent, cooking tent and two sleeping tents, one of the latter holding 24 men. They have gasoline torches to illuminate their quarters and large banners have been put up to let the people know who they are. Two large American flags have also been raised in front of their camp. The club arrived Saturday by boat and expects to stay here for three weeks."

YOUNGSTOWN TO POLAND

Incorporation Papers Filed for Another Projected Electric Railway.

Columbus, July 12.—(Special.)—The Youngstown & Southeastern Electric Railway company was incorporated at the office of the secretary of state late Friday afternoon. The new concern starts out with a capitalization of $50,000. It is proposed in the articles of incorporation to construct a line of electric railway from Youngstown to Poland. There are three points further west which it is understood are to be reached later on, but articles will have to be amended. This may be done at any time the company sees fit to do so.

The incorporators are H. E. Hamilton, Thomas E. Connell, E. H. Moore, Gordon Cook and James F. McNally.

HORSE FELL ON STREET

Dr. Ogden And Mayor Davidson Thrown Out And the Latter Bruised.

Mayor Davidson and Dr. C. B. Ogden narrowly escaped serious injury this morning while taking a pleasure drive in the latter's buggy. They were on Market street and were turning at the corner of Third street, when the horse very suddenly and unexpectedly fell, throwing the occupants to the pavement.

Dr. Ogden was not hurt in the least, but the mayor sustained bruises on his face and right leg which, although not serious, will cause him considerable pain for a few days. The horse in falling sprained its forelegs and was badly shaken up.

C. & P. MEN'S PICNIC

A Special Train Carried a Large Crowd to Silver Lake Today.

The C. & P. railway picnic is being held at Silver Lake Park today. The special from Pittsburg passed this city at 7 o'clock this morning, having 11 coaches and a large number of employes of the company from the freight offices and other department are attending. Haynes' band, of this city, is also in attendance, and discoursed sweet music this morning before embarking.

Cottages All Occupied.

LOUD DEMAND FOR REFORMS

Telepraph and Express Service In This City Cause No End of Complaint.

COUNTRY TOWNS FARE BETTER

UP-TOWN OFFICES NEEDED.

Information said to be authentic comes from Pittsburg to the effect that the Postal Telegraph company will succeed to the Western Union company's telegraph business on the C. & P. some time next fall.

The change is one that will be welcomed by the business men of East Liverpool, for as one of them remarked today, the telegraphic service could not well be worse, and the chances are greatly in favor of a change for the better when the other company takes hold.

"The thing most needed here," said a prominent business man today, "is an uptown telegraph office. Next to that is needed an office that shall be open all night. There are towns with half of East Liverpool's population that have both these facilities, because there is some competition in the telegraph business, some desire to get business and to oblige the public. East Liverpool is placed on a par with Industry and Smith's Ferry, with a telegraph office at the railroad station and nowhere else.

"The messenger service here is abominable and if a man wants to send a telegram in a hurry he must send it or carry it down to the depot. Even when he gets there, there is no assurance that it will be sent until a batch of railroad company's business is disposed of. I have known telegrams filed early in the evening to be so late in reaching their destination that they could not be delivered that night. Frequently it is the case that a telegram filed in some distant city the evening before is not received in East Liverpool until the next morning, simply because East Liverpool was too busy to take it up to midnight, the time of closing.

"This is very annoying, especially when the message relates to important matters, and business men seldom telegraph unless the message is important.

"No blame for this condition of affairs attaches to the company employes in this city. They do the best they can with the facilities afforded them; but the facilities, instead of being those to which a third-class city is entitled, are those ordinarily accorded to third-rate country villages.

"Protesting does no good. Scores of business men have protested until they got tired; the service gets worse instead of better. The best we can hope for is a change for the better when the Postal company takes hold here. The business done will be immensely increased if a telegraph office is established uptown, the number of operators and messengers added to and the office kept open all night. It is scarcely likely that the Western Union will go out of business altogether along the C. & P., and rival telegraph offices may be the result. Everybody will rejoice to see the Western Union's monopoly ended.

"Another matter," continued the gentleman, "which everybody would be glad to see remedied, is the Adams Express business in this city. That company, like the telegraph company, has its office in the most inconvenient and least accessible quarter of the town. That is not all. It seems neither to desire business nor to care for what business it has. I have known, in the past few days, several instances in which packages have laid in the express office two to three weeks, although the addressee's names were in the city directory and in the telephone books, and no effort whatever was made to notify them. In other cities it is customary at least to put a postal card in the postoffice in such cases. But the Adams Express company, having a monopoly, evidently thinks it useless to waste postal cards in East Liverpool.

"Nobody does business with the Adams Express company if he can help it, but in East Liverpool there is no help. There is certainly need that steps be taken to secure the delivery

EAST END

GIVING FREE SHOWS

East End Boys Making Use of a Tent Taken from Show People.

Because they were unable to collect all the compensation due them from a company that had something to do with the recent turnfest at Columbian park, "Bones," Whalen and "Brigham" Young, well known young men of the East End, took a large tent instead. This they have erected on a spacious lot in Calhoun's addition, and each evening there are dacning, acrobatic feats and singing, all for nothing.

The boys have named their new venture the Calhoun Song and Dance hall, and as the admission is free large crowds spend a few hours under the tent in the evenings. The boys give a creditable performance.

Beautiful Flower Beds.

Motorman Gus Brandenburg, who resides on Railroad street near Ralston crossing, and whose property faces the street railway, takes pleasure in arrasging various beds of flowers in his yard, and this year it seems he has done better than in past seasons. After Brandenberg has finished his run on the East Liverpool street railway he is soon found working about his flowers, and every bit of work he does seems to add to the beauty of the place. The arrangement of the various flower beds is most artistic.

Stone Throwing Must Cease.

Throwing stones, just for the fun of the sport is liable to get some youngsters into serious trouble if the practice is not stopped. John Baker, a small boy, making his home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Chafin, has probably found this out by this time. J. Friley has asked Officer Fisher to read the city ordinance to the boy relative to promiscuous throwing of stones. A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friley was struck on the arm by one of the stones and this morning the arm is quite sore.

Communion Tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Dean, of Salineville, who has been assisting Rev. D. W. McQuiston in the series of special meetings at the Second U. P. church, left this morning for his home in Salineville. It was thought that he would be able to assist at the regular communion service at this church tomorrow morning, but arrangements for this end could not be satisfactorily made.

Best Wheat Crop For Years.

Several residents, and also farmers living in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry, were in the East End this morning, and oen of the stated it had been years since the presest excellent crop of wheat was equalled. EAST END AFFAIRS.

When James Miles went to his work at the new plant of the Laughlin company this morning his face was wreated in smiles, for a little son came to their home last evening.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pollock, who was reported as being critically ill yesterday, was greatly improved this morning, and it is now said that she is out of danger.

Alex Chafin has commenced to demolish a warehouse that he built on Erie street overlooking the engine room of the East End sewer pipe works. This building will be removed to the bottom, upon which the several East End potteries are built.

COUNTERFEIT STAMPS

Offered to Postmasters—New Sort of Green Goods Game.

A new swindling game has been sprung in the green goods line, and it is said is being worked with grea success. The dupes are third and fourth class postmasters. Up to date nearly a thousand have fallen victims to the game and each has lost between $500 and $1,000.

Counterfeit stamps are offered, manufactured from understroyed plates of the government — undistinguishable from the genuine. When the indiscreet postmaster reaches the swindler's rendezvous, games of substitution are worked and the victim retires from the place a heavy loser and subject to a heavy penalty. The swindling gang it is said, is working toward Ohio from New York.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility.

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

Bridal Couple Seranaded.

A pary of some 30 or 40 young people Thursday evening made the fact very generally known by their serenading that one of East Liverpool's well known business men has just returned from his weddding trip. The gentleman is Edgar P. McHenry, the well known carpenter, and his bride, lately Miss Rebecca E. Williams, of Scranton, Pa. The wedding took place June 25, after which a tour of Detroit, Niaga Falls and other northern resorts was made.

An English King's Death.

William Rufus was killed by an arrow, either accidental or with murderous intent. He died in the New forest, his body was stripped by tramps and the next day was found by a charcoal burner, who placed the naked corpse on his cart, hoping to receive a reward. On the way to Winchester the cart was upset, and the king's body fell in the mire. Covered with filth and black with charcoal, it arrived in Winchester, where it was buried in the cathedral. A few years later the tower fell and crushed the tomb, and 600 years after the Puritans rifled the grave and played football with the king's skull.

Cruikshank's "Fagin."

A French Custom.

In France the oxen that work in the fields are regularly sung to as an encouragement to exertion, and no peasant has the slightest doubt that the animals listen to him with pleasure.

Most of the railway stations in Russia are about two miles from the towns which they respectively serve. This is a precaution against fire, as many of the Russian dwellings are thatched with straw.

HIS WIFE'S TRIUMPH.

A Memento That Was Inspiring to John Richard Green.

It has been the fate of many men of letters to have ill health bearing them down as they struggled on toward literary achievements. Thus beset in recent times were Stevenson, Richard Jeffries and J. R. Green. Each of these, it happened, had a high hearted wife to keep him up, even to help him with the actual labor of writing. "The Life and Letters of J. R. Green" show forth a great and sweet man. They show, too, a wife whose sympathy and fortitude helped to make his accomplishment possible.

In copying the vast amount of manuscript of her husband's books Mrs. Green contracted writer's cramp and was forced to stop using her right hand. This looked like a final obstacle in the way of the invalid, who did much of his thinking in bed and could not write himself. But Mrs. Green set to work at once learning to write with her left hand.

One of her first practice pages, which she was about to destroy with the rest, her husband took quietly and put in his pocket. Years afterward, when ill health seemed unbearable and in discouragement he felt that he could not work, he used to take out the piece of paper, a living record of his wife's triumph over difficulty. When he saw the painful, patient strokes by which Mrs. Green had learned to write with her left hand, he could work on with something near to inspiration.

Sausages Made While You Wait.

The man who ruined a sausage maker's trade by walking into his shop with a sackful of dead cats and dumping the contents down on the counter now finds a rival—albeit an unintentional one—in the person of a London waiter. The latter worthy, being asked by a customer for sausages, replied that there was none left; but, being of an obliging disposition, he went on to say that if the gentleman did not mind waiting for a few minutes some should be obtained for him—meaning, of course, that they should be sent out for. The customer having signified his willingness to wait, the waiter proceeded to the culinary department to give the necessary instructions, but on arriving there he had the misfortune to step on the tail of a dog which belonged to one of the kitchen attendants. The injured animal immediately let out a series of agonized yelps, whereupon the customer, being evidently a man of imaginative mind, turned pale and left the restaurant hurriedly.—Pearson's.

Trousers In College.

As late as 1812 students in Trinity and St. John's colleges, Cambridge, were prohibited from wearing pantaloons, or trousers, in chapel. Oxford men had already fought for and won the right to wear trousers. These were first allowed in Oxford in 1810, when Rigaud was proctor, and his relaxation of discipline gave great offense to the dons. On Nov. 20, 1815, William Phelps, scholar of Corpus and afterward archdeacon of Carlisle, writes, "I have been invited once to the bachelors' common room, where I found all wore black pantaloons and stockings and white waistcoats." Evidently the discovery caused him some surprise or he would not have thought it worthy of record. Dean Burgon relates in his "Lives of Twelve Great Men" that as late as 1847 the Rev. Edward Miles Rudd as senior fellow of Oriel used to appear at the college "gaudy" in black shorts.

So Thoughtful of Her.

Young Husband (picking up bundle from table)—What have you here, love? Something for me?

Young Wife—Yes, dear. I went down town this morning expressly to buy them for you. I hope you'll like them.

Young Husband—Like them? Of course I'll like them if you bought them. But what are they?

Young Wife—They're nightcaps, dear. I heard you tell Sparkles this morning that you'd go down to the club this evening with him and wet a nightcap, and I made up my mind right away that I'd save you that trouble by seeing that you had some in the house. Just open the parcel and try them on, won't you, love?—Exchange.

The widest possible publicity should be given to the fact that summer diarrhoea in children and cholera infantum can always be cured by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails. When reduced with cold water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is very important when a medicine must be given to small children. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

MITCHELL HITS OPERATORS.

Less Accidents if They Protected Employes Better, Instead of Cutting Expenses.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, was greatly shocked when he learned of the extent of the disaster of the rolling mill mine at Johnstown, Pa. He is waiting for information from representatives of the organization in that district and it is likely the union will take some action in the way of affording relief to those affected by the explosion. President Mitchell said these mine accidents come with such frequency that it is positively shocking.

"The frequency with which they happen," he said, "is a strong argument why more stringent laws should be passed by legislatures regulating the ventilation of gaseous mines. If mining companies would exercise more care in protecting the lives of their men in their mines instead of trying to reduce the cost of production the occupation of a miner would not be so hazardous."

DEFENSE FUND OR STRIKE.

Cominf Miners' Convention Likely To Do Either One, From What Mitchell Said.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell yesterday consented to say something for publication regarding the coming miners' convention. He said it was utterly impossible to forecast the action of the convention. From his remarks it is almost certain the convention will do one of two things, either decide on a general suspension or provide a defense fund for the anthracite strikers.

ORAL PROMISE ABOUT FRIARS.

Withdrawal Question Could Be Settled at Once, If Washington Would Accept It.

Rome, July 12.—It is understood that the question of the withdrawal of the friars from the Philippine islands could be settled immediately, if Washington would accept the oral assurance of the vatican that they will be withdrawn gradually. It was believed here that President Roosevelt can decide whether such a promise can be accepted.

Unable to Star Tracy.

Seattle, Wash., July 12.—Bloodhounds and scores of deputy sheriffs were unable to stir Outlaw Harry Tracy from concealment in the brush near Covington yesterday. Because of the midnight battle Thursday night the posse was sure of the convict's whereabouts. It was thought he might have ben wounded.

Baked Milk.

When offering food and drink to the invalid, one should avoid things very sweet and very sour, as they are often very hurtful to weak stomachs. Most sick people can take milk, but in many cases it is not well to give it raw. Baked milk is good and may be taken fearlessly into the most delicate stomach. To prepare this properly put two quarts of fresh sweet milk in a jar covered with white writing paper, tightly tied down, and bake it in an oven moderately hot until thick as cream, which will take about eight or ten hours. A less quantity will not require so long.—St. Louis Republic.

THE SECOND GAME WAS HOMESTEAD'S

Both Pitchers Did Excellent Work. Until the Sixth Inning Neither Team Made a Score—East Liverpool Got Six Hits.

East Liverpool lost the second game of the series with Homestead yesterday by a score of 2 to 1. As in the four preceding games played on this, the initial trip for the locals, the game was filled with interest and the errors were scarce on both sides.

Less than the average number of hits were made, both pitchers doing excellent work. Of the six hits made by East Liverpool, Heckathorn is credited with two and Davis with a like number. Ustil the sixth inning neither team scored. Berry, the first man up in this inning, walked. Reark flied out to middle. Heckathorn made a pretty two-base hit to middle advancing Berry to third. Webb flied to middle and Berry beat the throw home, making the only score of the game.

Marshall opened for Homestead by belting one out to left, which Godwin barely touched with the tips of his fingers. Cosgrove got first by placing one behind Patterson. Berry dropped it when thrown to him. McChesney tried to sacrifice and Marshall died at third. Cosgrove taking second. Nagle poked one between second and short and succeeded in scoring McChesney and Cosgrove.

The locals will play at Caston tomorrow, and a large number of enthusiasts have announced intention of witnessing the game. Maley has been advertised to pitch the game and no doubt will be a great drawing card.

No Time to Lose

You cannot afford to disregard the warnings of a weak and diseased heart and put off taking the prescription of the world's greatest authority on heart and nervous disorders—

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

If your heart palpitates, flutters, or you are short of breath, have smothering spells, pain in left side, shoulder or arm, you have heart trouble and are liable to drop dead any moment.

Major J. W. Woodcock, one of the best known oil operators in the country dropped dead from heart disease recently, at his home in Portland, Ind., while mowing his lawn.—The Press.

Mrs. M. A. Birdsall, Watkins, N. Y., whose portrait heads this advertisement, says: "I write this through gratitude for benefits I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had palpitation of the heart, severe pains under the left shoulder, and my general health was miserable. A few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me entirely.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Steubenville reports a dearth of houses to rent.

Salem will have 12 bands at the congressional convention.

The Carson pool, in Hancock county, is now producing about 1,800 barrels of oil a day.

A pistol wound received on July 4 caused the death by lockjaw of Bryant, the son of Prof. and Mrs. L. L. Tucker, of Mt. Union college.

"Gentle Annie" Costello, known in all the river towns, is in jail at Steubenville. Same old charge. She will probably be shipped out of town.

Rev. Eugene Bigler, a student of Gambier, is located in Lisbon for the summer months and will occupy the pulpit as lay reader in Trinity Episcopal church.

On July 28 the citizens of Bellaire will vote on the issue of $20,000 for the improvement of the water works system and $15,000 for furnishing and equipping the new city hall.

Rev. Asa McDaniel, who has been the pastor of the Hanoverton and New Alexander Disciple churches for four years, has accepted a call from the Central Christian church at Zanesville.

Clyde B. Kenty, of Lisbon, has been admitted to the practice of law in the state of New York. Mr. Kenty took the examination three weeks ago at Rochester. He will remain in Buffalo for the practice of law.

Walter Green, of Salineville, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days for turning on an emergency brake on an excursion train, which brake was located in the toilet room of one of the coaches.

At the convention and tournament of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Association convention at Martin's Ferry, Mayor C. E. Miller, of Toronto, was elected president, and A. C. White, of Salem, secretary.

Abram Cox, the oil leaser, of Wellsburg, W. Va., who has secured over 7,000 acres of land, is happy over his good luck. He sold 800 acres to the Standard Oil company for $1,000 per acre and one-eighth of the oil.

Attorney Lodge Riddle, of Lisbon, has expressed as his opinion that the new road law will not stand the test of a suit. The law was discussed in all its bearings at a meeting held by the farmers of Knox and West townships, at which meeting Mr. Riddle was present.

Lincoln's Bay Crop.

A story of Abraham Lincoln would have to be older than the one below to lose its characteristic savor.

In the summer of 1857 Mr. Lincoln was sitting in his office when he was visited by one of his neighbors, an excellent farmer, but one inclined to increase the size of his crops even after harvesting. He had given on this particular morning a skillfully padded account of the hay he had put in.

"I've been cutting hay, too," remarked Mr. Lincoln.

"Why, Abe, are you farming?"

"Yes."

"What you raise?"

"Just hay."

"Good crop this year?"

"Excellent."

"How many tons?"

"Well, I don't know just how many tons, Simpson, but my men stacked all they could outdoors and then stored the rest in the barn."—Youth's Companion.

Remember the Baker.

At the court of assizes in Venice, when sentence of death is about to be passed, a man clothed in a long black robe enters the court, and advancing to the bench bows profoundly to the judges, saying, "Remember the baker!" Then he bows again and retires. Here is the explanation of the custom: Three centuries ago a baker was executed at Venice for a crime of which he was not guilty. When his innocence was fully proved, the judges who condemned him invested a sum of money, the interest on which serves to keep a lamp perpetually lighted in the palace of the doges, this being called the "lamp of expiation." In addition, their fatal mistake has for 300 years been held up as a warning to their successors on the bench when they are about to inflict the extreme penalty of the law.

Didn't Notice Improvement.

An eastern senator was riding to the capitol on an F street car when a very deaf lady, who sat next to him, asked some questions about Washington and then apologized for being deaf.

"Why don't you try electricity?" sympathetically suggested the senator.

"Well," said the lady, "I was struck by lightning last summer, but I don't see that it did me any good."—Washington Post.

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire has dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

PE-RU-NA IS THE WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND,

Mrs. Jennie Rose, 362 W. Twenty-Second Street, New York City, writes: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "Peruna is a blessing to suffering women. I suffered with female trouble since I began menstruation, and every month I suffered two and three days of untold agony, and had to arrange my work and duties so as to be in bed every month for two days at least.

"My brother was cured of Bright's Disease from the use of Peruna and so I determined to try it for my trouble.

"Imagine my great joy when I found that it relieved me quite a bit the first month and I was entirely without pain during that period after having used Peruna only four months.

"This is about two years ago and all during that time I have suffered no pain. I can now come and go as I like and consider Peruna woman's best friend and wish that every suffering woman might know that she can find relief through the use of this medicine."

Truly yours,

MRS. JENNIE ROSE.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Battle Town, Ky., writes:

"When I wrote you for advice I was very bad off. When I received your letter I commenced using Peruna and it did just what you said it would. I have had a cough for about fifteen years and your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever used. I am so thankful to you for your advice to me."—Mrs. Ellen Thompson.

Mrs. James Eighmey, Grape, Mich., writes:

"I have been troubled with pain before and during my monthlies ever since I was seventeen. I was also troubled with other female weakness. I took your treatment, and am now well, and thank you for your kind advice."—Mrs. James Eighmey.

Mrs. John Meyers, Erhart, O., writes:

"I have been a sufferer from chronic catarrh for years and have thereby lost the sense of smell entirely. I had four of the best physicians in this vicinity without receiving any benefit whatever. "Now I am once more a well woman. I find Peruna to be the best medicine in the world as it has done me more good than my physician could have done for me. My friends say I look ten years younger. I tell them that Peruna did it. I can't thank you enough for your free advice."—Mrs. John Meyers.

Mrs. Ida Baker, Portsmouth, O., writes:

"I am glad to say that I am well. I have taken Peruna and feel better than I have for ten years; have gained twelve pounds and am still gaining. When I wrote to you for advice I had given up all hope of being well again, and I feel that it has saved my life."—Mrs. Ida Baker.

Alice Scott, of Franklin, Ky., in a letter to Dr. Hartman, says:

"For seven long years I had been a constant sufferer from catarrh of the pelvic organs which resulted in displacement of the uterus. I wrote you telling you all my complaints from the beginning to the present, made happy and much encouraged every time by your kind and fatherly letters of advice and instruction. I am now a strong woman weighing 148 pounds."—Alice Scott.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Major Glenn Contended "Water Cure" Was Not Brutal.

Manila, July 12.—The courtmartial of Captain James A. Ryan, of the Fifteenth cavalry, on the charge of unnecessary cruelty to natives, was concluded yesterday. It was believed he will be acquitted. The accused, during the day's proceedings, made a lengthy statement defending his actions, and Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth Infantry, counsel for the captain, strongly plead for his exoneration. He contended that the "water cure" was not torture and asserted that its use had saved more American and Filipino lives than other expedients of the campaign.

The Major scored Judge Rhode for making a report that he was unable to substantiate and quoted a score of orders for the execution of guerrillas during the civil war, to justify Capt. Ryan.

CORONATION AUGUST 9.

Announcement Made That the King Is to Be Moved to the His Yacht.

London, July 12.—The following authorized statement was issued last evening:

"The king has made such excellent progress that his medical advisers believe his majesty is now strong enough to be moved from London. They feel that a change of air is very necessary at the present stage of the healing process. It is hoped that his majesty will be able to leave Buckingham palace Tuesday for the royal yacht, which is at present at Portsmouth."

It is now considered practically certain, in view of this announcement, that King Edward will be crowned Saturday, Aug. 9, since the holding of the coronation ceremony Monday, Aug. 11, would involve another full bank holiday, with the attendant dislocation of general business, while Saturdays are almost universally observed as half holidays.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. An encouraging feature of the meeting of the National Educational association at Minneappolis was the fact that the educators devoted their discussions mainly to ways and means of reforming the primary and grammar grades and left the high schools and colleges alone. The higher institutions are doing their work well in most instances. It is not their province to teach grammar, spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic. The majority of pupils never pass beyond the grammar grade. It is in the common schools that the foundation for an education is laid, and it is there that school reform should begin. It is of the highest importance therefore that instruction in those schools should be thorough. It is not possible for a child to learn much of science; but it is possible for him to gain a thorough knowledge of the rudimentary branches of education. The great number of persons otherwise fairly well educated who are sadly deficient in spelling, writing, and grammar shows that there is plenty of opportunity for missionary work along the lines of effort marked out by the educators in their convention.

Senator Foraker thought a few months ago that there was a possibility of the Democrats securing a majority in the next national house of representatives. There has since been a change in public sentiment and the possibility has vanished. The Republicans were never more united and earnest in the support of their party and of the administration than at present. The people are satisfied with existing prosperity, and have not forgotten the dark days that a Democratic congress brought upon the country less than ten years ago.

One interesting stage of the Eighteenth district congressional campaign will be passed today. This evening it will be known what support each of five announced candidates will have on the first ballot in the coming convention. If Columbiana county meets expectations, Charles S. Speaker will enter the contest with a larger number of delegates than any other aspirant and with most flattering prospects for securing the nomination.

"It is unfortunate," says the Toledo Blade, "that many Democrats are already trying to make the code bill the basis for partisan wrangling." True; but it is not surprising. The Ohio Democrats are usually engaged in a sort of politics that is unfortunate for them as well as other people.

Lord Salisbury objected to Sir Thomas Lipton's elevation to the peerage on the ground that he is "a retail tradesmen." Lipton should have started a brewery or opened a wholesale whisky house somewhere. Then there would have been no complaint.

A man appeared in Chicago the other day who said he could reform the town if they would let him. He was at once locked up as insane. Chicago reformed would not be Chicago.

Columbus is using her increased postal receipts as an argument to prove that she should have a new government building. The same argument applies in East Liverpool.

No apologies are needed, governor. The legislators will need all the help they can get before they complete their task.

Although many Pennsylvania mines are idle, there are stil enough in operation to furnish appalling accident lists.

Any man who can invent a new tune for the Democratic organs to play ought to command a first-class salary.

Bandit Tracy will furnish material for several yellow covered novels if his activity keeps up.

Jason N. Hoffstot.

Jason N. Hoffstot, 69 years old, one of the best known merchandise brokers of Pittsburg, died at the home of his daughter in Fleming avenue, Bellevue, Thursday at 3 o'clock. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Fannie Allen, Chicago; Mrs. R. A. McCrae, Rochester, Pa.; Mrs. Robert Heinley, Allegheny, and Mrs. H. S. Gardiner, Pittsburg. Mrs. Hoffstot, who was formerly Miss Evaline Boody, and afterwards married to Mr. Devoy, both residing in East Liverpool for a number of years, and well known to many residents, died some 10 years ago and was buried in Riverview cemetery. The body of Mr. Hoffstot was brought to this city today and the funeral took place this afternoon, the remains being laid beside his wife in Riverview cemetery.

Samuel Derrington.

Samuel Derrington, aged 41 years, died at his home in Drury lane at 4.30 o'clock this morning of consumption. The funeral services will be conducted on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. Clark Crawford officiating. Mr. Derrington has been a resident of the city for about 22 years, and came here from Dresden, Eng. He worked in the local potteries as a dishmaker soon after his arrival, but of late years has been working at the trade of painter. He is survived by his wife, Amanda Derrington, and one son, William, who is employed at the China works. Mr. Derrington was a member of the First M. E. church, and was one of the best known residents of the city.

General I. H. Duval.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 12.—General Isaac Hardin Duval, a prominent civil war veteran and ex-congressman from this district, is dead. He was born in Wellsburg in 1824, served under the government in the west and commanded the first regiment that crossed the plains to California after the discovery of gold, and was successively major, colonel and brevet brigadier general of West Virginia volunteers, and participated in 36 battles and skirmishes. He was state senator, adjutant general, member of congress and United States internal revenue collector. He is survived by his wife and eight children.

SPECIAL FEATURES

To Be Inaugurated at the Services at the First Baptist Church.

The First Baptist church next Sunday will inaugurate some special features. A chorus of 15 voices will furnish music for each service, and in the evening four young ladies will act as ushers and will also take the offering.

The evening services during July will be of a special nature, mostly song services with a 15-minute address by the minister. Next Sunday evening, the subject will be "The Most Powerful Thing in Your Life."

NEW ESTABLISHMENT

In Which an Experienced Workman Will Look After the Watch Repairing.

John H. Morton, whose experience in the watch and jewelry repair business covers a period of 15 years, will open a shop at 174½ Sixth street. Mr. Morton not only thoroughly understands the jewelry business, but is a skilled workman of a high order, who has made a study of the intricacies and mechanism of his particular line. Therefore, his patrons can feel assured that any work left in his care will receive the attention of a master at the art.

He will be pleased to meet his old friends and many new ones at his new location and guarantees satisfactory work in every instance.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. S. J. Cripps, Jackson street. Owing to the absence of a number of the officers no business of any importance was transacted. The treasurer received money for a scholarship, also for the deaconess' fund. The society decided to have a picnic at the camp ground during the latter part of this month. The date has not yet been decided upon.

Meet at Leetonia Next.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

Kilnmen's local No. 9 held an interesting session in Brotherhood hall last evening. Thomas Smith, who was elected recently to the position of 1 per cent secretary, resigned, and Samuel Steel was elected to the chair to fill the unexpired term. Another resignation was that of Mike Reynolds, who was recently elected inside guard. The resignation was accepted and Robert Berger was elected to the unexpired term. These new officers were installed during the evening and besides this business a number of committees were appointed by the chair to attend to several lines of work. The attendance was very large.

While very little has been heard in the past two weeks relative to the proposed plan of consolidating several of the large local potteries, the matter has by no means dropped. It takes many weeks for gigantic deals like this to be put through, and time is everything. Inasmuch as matters have been quiet for a few weeks, that is just the time when some hard work is being done. It is reasonable to think that some inside facts concerning this deal will be ready for the public before long.

The new decorating kiln at the Thompson pottery, which has been in course of erection for the past month, has been completed, and will be used for the first time within a few weeks. The new kiln is one of the most modern in the city.

Work has been commenced upon the excavations for the new additions that are to be built to the decorating kiln department at the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. The improvements that have been decided upon for this plant will be rushed.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery resumed yesterday. Some repairs were made to the pug machinery during the shut down.

Twelve new ware bins are building at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery of the East Liverpool Potteries company.

A 4,000 piece cup and saucer scheme goods order will soon be placed in this city by the American Cereal company.

The Cartwright pottery will resume operation Monday morning. The plant has been idle for about two weeks.

Trenton potteries have succeeded in getting enough coal for present use by paying $9 and $10 a ton for it.

Saw the Homestead Game.

Officer Clifford Dawson returned last evening from Pittsburg and vicinity, where he visited friends for several days. On Thursday afternoon he witnessed the East Liverpool and Homestead ball game, and states that it was a great contest. He states that Godwin made one of the prettiest catches on record when he pulled down a foul fly for which he was compelled to run a long distance and then jump over an embankment.

Grocers Will Picnic.

At the last meeting of the Retail Grocers' association an invitation to the local grocers to attend a picnic to be given at Stanton park next month was read. It was decided to accept the invitation, and it is quite likely that a number will go. The picnic will be attended by grocers from the northeastern part of the state and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

When Quality Can be the Only Argument.

When different makes of the same article sell for the same price, then quality is the only argument that can usually influence your trade.

The price of soda water, good, bad and indifferent is the same all over town, so that we can't talk about that, but we believe we have a most convincing argument when you consider quality. Our Grape Phosphate seems to be the most convincing convincer we have.

WELLSVILLE

$800 IN THE ROLL

Which an Italian Entrusted to a Wellsville Man's Care.

A few days ago a Wellsville Italian approached William Winn and asked him to care for a small package until called for. It was wrapped in an old newspaper. The Italian said, "Me fraid be arrested by cops." Mr. Winn was quite busy at the time, and with his courteous assurance, laid the bundle aside.

The remark of the Italian recurred to him this morning and his curiosity got too much for him, so he concluded to examine the contents of the package. Nearly a bale of paper was unrolled from a leather pocket which was stuffed with money, there being over $800 in the wad.

He was astonished at the Italian putting the money in his trust, but did not care to be custodian of so much boodle. Winn took the money to the bank.

GAS IS BEING MADE

Success at Last Crowns the Efforts of Judge Williams.

Gas is at last being made at the gas plant at Chester. While not in any immense quantities at present, the amount is thought to be enough to prove the invention of Judge Williams, of Sewickley, a success after 15 years of effort on his part. It will take several weeks for the moisture to be dried out of the masonry of the plant, for if gas were made in large quantities at present it would be of an explosive nature. With the masonry dried, all danger of this is past.

When gas is made in large quantities at this plant, it will be burned just outside the plant from a large pipe which has been prepared for that purpose.

Judge Williams, who has been blind for two years, arrived at the plant a few days ago, and although he cannot see he can hear the necessary explosions of gas, and has the knowledge that his life's work is a success. Just a few weeks ago he suffered a preliminary operation on his eyes at a Pittsburg hospital, and has been informed that after thenext operation he will be able to read a paper without the aid of glasses.

THE CITIZENS' LEAGUE

Chester People Meet And Organize And Discuss Plans of Campaign.

The Citizens' League meeting was well attended last night. The league is growing rapidly in membership and interest. Last night it talked over plans of campaign, but nothing of a public nature.

The league effected a permanent organization, president, secretary, treasurer and executive committee being chosen.

Local Talent Engaged.

The Hottentot trio is one of the new attractions that will soon appear at Rock Springs park under the direction of Manager James A. Flood. The trio is composed of Edward M. Fisher, o. the East End; John ("Shorty") Bailey and George Bevington, the latter of whom has won several medals for his singing at other parks. They will appear in a sketch now being prepared by an eastern writer.

Old Camping Club Returns.

The "Katzenjammer Kids" Fishing club, 13 in number, of Monaca, are camped at Mill Creek, above Chester. They will remain for six weeks. They are thoroughly enjoying themselves both at the camp and in the city, and speak highly of their treatment here. They have been camping annually at the same place for the past 12 years, and began when they were boys aged 12 and 13 years.

Three New Rural Routes.

P. S. Keplar, of the rural route branch of the postoffice department, has been in New Cumberland several days this week, and has gone over the three additional routes petitioned for in this county. These routes will be established upon his recommendation, but it will be the first of September before the routes are officially established, the carriers appointed and their bonds filed and approved.

Surgical Operation Required.

J. S. Johnston is visiting his son Sheldon at Sebring. About 20 years ago Mr. Johnston while employed as a brakeman on the Vandalia line, received a bad fall, injuring his left side. Lately a tumor has formed in the side, and is giving him great inconvenience. He will have an operation performed while at Sebring.

Paving Will Be Costly.

It will cost the Rock Springs Street Railway company between $7,000 and $8,000 for paving 18 feet in width of Carolina avenue from the Mark's run bridge to First street on Carolina avenue. The company, though, is fully in favor of the improvement.

Good Crops This Year.

The apple crop along the river in the vicinity of Arroyo will be large for this year. The hill district will practically have no yield at all. Browns Sons' crop will exceed 2,000 barrels. The potato crop will be the largest for many years.

Oil Operations.

Mr. Fink started a well today on his farm in the Turkeyfoot extension. The Frank Morrow well on the Morrow farm, just in, is doing two barrels per day. The Morrows will drill another right away. Robert Sutor drilled both wells.

of express goods after their arrival, charges paid. I called up the express office six successive days this week for an express package I was expecting. I got it at last, and found it had been lying in the office here all the time. Such occurrences are enough to exhaust patience. There is need of a general protest on the part of business men, to see if the public facilities cannot be brought up to date."

PLEASANT HEIGHTS LINE

Mr. Healy Thinks Satisfactory Arrangements About It Will Soon Be Made.

When asked today as to when work constructing the Pleasant Heights extension to the East Liverpool street railway would commence, L. W. Healy, general manager of the road, stated that no definite conclusions had been reached yet. He said that a meeting of the joint committees, representing council, the street railway company and the residents of the section interested might be held soon, although no date for such a conference had yet been decided upon.

At this meeting it is the opinion that matters will be arranged to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, after which Mr. Healy said the subject would possibly be brought before the attention of council again at its next session.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsylvania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also good schools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Great Sale Thursday July 24.

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

THERE is always more or less enjoyment in seeing others made happy. In case you do not see your way is clear to become a buyer get a trolley ticket and come over to the sale anyway, listen to the good music which we shall furnish. Regale yourself with the refreshments served and see your neighbor made happy in his new possessions. But after all the terms of this sale are so easy, a deposit only of $10 on each lot at time of purchase. That there is not one thrifty person in all of this section who will not become an owner of some portion of this excellent property For further information, plats, trolley tickets, &c., call at our offices

Inquire for Price. A seven room modern dwelling with bay window, halls, bath room, hot and cold water, sewer connections, gas throughout, electric light, furnace. Lot lies perfectly level and front 30 feet on grassy lawn to the front. This property is on the west end of Sixth street and one of the few down town residences for sale.

High Class Residences We have them in all parts of the city. They are generally occupied by their owners. For reasons that are obvious to all owners of fine properties they do not want general publicity made of the fact that their "home" property is for sale. These properties we are ever ready to tell you of on condition that you evince enough interest to make inquiry of us. You'll never get prices or particulars in our advertising columns of them. Don't think that we cannot suit you. Try us. Further, we'll save you money.

300 Dwellings For Sale. Have you ever seen our mammoth For Sale List? If not call and get one, or send us your address and we will mail you a copy. When you come to us you have a selection of properties to choose from representing three-fourths of all the properties on sale in the city. We make it profitable to do business through us. Give us 20 minutes of your time; if we don't interest you, we'll say no more about it. We make terms of purchase to suit you.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

A Daughter Born—A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Moon, of Fourth street.

Five New Members — Peter Cooper lodge, No. 772, Royal Arcanum, intiated five new members at its last meeting.

Two Cars of Wool Purchased—Lee & Milller, the wool buyers, have purchased and are loading two cars of wool at Industry, Pa., for shipment to Wheeling.

Two Ball Games Arranged—The Elks' base ball team, recently organized, has arranged for two games with Youngstown, one in this city and one at Youngstown.

Membership Increased—The Ohio Valley Circle, No. 43, of the F. M. C., has now increased to 197 members. The ladies' circle numbers 100, and both are enjoying a high degree of prosperity.

Probationers' Meeting—The probationers' class met last evening at the M. E. parsonage. The class is composed of 30 to 40 members who will be received into full membership in about three weeks.

Rechabites' Installation—The new officers of Liberty tent, Rechabites, were installed Thursday night by Installing Officer Frank Robinson, and the ladies by Mrs. Richardson. The officers of Favorite tent will be installed tonight.

A Hay Ride—A large number of young people enjoyed a hay ride to the country last night. At the home of William Pelley, about six miles from the city, they were treated to a fine lunch, and dancing was indulged in for a few hours.

Thrown From His Wheel—While riding down Washinton street on his bicycle late last evening Harry Blair, of the West End, was thrown violently from the wheel against a curb stone. He received no injury except bruises around his right hip, and was soon able to proceed with his ride.

Railway Magnate's Visit—John B. Hoetgen, of New York, representing a number of bondholders of the East Liverpool Railway company, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Manager L. W. Healy, of that company. He made a tour over the entire lines operated by the company, and stopped here on his way west. Mr. Hoefgen is well known in this city and at one time had something to do with the management of the road.

A Dangerous Practice—Complaint is made by residents along the Horn switch of the habit of shifting crews letting cars run down the switch without a brakeman on them to look after their safety. Another car yesterday narrowly missed a citizen on West Market street, he being jerked from the track in the nick of time.

Dismissed the Case.

The case of Abrams & Stewart against Martin Brozka was dismissed by 'Squire McCarron yesterday afternoon on the grounds that the suit was improperly brought. The claim of the plaintiffs was for $17.50, which amount they alleged was due on a policy with the Liverpool & London Insurance company. The 'squire decided that the case should have been filed by the company and not its agents.

years or more ago, a man came to the Ferry to buy $1,000 worth of oil. He said he had a check for $2,000. That he would go to Pittsburg and get his check cashed. He asked the operator at which bank he did business, and was told, and went off saying he would leave $500 on deposit and would pay the other $500 when the oil was shipped. After waiting a week the buyer not appearing, the operator got impatient, for he did not want to hold the oil. Enquiries were made at the bank. It was found that the check was all right. The $2,000 had been drawn and $500 of it had been placed to the credit of the operator.

The depositor had disappeared. It was found that he had stopped at one of the hotels. His bill had been paid, his satchel was left. There were some papers in it, but nothing that would give any clue to his identity, and if he had sunk into the earth he could not have been more completely gone and was never heard from again. There was nothing left for the oil operator to do but to take the money left to his credit, which he did with the reservation of returning it to the owner, if he should ever appear, which he did not.

I was surprised to find the postmaster at this place was Rev. W. F. Smith, an M. E. church preacher, now superannuated, who was stationed at Mechanicsville and Rock Creek in 1886 and at Williamsfield two years later. His wife was for many years a resident of this place and after he left the ministry they returned to make it their home. He was a soldier in the Thirteenth O. V. I. for three full years. I also met Will Crooms, who has lived here several years. He has a farm a few miles back in the country and raises vegetables for the East Liverpool market. A younger brother is with him.

SAGGER MAKERS

The adoption of the list has had a great tendency toward bringing new members into the Brotherhood, especially in the pressers' local.

The principal question receiving the attention of the Brotherhood officials in the east is the petition of the saggermakers to break away from the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers' local and form an indepedent local of their own. The saggermakers find it is not to their advantage to be affiliated with the kilnmen, who exceed them by about 200 members. At their meetings the saggermakers claim that, being in the minority, their grievances are not considered until all matters pertaining to the kilnmen are given an airing and as a result when their business is reached the session is often nearly over, and their matters are often shelved to be considered at the next meeting under the head of unfinished business.

There are many saggermakers who have kept out of the Brotherhood principlly because of this objection. They now claim that with a separate local they can increase their membership to 125 and then be better able to get an insight on local conditions.

A special meeting of the saggermakers has been called for next Monday evening, when Vice President Hutchins will organize them into a separate local to be controlled by their own officers.

Contrary to the general belief the eastern potters played but little part in the recent controversy between the Brotherhood and the Western Manufacturing Potters' association over the reforms asked at the Trenton convention. When the strike question was agitated, circulars were sent to the eastern locals as well as to those in the west, asking for a vote on the question as to whether a strike should be declared.

The Trenton plants not being controlled by the uniform price list, the operatives did not view the question with any seriousness. The locals of this city and Elizabeth failed to vote, while the locals at Camden, where the plants are operated under conditions similar to those which prevail in the Trenton plants, were practically unanimous in voting in favor of a strike. The action of Camden local No. 50 has met with a storm of disapproval from the Trenton members who hold that the question was one for the western locals to decide and that their action should not be met with any interference from those who are not directly affected by the provisions of the uniform list.

The funeral of James P. Stephens, a leading resident of Trenton and a man prominently identified with the pottery industry, who died Tuesday morning, took place at his home on Greenwood avenue Thursday afternoon.

RIVER NEWS.

The Lorena and Virginia are due down tonight at 8 p. m.

The Kanawha, Ben Hur and Key stone State are due up tomorrow.

The river fell two feet since last night.

A fine and trim steam launch passed up the Ohio last evening in charge of Pittsburg excursionists. The craft was fully 40 feet in length, and was making about 25 miles an hour up stream.

The Virginia on her last trip south carried 250 passengers, and the crew were compelled to distribute cots about the boat to accommodate the throng.

MISS FAY LEE,

President of the Shakespearian Club, Kansas City.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

Miss Fay Lee.

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains". They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603½ North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Ambulances Coursed Through the Streets Yesterday, Bearing Dead From Mine to Morgue and From Morgue to Home—Heroic Work Done by the Rescuers—Philanthropic Work Started For the Relief of the Distressed Families. Numerous Funds Being Raised Through Entertainments and Private Gifts.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—AT 11 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT: NUMBER OF KNOWN DEAD, 90. NUMBER OF INJURED IN HOSPITALS, 18. NUMBER OF INJURED WHO WENT HOME, 4.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—TWO MEMBERS OF THE RELIEF PARTY SENT HOME FOR A REST SAID UPON LEAVING THE MINE SHORTLY BEFORE 1 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING THAT 52 BODIES WERE PILED UP READY TO BE BROUGHT OUT THE FIRST THING AFTER DAYLIGHT.

THIS DID NOT MEAN THAT THIS NUMBER WAS ALL THE DEAD YET IN THE MINE, AS AT LEAST TWO DANGEROUS HEADINGS HAD YET RESISTED EFFORTS TO PENETRATE THEM.

A Day of Heroic Rescues.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Yesterday was a day of heroic rescues at the fated rolling mill mine of the Cambria Steel company. Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of 40 brave and daring fellows who went down into the bowels of the earth with a very faint hope to spur them that still they might be in time to restore to life some of those who are entombed. Death lurked everywhere around them, but, undaunted, they surged forward, swayed with the noblest of human purposes.

The reward of their efforts was the saving of the lives of 14 of their fellow men and bringing them again into the sunlight and back to loving families.

Dead and maimed bodies were located, but no effort was made to bring them out of the vast theater of death until every human energy was put forward towards seeing that no living soul might escape their aid. That done, the dead were attended to, and in train cars were brought up and exposed to morbid gaze while being transferred to wagons in which to be taken to the morgue. Eighty-seven dead bodies were recovered from the mine between daylight and nightfall. Still a party of officials and miners battled on three miles inside the mine. Occasionally word would come to the surface by some mysterious means that another heap of remains had been exposed to the vision of the searchers. There remained last night the dangerous heading in the Klondike section of the mine yet to be explored. No one knew how many more dead would be found there. The mine officials refrained from guess work on the subject.

150 Victims Low Estimate.

The impression prevailed last night among the outsiders and certain employes of the mine that 150 was a weak estimate of the casualty list.

Fated Johnstown spent yesterday horror-struck. From dawn to dusk flying ambulances coursed the streets bearing gruesome burdens from mine to morgue, from morgue to home. Great throngs surged about the pit mouth, the improvised morgue at the armory, and about the stricken homes of the dead. Bulletin boards were eagerly scanned for news from the scene of the disaster. Exaggerated rumors of all kinds prevailed. One report gained circulation that disaster had overtaken the rescuing party which entered the mine shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning. This proved one of the entertaining yarns that had its origin among the crowd at the pit mouth. Returning rescuers substantiated the denials of the report by officials.

It was difficult to picture with any degree approaching its full worth the work of rescue and the attending scenes and incidents of the day at the center of interest. How brave men went into the jaws of death in its most horrible form, encountered their fellows transformed into raving maniacs by hours of waiting in the pitch darkness of the earth's interior, lifted them moaning from their beds of fallen rock, and then bending and crawling on all fours, carrying them a quarter of a mile underground to where cars could be reached to take them outside.

Philanthropic work has been started in Johnstown for the relief of the distressed families. Numerous funds are being raised through entertainments and private gifts. Every bank is collecting subscriptions and placards soliciting them are conspicuous everywhere.

When the first rescuing party suspended work for a time at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon until conditions became more favorable for rescue work, its members succeeded in counting 87 dead bodies in the main workings of the Klondike section of the mine. A cessation of work was compelled until pure air could be driven into the gas filled headings.

Life In Some Bodies.

Along in the early part of the afternoon cheering word came from the innermost recesses of the mine that life yet lingered in some of the bodies found. The rescuers made first for No. 4 left heading, which they had been unable to reach the night before. Desolate even for the scene of a mine interior was the heading that stretched out before them. Falls of [illegible] of almost choked up the heading, but through and over the debris the brave men pushed their way. In the front young Patrick Martin, his brother Peter, Philip White and several cousins of the Martins made their way. Suddenly in an open space they were startled by the maniac laugh which eminated from a blackened form that rushed at them out of the darkness. The man grasped firmly a pick handle and tried in his frenzy to beat down his rescuers. He was overpowered and dragged back to the main heading to the cars. Soon his passion subsided and when brought outside was as docile as could be desired.

The living men in No. 4 heading were found about 11:10 o'clock in the morning. Owing to the difficulty in getting them out over the falls of slate their rescue from the mine was deferred.

The first report that came out of the mine was that 12 men had been found in No. 4 left heading and six still retained the spark of life. Summons were sent for physicians and ambulances. Drs. Woodruff and Updegraff were soon entering the dangerous passage way to the mine.

Rescued Placed In Ambulances.

A half hour later, at 3 p. m., the train of cars came down to where the waiting ambulances stood. Eight men were lifted over the sides of the cars and, half carried, wended their way to the ambulances. They were all Poles. One big, strapping fellow among them collapsed as he reached the ambulance and doctors spent several minutes resuscitating him. As the men were driven hurriedly to the Cambria hospital, the train of coal cares, with the physicians, re-entered the mine. In another half hour they came out again, this time with six living, but almost dead, miners. One man in his paroxysms had locked his jaws so that force had to be employed to pry them open for the insertion of life instilling fluids. These six were taken in an unconscious condition to the Cambria hospital. One man brought out with the crowd died just as he reached daylight.

At that time three more headings believed to be filled with the dead, were unsearched. Thirty-nine were lying within reach in the main heading. These were brought out at 4:35 p. m.. Their bodies were piled high in the coal cars and covered with canvas.

These remains were in a terrible state, showing that there had been slow death in each case. One of the men had his mouth and nose tied about by a towel. The rest of his face was burned beyond recognition. The bodies of all were twisted in horrible shapes, most of the arms being crooked so as to shield the face. The only one who could be identified at the pit mouth was Fire Boss Joseph Tomlinson.

One of the volunteer rescuers who came out with this load of dead stated that fire was raging in parts of the mine, that would take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive yesterday afternoon had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning a valve on the compressed air pipe line which runs along the entry. One man was found dead with his hands clutched so tightly about a monkey wrench that it could not be removed.

GOOD NEWS PREDOMINATES.

So Dun's Review Said of Business. Unfavorable Weather at Some Points—Labor Disputes.

New York, July 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Good news predominates, although unfavorable weather proved a drawback at many points and new labor disputes arose. There is less than the customary midsummer idleness in manufacturing industries, despite the scarcity of fuel. Commodity prices are fully maintained. Railway earnings thus far available for June average 9.9 per cent larger than last year's and 20.6 per cent above those of 1900.

Statistics of pig iron production on July 1 are somewhat surprising. According to the Iron Age, the weekly output was at a new high record of 2,2,590 tons, notwithstanding the shortage of fuel. In steel the situation is mixed, heavy lines falling further behind orders, while a number of rod, wire and nail mills in the Pittsburg region have shut down for the usual vacation. Structural steel and railway supplies are urgently sought, so much new business being placed that activity is assured well into 1903.

In woolens the best feature is the reorder business in heavy weights, quick delivery being desired.

Corn has again been the prominent feature of the markets for domestic staples. Speculators at the west secured control of the six million bushels in the visible supply, and compelled the short interests to cover contracts at disastrously high prices. Farmers' reserves are evidently insignificant, for attractive prices do not bring out even a fair volume of receipts. Wheat was quiet and strong, and exports from all ports of the United States only 2,250,729 bushels, compared with 4,353,736 bushels a year ago.

Liabilities of commercial failures for the first week of July amounted to $1,570,358, of which $483,048 were in manufacturing, $636,416 in trading and $450,894 in other lines.

Failures for the week numbered 193 in the United States, against 208 last year, and 19 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

MOST STOCKS CLOSED LOWER.

Opening Prices Were at Highest Average Level of Day, Friday.

New York, July 12.—Opening prices yesterday morning were at the highest average level of the day. There were striking advances afterwards, notably in Rock Island and Missouri Pacific, but these proved unavailing to sustain the general market, which sagged slowly but steadily throughout of the rest of the session. Majority of stocks closed lower than Thursday night and the declines were substantial in such stocks as New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern and others which have recently been prominent in the rise. The spurt at the opening was due especially to the encouragement felt on account of the government's monthly crop report, especially in respect to corn, which had a stimulating effect on the demand for grain carrying roads. But it became plain at once that the buying was conspicuous only in Missouri Pacific and Rock Island, which stocks are peculiarly associated with the bull leaders of the market. Atchison and the other Pacifics did not move more than a fraction at any time. The perspective of today's bank statement was the counteracting influence to the crop report. The heavy movement of currency to the interior has been subject of comment all week. The usual preliminary estimates of the regular express movement of currency to the interior indicates a balance against New York of only a little over a million dollars. But the sub-treasury operations promise to bring the decline in the cash reserves up to nearly $5,000,000. The market closed dull and easy.

BOSS OF ROYAL SHOW

DUKE OF NORFOLK'S IMPORTANCE AT THE CORONATION.

By Virtue of His Office as Earl Marshal of England He Has Control of All Details—Premier Peer of the Kingdom.

The most important man in England today, excepting of course King Edward VII. himself, is his grace the Duke of Norfolk, manager of all the details of England's coronation of her hereditary ruler. He is earl marshal of England and premier peer of the realm, and for centuries scions of the noble house to which he belongs have arranged the coronations of British rulers.

He is the man who has decided not only the width of the ermine trimming of the peers' coronation robes and the length of the trains of the peeresses' gowns, but of what materials they should be made. Even the king and queen must bow to his dictum in this regard.

The Duke of Norfolk has had the designing of every garment and ornament that will be seen in Westminster abbey during the coronation and even the prerogative of saying who shall be there and who not. The title he bears is his authority, and though it is possible there will be folk indiscreet enough to question his decisions it will avail them little. When George IV. was crowned at Westminster, the dean and chapter thereof thought themselves badly treated in the amount of space allotted to them in the abbey, and they petitioned the king to rectify the matter, but the monarch replied that what his earl marshal, one of the Duke of Norfolk's ancestors, said was law, and that settled the matter.

At present the duke certainly deserves the new title which has been conferred upon him, that of "the busiest man in London," for by nothing but the hardest sort of work could he ever hope to get through the tremendous task of arranging every last detail of the great show.

The Duke of Norfolk is the richest and most prominent Roman Catholic in England, yet he will have to stand by and hear his religion specifically denounced by the king in the coronation oath. He was an efficient postmaster general and endeared himself to the "man in the street" by resigning that position when the Transvaal war broke out and going to fight in South Africa. He didn't achieve much at the front, but that wasn't his fault.

Although he is almost as famous for his heartiness and good cheer as for his shocking taste in clothes, the greatest of English noblemen has had trouble enough to make a misanthrope of most men. He idolized his beautiful wife, who died soon after their marriage, and his only son is so ill, both in body and mind, that only the most constant care on the part of his father and one of his aunts keeps him alive.

According to well vouched for stories, the Duke of Norfolk has been mistaken on board his yacht for one of his sailors and times without number, while tramping over his broad acres, for one of his "help," but the best of all these veracious anecdotes is that which relates his grace's encounter with one of his sisters at a convent where he had gone, as requested, to distribute some prizes. The retreat was not a long way from Arundel, so the duke, "seedy" as ever, walked over and on entering the grounds was confronted by the portress. The nun, who never had seen the duke before, surveyed the shabby nobleman from head to foot and then remarked:

"My good man, you ought to know that we do not distribute relief on such a day as this."

"Quite so, sister," replied the duke, "but you do distribute prizes, and I have come to distribute them for you."

Of the "stately homes of England" the Duke of Norfolk is the possessor of one of the stateliest. Arundel castle is one of the most beautiful buildings in the kingdom. It is built around three sides of a square, on the fourth of which is a round tower or ancient keep. The great hall is situated below the keep in the inner court, and its windows command fine views of the country lying between Arundel, Chichester, Selsey, Bognor and Littlehampton.

The Norfolk town house in St. James square has an interesting history of its own. When Frederick, prince of Wales, was banished from St. James, he sought refuge with the Duke of Norfolk.

HE MET HIS MATCH.

The Squire Got a Dose of His Own Disagreeable Medicine.

Men, as a rule, are more indifferent and communicative concerning the inroads of age than women are, but the most amiable woman can generally find a pertinent remark to make when approached impertinently on this sacred theme. "Old Squire Jones doesn't speak to me now," said a gentle faced, silver haired lady, "and I don't blame him. He has excellent reasons for not wanting any conversation with me. Several months ago I was sitting in our carriage near the city library, waiting for Helen, when I saw the old squire drive up near me. He always has something unpleasant to say about how old we are all getting and what wrecks we all are, so I pretended not to see him. He came nearer, however, and accosted me.

"'Isn't that you, Mrs. Brown? How d'you do, Mrs. Brown?'

"I turned around and greeted him. 'How do you do, Squire Jones?'

"'My goodness, Mrs. Brown,' the bluff old fellow went on, 'how you have broke! I never would have known you.'

"'Why, Squire Jones,' said I, 'I was just going to say the same thing to you. I never did see a man age as fast as you have. What on earth has made you fail so rapidly? I never would have known you.'

"The poor old squire shrank down in his buggy seat and wilted. He looked half his usual size and ten years older and drove off without saying anything further. It was wicked, really, to deal the poor man such a blow, but if elderly gentlemen want to receive compliments," the silver haired lady laughingly concluded, "they must go about distributing them."—Indianapolis News.

THE RAINBOW.

Lasting Superstitions That Hang About the Arch of Promise.

"Rainbow gold" used to be the warp and woof of many a childish dream. The pot of treasure buried "where the end of the bow touches the ground" has been searched for by trusting children again and again. The present generation of childhood is so blase however, that such gentle fantasies are apt to be received with scorn.

There are many lasting superstitions connected with the arch of promise, however. In many countries the rainbow is spoken of as being a great bent pump or siphon tube, drawing water from the sea by mechanical means.

In parts of Russia, in the Don country and also in Moscow and vicinity the rainbow is known by a word which is equivalent to "the bent water pipe." In nearly all Slavonic dialects it is known by terms signifying "the cloud siphon," and in Hungary it is "the pump," "Noah's pump" or "God's pump."

In the province of Charkov, Russia, the rainbow is said to drain the wells and to prevent this many are provided with heavy, tight fitting stone platforms. In the province of Saratov the bow is said to be under the control of three angels, one of whom pumps the water, the second "feeds" the clouds and the third sends the rain.

The Malayan natives call it by the same name that they do the banded water cobra, only that they add "boha," meaning double headed, the equivalent in English being "the double headed water snake."

The Turkish children are told that if they can touch the rainbow they will at once have silver heads, eyes of ruby and teeth of gold. In Greece they say that the person so unfortunate as to stumble over the end of the rainbow will have his or her sex changed instantly.

The One Man Right.

Copernicus was at one time alone in his belief that the earth and planets revolved round the sun. Galilei was right when he asserted that the moon revolves round the earth, and so was Columbus when he asserted the possibility of sailing round the world. But in all these cases it is possible that others, unknown to fame, may have shared their beliefs.

There are two instances in which one man was absolutely right and, so far as we know, all the rest of mankind wrong. One was that of Newton, the discoverer of the principle of universal gravitation, and the other was that of John Harvey, who was absolutely alone in his conviction that the blood circulates through the veins and arteries of living animals. In this instance so universal was the disbelief that his fellow doctors nicknamed him "the quack," or "circulator," and the word survives to this day as the name of one who makes a profession of medical knowledge which he does not possess.

Justice Greater Than Charity.

The one divine work, the one ordered sacrifice, is to do justice, and it is the last we are ever inclined to do. Anything rather than that. As much charity as you choose, but no justice. "Nay," you will say, "charity is greater than justice." Yes, it is greater; it is the summit of justice; it is the temple of which justice is the foundation. But you can't have the top without the bottom; you cannot build upon charity. You must build upon justice for this main reason, that you have not at first charity to build with. It is the last reward of good work. Do justice to your brother (you can do that whether you love him or not) and you will come to love him. It is all very fine to think you can build upon charity to begin with, but you will find all you have to begin with begins at home and is essentially love of yourself.—Ruskin.

The Word "Awful."

In Mrs. Oliphant's "Life of Principal Tulloch" of St. Andrews we find Dr. Tulloch speaking of some one as "an awful Tory." Mrs. Oliphant says in a footnote:

"Lest the principal should be accused of slang, I may say that the adjective is strictly Scotch and had been employed for generations by a people fond of strong speaking before it crossed the border and gave to the youth of England a freshly energetic if inelegant word."

Freckles.

Some people are born freckled, and others have freckles thrust upon them. The former class might as well accept their freckles as a dispensation of Providence, for nothing can be done for them. The latter can always get rid of their affliction by using a couple of drams of sal ammoniac with an ounce of German cologne, the solution mixed with a pint of distilled water. Applied two or three times a day it will cure the worst case of acquired freckles on record.

Horrible Thought.

Browne—No? My, that's terrible!

Towne—Oh, I don't know. I haven't any sympathy—

Her Way of Putting It.

"It is extravagance to buy such dress lining, Mrs. Bargains."

"It was real cheap, hubby, dear. Only a dollar something a yard."

"How much is 'something?' What was the price?"

"It was $1.98."—Boston Traveler.

Quit quarreling with your neighbors, and the judges and lawyers will soon cease to run everything, as at present.—Atchison Globe.

The Story of the Ticket.

"Every ticket has its story," said a man acquainted with the pawnshops, and one of the sad little tales which he told is repeated by the Philadelphia Telegraph. It was a bitter cold day, and a mite of a boy, not over nine years old, had come in, wrapped in his overcoat. This he peeled off and deposited it upon the pawnbroker's counter.

"Give a dollar 'n' quarter?" he asked in pleading tones.

"Dollar," said the money lender.

"Oh, please give me a dollar 'n' a quarter!"

"Can't do it. Dollar."

The boy was almost crying, and he begged earnestly for the sum he asked. "I want to get my sister's coat out," he said as he laid down 8 cents as interest money. This proposition the pawnbroker accepted, and the boy went shivering into the cold with his sister's coat.

"Is your sister going to a dance tonight?" a bystander asked him.

"No, sir; mom's been sick, an' Maggie had to hock her coat for feed. She's got a job now, an' she's got to have a coat to go to work in. I don't mind the cold; I'm used to it."

Expensive.

"I've quit joking my wife about women carrying their pocket handkerchiefs in their pocketbooks," said Tenspot. "It didn't pay."

"How was that?" asked Hunker.

"She said she'd carry money in hers if she had it. Handed her out $10 on the spot."—Detroit Free Press

RULER OF THE CAPE

GREAT BRITAIN'S REPRESENTATIVE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Importance of Lord Milner In the Recent South African War—Head and Front of Civil Government. Personality of the Man.

No one has figured more prominently in South African affairs since the outbreak of the Boer war than Lord Alfred Milner, who has been governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa since 1897. While Sir Alfred's duties have not led to the fighting line, as the head and front of the civil government he has led a strenuous life.

The responsibilities resting upon him by virtue of his position at the chief base of supplies and operations in South Africa have been very heavy and at times exceedingly trying. Yet he has discharged them all in a manner that has won for him the praise of his countrymen.

Lord Milner, who is now in his forty-ninth year, can lay no claim to blue blood, for while on his mother's side he is the grandson of a British general his father was a Dr. Charles Milner, a professor of the University of Tubingen. Young Milner was not only born in Germany, but likewise received his early training as a German boy at a German school before going to King's college, and then to Oxford, where he acquired much fame as a scholar.

After taking his degree young Milner studied law and was called to the bar in 1881. Not finding this to his liking he entered journalism and became a member of W. T. Stead's Pall Mall Gazette. He remained with the Gazette until 1885, when he entered politics.

His first essay in politics was disappointing. He stood for parliament as a Liberal and was defeated. For the next three years he was private secretary of Mr. Goshen, then chancellor of the exchequer. He was thus behind the scenes while the great operation of converting the English debt was going on and acquired a knowledge of finance that has since been of great value.

Lord Milner, on the recommendation of Mr. Goshen, entered the Egyptian service in 1889 and as undersecretary of state for finance played an important part in the development of that country. The book which he wrote on his return entitled "England In Egypt" ran through several editions and is recognized as the standard authority on the subject.

After a brief tenure of chairman of the commissioners of inland revenue Lord Milner was sent in the year of the queen's jubilee to South Africa. There his duties were larger and more important than any he had yet undertaken.

To begin with, he was and is governor of the Cape of Good Hope, constitutional sovereign of a responsible colony, bound by the fleeting policies of colonial ministers. Then, as high commissioner, he is supreme ruler of a great native population in Basutoland and the Bechuana protectorate, governing the semi-independent native chiefs by means of local commissioners. He also has supreme authority over the territory of the Chartered companies, but with no direct share in its administration. When the Boer war broke out and the two Boer republics were annexed, he was appointed their governor, still retaining that office.

When Lord Milner visited England last year, he was made much of in ministerial circles and was raised to the peerage by King Edward, taking the title of Lord Milner of Cape Town. He is described as having a sharp, thin face and as looking much older than he really is. Lord Milner is a bachelor. His salary at Cape Town is $40,000 a year besides a liberal allowance for expenses.

Lord Milner is not wealthy, and it has been said that he is without any fortune. Notwithstanding his large salary, like all English officials he regards it his duty to spend his salary and allowances in maintaining the dignity of his position.

Lord Milner is by choice a hard worker. He eschews the pursuit of pleasure except such as comes in the course of work as a dreary nuisance. He is therefore classed as a good man—"good" as our fathers used the word.

The success of Lord Milner's career is due to hard work and singleness of purpose. Wherever he has been placed he has labored to the end that what he accomplished should be done right as he viewed it.

As a ruler of South Africa he has been regarded as severe. He is first of all an imperialist, always working to extend the dominion of Great Britain. He as much as any other individual was responsible for the Boer war.

ADVISING AN ARTIST.

The Novel Suggestion That Was Contributed by Uncle Silas.

Uncle Silas Eastman and his wife took summer boarders. One year they had a number of artists who were attracted by the picturesque loneliness of the Eastman farm, and Uncle Silas never hesitated to say afterward that artists were "beyond him."

"They make no trouble about their eating," he said to a friend when at last the boarders had taken their way to fresh fields. "You couldn't call 'em prompt, but then they never minded whether things were hot or cool. Leastways they never found any fault.

"But they've got curious notions and mighty little faculty and common sense. One of 'em was to work on a sunset piece all the time he was here. I went out one evening and asked him how he was getting on, and he says:

"'Oh, Uncle Silas, the light changes so fast, and the effect is so hard to get, and there's only one night more.'

"He was a nice little fellow, and I felt sorry for him, so I says: 'Well, why in tunket haven't the rest of 'em took hold with ye and helped ye out? There's room enough on that canvas for all four of ye to be working together! I bet ye never thought of asking 'em, now did ye?' I says.

"And do ye believe me, I'm as sure as I'm standing here in my overshoes from the blank look that spread over his face that the idea had never come into his poor, foolish head till I put it there!

"They've got their place, artists have, but there'd ought to be a gardeen 'pointed over every one of 'em that I ever saw! Yes, sir!"—Youth's Companion.

Of Age.

Some few days ago a policeman was sent to serve a summons on a notorious poacher. This person, who lived alone and had evaded service successfully for some time, was the owner of a male goat. My friend, whom I will call Mac, went to the defendant's house, but the wily poacher, observing his approach, had fled, leaving the door unfastened. Mac saw the goat tied up in a corner, entered and solemnly read the summons to him, after which he stuck the copy on his horns. He then went home and indorsed the paper thus:

"Served by leaving a copy of this summons in defendant's residence at —, with an inmate," etc.

When proving service, Mac was asked by the magistrate:

"Was the inmate of age?"

"Your worship," said my friend, laying his hand on the middle button of his tunic, "he had a beard down to that."—London Tit-Bits.

The Theologian's Point.

A dispute recently arose at a beer table in Germany between a group of university men as to which science was the oldest.

A representative of the law declared that it was jurisprudence, for this science must have been known in paradise, seeing that Adam and Eve were evicted therefrom.

"Why," said a graduate of medicine, "medicine is certainly of older date. Just think of the operation that Adam had to submit to in order that a rib should be obtained for Eve!"

"No, no, gentlemen," retorted an electro technician, "for before anything was created God said, 'Let there be light!'"

Then came the theologian, who said, "I do not want to appear presumptuous, but I think that precedence belongs to theology, for before it was light it was—dark!"

IRISH LAND TROUBLE

BIDS FAIR TO SURPASS OUTBREAK OF TWENTY YEARS AGO.

United Irish League Has Taken Up the Cause of the Evicted Tenants. Bloody Times Feared — Famous Leader of the Irish Party.

Once again Ireland is in the midst of a land war. The trouble has been brewing for some time, and Castlebar jail, in which so many Irish members of parliament have at various times spent periods of retirement, is again likely to be filled with distinguished guests.

The trouble had its beginning on the De Freyne estates, in Roscommon county, and is likely to assume even greater proportions than the violent outbreaks of twenty years ago, for the reason that the United Irish league, started in 1898, is stronger today than the Land league was in 1881.

For more than fifty years there has been more or less trouble on the De Freyne estates. There are about 10,000 tenants on this great estate. The tenants are desirous of purchasing their buildings, and Lord De Freyne, who rarely visits his property, might be glad to sell the property were it not that the tenants do not seem inclined to pay arrears of rents, which must be done, according to the land act of 1871, before it is possible to apply to the courts for purchase of the land.

Some of these arrears of rent have been accumulating for forty years or more, and the tenants say their holdings—not more than six acres on the average—are too small to enable them to pay rent. Under advice of the United Irish league most of the tenants are withholding a part at least of even the small sums they could pay, putting the money instead into the league, which holds out to them the hope of bringing the landlord to terms.

Lord De Freyne recently issued a circular to his tenants intimating that it was a case of pay up or fight, and fight it is. There have been several evictions already, and a few of the tenants have ventured to pay their rent, but they have been regarded by the others as traitors and have been given to understand by reason of boycotts and midnight raids that they need a lesson in patriotism.

Despite the activities of the police signal fires on the hills, the blowing of horns and clanging of church bells are summoning the people of the district together for secret meetings. Already the law is declared powerless. A few days ago an officer achieved the idea of serving writs on some of the tenants while the men folk were away at a fair. Although he was accompanied by six policemen, the women collected and by means of sticks and stones made it hot for the invaders, who finally had to get out.

With all this preliminary trouble one can get some idea of what will happen when 2,000 families comprising some 10,000 persons are turned out in a bunch. Conor O'Kelly, a good looking young Irish member of parliament, who, with four other members of the United league, was sent to Castlebar in December for making a speech which the government thought unlawful, is now at liberty. Speaking of the trouble at De Freyne, he said, "If bloodshed should result from throwing 10,000 people out on the roadside, there will be an outbreak in Ireland that will have serious consequences for the government of the country."

John Dillon, chairman of the Irish Nationalist party in the house of commons, also foresees serious trouble. But whatever happens he is sure to be in the thick of it. Mr. Dillon, who, it will be recalled, was recently suspended for a breach of parliamentary rules in applying the epithet "blank liar" to Joseph Chamberlain, knows how it feels to receive punishment. He was the first of the Parnellites to suffer in the famous suspension of 1881.

Mr. Dillon, by the way, is not a rude, unlettered apostle of revolution. He belongs indeed to eminently fashionable society. He married the daughter of a judge, though he himself has slept in a prison cell. He was educated at a university and is a member of the Irish Royal College of Surgeons. Mr. Dillon is about fifty years old.

One reason the coming conflict bids fair to be memorable is that for the first time since Parnell's downfall there is a united Irish party in parliament, and with the keen joy of a fight to look forward to there is no sign that it will fall apart.

A FATAL MISTAKE

Is Often Made by the Wisest of East Liverpool People.

It's a fatal mistake to neglect backache.

Backache is the first symptom of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them promptly.

Don't delay until too late.

Until it becomes Diabetes—Bright's Disease.

Read what an East Liverpool citizen says:

Mrs. Mary Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney complaint in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a severe attack of rheumatism; for three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend, lean back against a chair or reach up. I could not lie on my back and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the W. & W. pharmacy, did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper states them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of backache and all other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Men who look much older than they are never appear to such disadvantage as with the wife who keeps her matronly beauty. The secret of health and the manly vigor which goes with health is nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased there is loss of nutrition, and corresponding physical weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, which prevent nutrition, and makes men healthy and vigorous.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years and was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "I also suffered much with constipation. I tried many different medicines which were recommended to cure the trouble but these only made me worse. I had such a weak and debilitated appearance that it seemed as if I had hardly any blood in my whole body. At last I came across an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's. I at once tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets'. I used about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery' which brought me back to my former state of health."

The Hair.

The hair grows considerably faster in summer than in winter.

To Stop a Gas Leak.

If you find gas escaping, you can stop it till a plumber can be sent for by filling the hole with soap mixed with whitening. This will also do in case of water leakage in a pipe.

To keep cake moist you should put a slice of fresh bread in the cakebox every now and then.

London's Daily Traffic.

If the number of people daily entering London were to be dispatched from any given station by train, 1,977 trains, each conveying 600 persons, would be required for the purpose. Moreover, if all these trains were arranged in a straight line they would cover 221 miles of railway.

Tar Stains.

To remove tar put soft grease on the spot, rub it thoroughly with the hands and wash both grease and tar with warm soda water.

Clams.

The clams that live in the sand at extreme low water mark are larger than their mud beach brethren of the high water mark, have whiter shells, and their meat is sweeter and more tender.

In the Sudan horses are shod with camel's skin.

A Daring Method of Attack.

The natives in some parts of South America are bold and reckless enough to give them some chance of fighting the alligator in the water. They dive under it and plunge a long dagger into its belly, and after a few struggles the hated monster turns over on its back and dies.

BAPTIST UNION MET

Young Peoples Church Socicy Conventions Heard Addresses.

Opened Second Day's Session Yesterday—Chapman Chosen President and Other Officers Selected. Speeches on Different Subjects.

Providence, R. I., July 12.—The Baptist Young People's union convention began its second day here yesterday with prayer meetings in the First Baptist church, where Rev. E. P. Tuller, of Detroit, Mich., spoke upon a "Call to Battle," and in Infantry hall, where Rev. Walter Calley, of Boston, addressed a great audience upon "The Girdle of Consecration."

The order of exercises was taken up at 9:30 o'clock with "the open parliament," led by President E. W. Hunt, D. D.

The nominating committee presented at 10:30 a list of officers for the coming year, all of whom were elected, as follows:

President, John H. Chapman, Illinois; vice president, George Miller, Maryland; second vice president, Thomas Trotter, D. D., Nova Scotia; third vice president, Samuel Seymour, Pennsylvania; recording secretary, H. W. Reid, Illinois; treasurer, H. B. Osgood, Chicago; members of the board of managers, Ira M. Pierce, D. D., H. W. Reid, J. W. Low, C. S. Burton, H. F. Perry, D. D., W. H. Geiswert, D. D., E. W. Hunt, D. D., George T. Webb and M. L. Britton.

The board of managers and state officials met at 4 o'clock for the transaction of business pertaining to the order. The five conferences begun Thursday were continued late yesterday afternoon under the supervision of Prof. F. L. Anderson, Newton Centre, Mass.; Rev. H. F. Perry, D. D., Chicago; Prof. J. M. Stiffler, D. D., Chester, Pa.; Rev. J. W. Weddell, D. D. Davenport, Ia., and Miss L. E. Fushnell, Chicago.

The evening meetings were conducted simultaneously in Infantry hall and in the First Baptist church. In connection with the presentation of the senior all around banner, Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D., of Kansas City, Mo., spoke in the former place upon "God's Estimate of His Works," while Rev. Thomas Anderson, of Omaha, Neb., spoke upon the same subject in the church.

NO PROSELYTING IN SCHOOLS.

Wright So Declared as to Charges Made In Catholic Times, Regarding Philippines.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Root has addressed an identical letter to persons complaining that teachers in the Philippines have been proselyting and attempting to convert Catholics to the Protestant faith. It says in part:

"The following dispatch has now been received from Governor Wright:

'Secretary of War, Washington:

"'Referring to telegram from your office of 6th inst., charges made by Catholic Times unfounded in every essential particular. Untrue that nearly all American teachers are Protestant preachers and proselyters. The fact is one division superintendent was preaching in the United States a short time, then became teacher. Possibly two or three similar instances among teachers. Bryan, head of normal school, was never clergyman and never occupied a pulpit here or anywhere. There are now two American Catholic teachers in school of instruction (Normal school) and five in Manila city schools. Native teachers in city numbering 140, all Catholic. Untrue that teachers of normal schools are proselyting and that school graduates only Protestants. Exceptional that any graduate is other than Catholic. Untrue that Filipino is taught that Protestantism brings enlightenment and Catholicism ignorance and tyranny. No reason to suppose that Stone, superintendent, and Oliver, principal, Manila, bigoted or anti-Catholic. Both deny it, as also the statement that graduates of Catholic university have been refused place in Manila and sent into the wilderness. Private secretary of Commissioner Moses, Catholic, also private secretary of Atkinson, general superintendent of public instruction, also three division superintendents. Have shown your cable to Rev. William D. McKinnon, Catholic priest, a member of the advisory board, general instruction, who confirms the statement of facts made by the above. Law to inaugurate public school system forbids religious instruction in schools or school buildings by teachers, but allows same three days a week in school buildings, by priest or preacher, out of school hours, upon request of parents (see section 16, act 74). This intended as concession to Catholic sentiment. There are about 3,400 native teachers employed in the islands, all of whom are Catholics. Teachers selected without reference to religion and not allowed to preach or teach religion in schools. No discrimination against Catholic teachers.

"'Wright.'"

CORONATION SOUVENIRS.

London Dealers Prepared to Capture the American Dollar.

Americans who attend the coronation of King Edward will find a splendid opportunity to gratify their taste for souvenirs. London jewelers, badge-makers and that ilk have prepared innumerable articles, costly and cheap, to commemorate the event. There are busts and pins and buttons galore in the cheaper variety, and for those who want to expend more there are costly articles in precious metals and jewels up to fabulous amounts.

England does not crown a sovereign every day, and the event is one to be remembered, and souvenirs will be treasured by generations to come. Among the more costly articles shown in London are many medallion portraits, some of the king, some of the queen and others of the two together, these with a ring at the top and some set around with jewels.

A pair of cuff links are in the form of oval buttons, a big C outlining one and in the center the remainder of the word "coronation," while on the other button are the intwined letters "E. R.," with a tiny "VII." between them.

A pretty brooch of diamonds, olivines and rubies has the figures "1902" intwined and surmounted with a crown. One other small brooch has the letters "E. R." joined by a crown and surmounted by the "VII.," and one "1902" pin has the date on a bar of gold surmounted by a crown, and another, a crown from which rays of gold ascend, has the date across the broadest part of the rays.

A diamond and enamel bar brooch has a crown in the center, a shamrock and thistle finishing the two ends of the bar and joined by a spray of green leaves in the rose of England below.

Perhaps the souvenirs that will appeal to the Americans abroad will be the coronation spoons. These are in great variety and are comparatively inexpensive. They are shown in many styles. Some of the handsomest have Westminster abbey in the bowl.

Smaller spoons with heart shaped bowls are differently finished. One has the coat of arms of Great Britain in the bowl, the letters "E. R." surmounted by a crown and with date at the top of the handle. Another has nothing in the bowl, but a head of the king on the top of the handle.

MR. HACKETT'S FIND.

Young Texas Actress Who Scored a Success In "The Crisis."

One of the most charming young actresses who have recently achieved successes before the footlights is Miss Charlotte Walker, who scored a hit in the role of Virginia Carvel in "The Crisis."

Miss Walker was discovered by James K. Hackett, who has made quite a record in bringing out leading ladies.

MISS CHARLOTTE WALKER.

Miss Walker is a Texas girl, who until last fall had only been seen in small parts in light comedy.

During the past season she played in "Don Cæsar's Return" and also appeared in "The Gentleman of France" with Kyrle Bellew, in neither of which plays she had a chance to show her quality.

When Miss Walker was given the role of the southern heroine of "The Crisis" by Mr. Hackett, she at once vindicated the faith he had in her ability, scoring a pronounced success.

NOTABLE MAN HUNTS

HOW CRIMINALS HAVE BEEN CHASED TO ENDS OF EARTH.

Benson, Who Posed as Mme. Patti Agent, Cheated Justice by Death Relentless Energy of the Police In Tracking Counterfeiters.

There have been many long pursuits of criminals, great in the distance traveled, the obstacles overcome and the persistence of the pursuing officers, but that of Sergeant Wood of the Natal (South Africa) police is doubtless a record breaker. The man sought by Sergeant Wood was charged with embezzling large sums of money at Pietermaritzburg. He got away from South Africa and went to New York. Although the detective had information as to where his quarry was hiding, yet he had first to visit London to obtain the necessary extradition papers. Then he hurried to America and with the assistance of the United States police ran down his man. By the time he had reached Maritzburg he had been traveling hard for nearly three months and had covered nearly 21,000 miles.

One of the sternest chases of recent years was after Loys Darrell, formerly sergeant in the Seventh United States cavalry. Darrell enlisted at the beginning of the Spanish-American war and distinguished himself at Cuba. There he fell in love with a pretty Spanish girl and beggared himself in buying finery for his sweetheart. To obtain more money he robbed and murdered a companion in arms named Crouch. He then fled.

A detective named Dupuy was put upon the murderer's track and, finding a clew, started for New Orleans. He was right in his surmise that Darrell had gone there, but when he arrived the bird had flown. He had left on a British mule transport for South Africa. Dupuy took train for New York, fast boat for Southampton, rushed by rail across Europe, caught a boat of the German East African line and finally arrived at Beira, in Portuguese East Africa.

There he waited like a spider for a fly, and just as Darrell was fancying himself safe from pursuit he pounced upon him. Later on the detective deposited his prisoner safely in Castle William jail in New York. He had traveled in all 31,000 miles and spent $1,250 in the chase.

One of the most astonishing criminals England ever produced was a man named Benson, who began operations in London with two confederates. He organized a series of swindling companies in the city, while he himself, pretending to be an invalid, lived in the greatest luxury in the Isle of Wight. He posed as a great philanthropist, was foremost in charitable works and went into the very best society. By dint of bribing certain officers of the law he lived for some years on the proceeds of his swindles. But one day the crash came. He was arrested, sentenced and got a long term in Portsmouth jail.

No sooner was he out than he was at his old tricks again. These culminated in Switzerland, where he managed to gain the affections of the daughter of an English officer. Through her he induced her father to trust him with the investment of his entire capital, some $35,000. He bolted with the money. Chased across Europe, a detective caught him at Bremen. To avoid scandal the victim promised not to prosecute if Benson would give up the money. The latter did so and left for America. Hardly was the vessel out of sight before it was discovered that the bundle of scrip the thief had handed over was worth at most $160.

Followed across the Atlantic, Benson escaped to Mexico, where he made £5,000 by passing himself off as Mme. Patti's agent and selling forged concert tickets. By this time his photograph was in almost ever police bureau in the world. Yet he dodged and twisted under a dozen aliases and was heard of in almost every South American state before a clever New York detective ran him down in Rio after a two years' hunt.

Even then he cheated justice. Landed in prison in New York, he walked upstairs, chatting amiably to his jailer. Suddenly he made a spring and jumped clean over the banister. He was picked up with a broken back and died that night.

The police never exhibit more relentless energy than in hunting down a coiner. A coiner's crime is against government, and so the whole forces of the state are against him. The United States suffers far more from coiners than England does and is proportionately keen to run down such offenders. Early in 1900 a man named Hastings was surprised in his workshop, from which he had issued many thousands of small silver coins, but he was too quick for his would be captors and escaped. No fewer than seven secret service men were put on his track. The remarkable fact is that Hastings never attempted to leave the states.

Elifer, one of the detectives, got a hint that a stranger was in the woods. He took a blanket and some food and hid himself in a thicket. Very early in the morning Hastings passed, carrying a bag of food. Elifer tracked him to his refuge and saw that the forger was armed. He waited some distance away in hiding. When night came, Hastings came out with a dark lantern and searched every bush near his hiding place. At last he was satisfied and went back. So soon as Elifer felt sure the man was asleep he crept up and had the handcuffs on him before he could awake. On the way to the jail Hastings told his captor that he had seen him on ten different occasions and had once, in Cincinnati, been within three feet of him in a theater.—Chicago Chronicle.

PROJECTED NEW CAR LINE HAS NOT BEEN GIVEN UP

W. L. Thompson Says a Railway Will Be Built to the Park If He Has to Do It Himself.

HF THINKS THE OPPOSITION WILL DIE OUT.

There is every prospect that within the next year the residents of this city can ride to Thompson park over a new street railway.

"The majority of those persons opposed to the construction of the proposed railway from the city up Pennsylvania avenue to the boulevard," said W. L. Thompson this afternoon, "I believe will be the strongest supporters of the scheme as soon as they weigh the matter carefully."

Continuing Mr. Thompson said: "The matter of building this road immediately has been dropped, but it will be taken up again very soon. A street railway has a tendency to increase the value of any territory through which it is run, and if in other cities why not in East Liverpool? People in Pittsburg along the principal street of the city, Fifth avenue, did not object to a good street railway service. It had a tendency to increase business in the lower part of the city, and in the outskirts it increased the value of residence properties. The same can be done in this city, and the fact has been proven."

When asked if he would begin work on this line soon, Mr. Thompson did not care to express himself on the matter, but from the way he talked one was led to believe that an additional road would be built in the territory designated. In fact, the gentleman said that a road would be built to the park if he had to build it himself.

The remark was quite a broad one, and it is known that when Mr. Thompson makes up his mind to make an improvement, it is generally made. As to the route that will be traversed by the road nothing definite can be learned, as all matters concerning it are yet in embryo.

It is known that Mr. Healy, of the East Liverpool railway company, has the privilege to construct an extension to the Calcutta road branch from its present terminus at Thompson park, through to the East End, but when work on this extension is to be commenced cannot be learned. This company has a large amount of work on its hands just at present, and the opinion of many is that the road via the boulevard to the East End will be begun before fall.

SAGGER MAKERS FORM NEW LOCAL

They Are Reported at Loggerheads With Trenton Kilnmen Just Now.

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., July 11.—The installation of a uniform price list in the sanitary potteries, which went into effect last Monday, marks a new epoch in the history of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in this city.

Directly upon the success of the Brotherhood, comes the news of dissension in the ranks of the local assembly of the K. of L., prompted by the refusal of the Trenton Manufacturing Potters' association to adopt the uniform price list which they presented last April.

The Knights of Labor are composed principally of insurgent jiggermen, who withdrew from the organization after its first attempt to install the uniform list in the general ware plants of the east.

William Clayton, who was the controlling influence of the Knights of Labor, has withdrawn from that organization, and is using his oratorical powers in advocating the belief of the Seventh Day Adventists.

Albert Craat, who along with Clayton was one of the organizers of the jiggermen, has left the organization and is now foreman of the pressing shop of the Mercer pottery.

For more than a year past the Knights of Labor have been advertising their fast increasing membership, which, as now seen, was simply a movement to secure members from the Brotherhood. A mixed local was formed, comprising jiggermen, kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, numbering in all only about 125 members.

The organization last April created considerable surprise by advocating the adoption of a uniform price list for general ware plants which was submitted to the manufacturers for approval. The list compiled by the insurgents was pigeon holed, and nothing more has been heard of it, save the many attempts of the Knights of Labor to secure a conference.

The adoption of the sanitary list virtually goes to show that the Brotherhood has been recognized by the manufacturers as the controlling body among the potters. The success which the Brotherhood has attained in the west in settling local disputes has appealed to the manufacturers, who have consented to treat with the Brotherhood officials in the future.

The new sanitary list affects about 1,200 clay workers, who are distrubuted among the plants located in the following cities: Kokomo, Wheeling, Tiffin, New Castle, Camden, Elizabeth and Trenton.

The list provides for a general increase averaging from 8 to 10 per cent, and a more uniform rate to be paid in the manufacture of specialties.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY LEADS IN B. & L. ASSETS.

This City Has $1,348,452 in Such Associations—Its People Believe in Co-Operation.

John J. Purinton, secretary of the Potters' Building & Savings company, is preparing a paper on "The Conditions of the Building & Loan Associations of Eastern Ohio," which is to be read at the annual meeting at Put-in-Bay this year. He says that Columbiana county leads all the eastern counties both in the number of building and loan associations, number of members and amount of money deposited with them, Columbiana county having $2,413,788.88 of assets. Of this amount the East Liverpool associations have $1,348,452.07.

There is no city in the state of Ohio outside of Dayton that makes as good per capita a showing as this. And when we remember that this money and these associations are the property of 5,000 stockholders and not the property of 40 or 50 moneyed men, we more fully appreciate the substantial character of our city and citizens, and the high standing and regard in which the building and loans are held by the laboring class.

A CROWD SOON COLLECTED

A goose-pasturing without precedent in this city occurred last night in the Smoky row district. It was witnessed by scores of people and they are all suffering today from hearty and side-bursting fits of laughter forced upon them by the unusually comic accompaniments to the joke. The name of the victim is known, but by his earnest request it is withheld. He came to the city some time ago and has been regularly employed by a plastering firm.

It seems that since coming to the city he has been unable to find a young lady friend of the sort he desired. He confided to another young man at the Washington house, who promised to help him out. He promised an introduction to a most attractive young woman and promised to arrange for a meeting. Then he called his friends together and the plans for the joke were laid.

Returning to the plasterer, the joker invited him to follow. He followed and was led up the street to a dark corner. Both stood there a few minutes, waiting for the lady. The plasterer was struck dumb by the appearance of another man backed by a dozen friends. A revolver was suddenly thrust in his face and the new comer said: "I've got you now. You are the man that has been after my wife for months."

Before giving the victim a chance to reply the pistol, loaded with blank cartridges, was fired several times. The hotel man made it strong by falling with loud moans to the pavement. The scene that followed beats anything on record. The poor fellow, scared almost to death, started on a wild run up the street with the gang after him firing their pistols at every stride. Reaching the C. & P. freight yards he sank to the ground and moaned, almost inaudibly. "Please don't shoot me. I never did any wrong in my life."

His appeals came to naught. The crowd by this time had increased to over 200, many being attracted from neighboring streets, made a rush on the unlucky chap, and after a dozen or more volleys were fired at him he once more took to his heels. The last seen of him was far up the railroad track, disappearing around the end of a box car.

From Rochester to Wellsville Among Proposed C. & P. Improvements.

The Cleveland & Pittsburg Railroad company proposes to make more improvements about this city than the general public has anticipated. The laying of a double track is not all. It is said the purpose of the company is to build a third track from Rochester to Wellsville, and from that point to Bellaire there will be two tracks. In this city surveyors are now at work making a survey for the third track. Under the old survey for two tracks, the new track would be run along the line of the fence at the Hotel Lake property. That this need not be done the new survey has been ordered.

The matter of securing additional property about this city, it is said, has slackened somewhat, but the original intention of the company is not dropped.

Did Not Interfere.

John Monsey, foreman of the East End sewer pipe works, denies that he interfered in the arrest of Gould, an employe of the works by a colored constable from Wellsville. Mr. Monsey asked the constable to defer making the arrest until evening in order not to delay the work of the plant. The colored official threatened Mr. Monsey with arrest, and he ordered him from the premises. This ended the incident.

Raised the Quarantine.

A DISAPPEARANCE AT SMITH'S FERRY

EDITOR J. A. HOWELL'S PEN

Interesting Features of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania Suburb. Charming Spot For an Outing—Tale of Ohio River Floods.

J. A. Howells, editor of the Ashtabula Sentinel, has been spending his vacation at Smith's Ferry. Mr. Howells is a brother of the novelist, W. D. Howells, and like him wields a facile pen. In a letter to his paper, he writes thus of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania suburb:

This is a charming spot for a summer outing. A mile below is the line which divides Pennsylvania from Ohio and West Virginia. In front of the hotel is a country road and then a locust grove on the brink of the river. At the back of the hotel is a counry road and the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad, and then the hills rise abruptly 200 or 300 feet, clothed to the very top with trees and bushes. We are told that the view from the top of the hill gives a magnificent stretch of the Ohio and country and for miles up and down the river. We will believe it without trying to prove it by climbing up the hill.

In the grove are two stones, three feet high and 6x10 inches square; between them is a smaller one on which there is a meridian mark. A short time since a party of government surveyors came along and erected a frame work over it which looks like a hen coop made to keep ostriches in. It is made of odds and ends of drift wood but to give it some dignity, a notice printed on cloth is tacked on it which reads: "United States Geological survey, $250 fine for molesting this signal $25 reward to informer."

We are kept busy watching the river and a little ferry boat plies across the river at this place. It is very interesting to see the little boat going back and forth. It is propelled by the force of the current.

Just now nothing could be more charming and restful than a stay on the banks of the la Belle river—Ohio. The water is up to the banks and the banks are green to the water's edge. As we look across the river from our shady grove, we see on the bank a dozes large houses in generous yards which face the river, and occupy a mile frontage. A half mile back, hills rise off the bottom to the height of one or two hundred feet, their sides and tops covered with forest, wheat oats, corn and orchards. The varying colors from deep green to golden grain gives a picture which can never be tiresome, especially at this time when the monotony—if there can be a monotony in a broad river—is broken every hour or two by a passing steamer. Later, say in August and September, when the river has run down to a third of its present width, and the boats have ceased to run, then that part of the interest in the river is gone.

The dwellers on the banks of the Ohio have their troubles as well as their joys. There are few places along the river, where the people live on the "first bank," that they are not liable to be driven out of their houses by high water. The hotel where we are stopping was built in 1835. Its occupants have been driven into the second story probably a dozen times since it was built, and in 1884, the water was four feet deep all over the first floors; in March of the present year the water was within two feet of the first floor. The merchant next door had to move everything out of the basement of his store, and the water was within six inches of the floor. After being drowned out there is a bad time for the "women folks," as the flood leaves a thick coat of mud, and the damp floors make a mess of everything.

Thirty years ago the oil boom was on at this place. Smith's Ferry became at once an important point. Many flowing wells were struck and speculation was rampant. People came to buy territory and to buy oil. At this time there is one well which for all these years has given a small but steady yield, and furnishes a good monthly revene to its fortunate owner.

One of the oldest residents related to us this incident. Some thirty

SECRET SERVICE MAN

IN THIS CITY LOOKING AFTER COUNTERFEIT COIN.

A Large Amount of It Is Now Reported In Circulation Here.

Circulation of spurious coin in the city has given rise to the filing of numerous complaints at police headquarters during the past week. Although it is said that the counterfeit is in some cases of large denomination the greater number detected consists of dimes. The street car companies are probably suffering the heaviest of any, but the merchants are close seconds.

A secret service man is in the city and doing all possible to run down the circulators. It is the general opinion that those doing the work are strangers and a close watch is being kept on suspicious looking men.

A GILT-EDGE CAMP

Quarters of East Liverpool Boys at Port Huron Interestingly Described.

The Resorter, published at Port Huron, Mich., has the following in its last issue about the Gilt Edge Camping club of this city:

"The Gilt Edge Camping club, 27 strong, is now camping below LaSalle Beach. The young men are from East Liverpool, O., a section where the hot weather drives its inhabitants to a cooler clime, and they seek here along the shore of the lake recreation and comfort for a short period of three weeks. The club is a new one, this being its first year's camp, but the boys intend enjoying themselves just as if they were old timers.

"Their outfit consists of a dining tent, cooking tent and two sleeping tents, one of the latter holding 24 men. They have gasoline torches to illuminate their quarters and large banners have been put up to let the people know who they are. Two large American flags have also been raised in front of their camp. The club arrived Saturday by boat and expects to stay here for three weeks."

Incorporation Papers Filed for Another Projected Electric Railway.

Columbus, July 12.—(Special.)—The Youngstown & Southeastern Electric Railway company was incorporated at the office of the secretary of state late Friday afternoon. The new concern starts out with a capitalization of $50,000. It is proposed in the articles of incorporation to construct a line of electric railway from Youngstown to Poland. There are three points further west which it is understood are to be reached later on, but articles will have to be amended. This may be done at any time the company sees fit to do so.

The incorporators are H. E. Hamilton, Thomas E. Connell, E. H. Moore, Gordon Cook and James F. McNally.

HORSE FELL ON STREET

Dr. Ogden And Mayor Davidson Thrown Out And the Latter Bruised.

Mayor Davidson and Dr. C. B. Ogden narrowly escaped serious injury this morning while taking a pleasure drive in the latter's buggy. They were on Market street and were turning at the corner of Third street, when the horse very suddenly and unexpectedly fell, throwing the occupants to the pavement.

Dr. Ogden was not hurt in the least, but the mayor sustained bruises on his face and right leg which, although not serious, will cause him considerable pain for a few days. The horse in falling sprained its forelegs and was badly shaken up.

C. & P. MEN'S PICNIC

A Special Train Carried a Large Crowd to Silver Lake Today.

The C. & P. railway picnic is being held at Silver Lake Park today. The special from Pittsburg passed this city at 7 o'clock this morning, having 14 coaches and a large number of employes of the company from the freight offices and other department are attending. Haynes' band, of this city, is also in attendance, and discoursed sweet music this morning before embarking.

Cottages All Occupied.

Telepraph and Express Service In This City Cause No End of Complaint.

UP-TOWN OFFICES NEEDED.

Information said to be authentic comes from Pittsburg to the effect that the Postal Telegraph company will succeed to the Western Union company's telegraph business on the C. & P. some time next fall.

The change is one that will be welcomed by the business men of East Liverpool, for as one of them remarked today, the telegraphic service could not well be worse, and the chances are greatly in favor of a change for the better when the other company takes hold.

"The thing most needed here," said a prominent business man today, "is an uptown telegraph office. Next to that is needed an office that shall be open all night. There are towns with half of East Liverpool's population that have both these facilities, because there is some competition in the telegraph business, some desire to get business and to oblige the public. East Liverpool is placed on a par with Industry and Smith's Ferry, with a telegraph office at the railroad station and nowhere else.

"The messenger service here is abominable and if a man wants to send a telegram in a hurry he must send it or carry it down to the depot. Even when he gets there, there is no assurance that it will be sent until a batch of railroad company's business is disposed of. I have known telegrams filed early in the evening to be so late in reaching their destination that they could not be delivered that night. Frequently it is the case that a telegram filed in some distant city the evening before is not received in East Liverpool until the next morning, simply because East Liverpool was too busy to take it up to midnight, the time of closing.

"This is very annoying, especially when the message relates to important matters, and business men seldom telegraph unless the message is important.

"No blame for this condition of affairs attaches to the company employes in this city. They do the best they can with the facilities afforded them; but the facilities, instead of being those to which a third-class city is entitled, are those ordinarily accorded to third-rate country villages.

"Protesting does no good. Scores of business men have protested until they got tired; the service gets worse instead of better. The best we can hope for is a change for the better when the Postal company takes hold here. The business done will be immensely increased if a telegraph office is established uptown, the number of operators and messengers added to and the office kept open all night. It is scarcely likely that the Western Union will go out of business altogether along the C. & P., and rival telegraph offices may be the result. Everybody will rejoice to see the Western Union's monopoly ended.

"Another matter," continued the gentleman, "which everybody would be glad to see remedied, is the Adams Express business in this city. That company, like the telegraph company, has its office in the most inconvenient and least accessible quarter of the town. That is not all. It seems neither to desire business nor to care for what business it has. I have known, in the past few days, several instances in which packages have laid in the express office two to three weeks, although the addressee's names were in the city directory and in the telephone books, and no effort whatever was made to notify them. In other cities it is customary at least to put a postal card in the postoffice in such cases. But the Adams Express company, having a monopoly, evidently thinks it useless to waste postal cards in East Liverpool.

"Nobody does business with the Adams Express company if he can help it, but in East Liverpool there is no help. There is certainly need that steps be taken to secure the delivery

GIVING FREE SHOWS

East End Boys Making Use of a Tent Taken from Show People.

Because they were unable to collect all the compensation due them from a company that had something to do with the recent turnfest at Columbian park, "Bones," Whalen and "Brigham" Young, well known young men of the East End, took a large tent instead. This they have erected on a spacious lot in Calhoun's addition, and each evening there are dacning, acrobatic feats and singing, all for nothing.

The boys have named their new venture the Calhoun Song and Dance hall, and as the admission is free large crowds spend a few hours under the tent in the evenings. The boys give a creditable performance.

Beautiful Flower Beds.

Motorman Gus Brandenburg, who resides on Railroad street near Ralston crossing, and whose property faces the street railway, takes pleasure in arrasging various beds of flowers in his yard, and this year it seems he has done better than in past seasons. After Brandenberg has finished his run on the East Liverpool street railway he is soon found working about his flowers, and every bit of work he does seems to add to the beauty of the place. The arrangement of the various flower beds is most artistic.

Stone Throwing Must Cease.

Throwing stones, just for the fun of the sport is liable to get some youngsters into serious trouble if the practice is not stopped. John Baker, a small boy, making his home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Chafin, has probably found this out by this time. J. Friley has asked Officer Fisher to read the city ordinance to the boy relative to promiscuous throwing of stones. A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friley was struck on the arm by one of the stones and this morning the arm is quite sore.

Communion Tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Dean, of Salineville, who has been assisting Rev. D. W. McQuiston in the series of special meetings at the Second U. P. church, left this morning for his home in Salineville. It was thought that he would be able to assist at the regular communion service at this church tomorrow morning, but arrangements for this end could not be satisfactorily made.

Best Wheat Crop For Years.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

When James Miles went to his work at the new plant of the Laughlin company this morning his face was wreated in smiles, for a little son came to their home last evening.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pollock, who was reported as being critically ill yesterday, was greatly improved this morning, and it is now said that she is out of danger.

Alex Chafin has commenced to demolish a warehouse that he built on Erie street overlooking the engine room of the East End sewer pipe works. This building will be removed to the bottom, upon which the several East End potteries are built.

COUNTERFEIT STAMPS

Offered to Postmasters—New Sort of Green Goods Game.

A new swindling game has been sprung in the green goods line, and it is said is being worked with great success. The dupes are third and fourth class postmasters. Up to date nearly a thousand have fallen victims to the game and each has lost between $500 and $1,000.

Counterfeit stamps are offered, manufactured from understroyed plates of the government — undistinguishable from the genuine. When the indiscreet postmaster reaches the swindler's rendezvous, games of substitution are worked and the victim retires from the place a heavy loser and subject to a heavy penalty. The swindling gang it is said, is working toward Ohio from New York.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

A pary of some 30 or 40 young people Thursday evening made the fact very generally known by their serenading that one of East Liverpool's well known business men has just returned from his weddding trip. The gentleman is Edgar P. McHenry, the well known carpenter, and his bride, lately Miss Rebecca E. Williams, of Scranton, Pa. The wedding took place June 25, after which a tour of Detroit, Niaga Falls and other northern resorts was made.

An English King's Death.

William Rufus was killed by an arrow, either accidental or with murderous intent. He died in the New forest, his body was stripped by tramps and the next day was found by a charcoal burner, who placed the naked corpse on his cart, hoping to receive a reward. On the way to Winchester the cart was upset, and the king's body fell in the mire. Covered with filth and black with charcoal, it arrived in Winchester, where it was buried in the cathedral. A few years later the tower fell and crushed the tomb, and 600 years after the Puritans rifled the grave and played football with the king's skull.

Cruikshank's "Fagin."

HIS WIFE'S TRIUMPH.

A Memento That Was Inspiring to John Richard Green.

It has been the fate of many men of letters to have ill health bearing them down as they struggled on toward literary achievements. Thus beset in recent times were Stevenson, Richard Jeffries and J. R. Green. Each of these, it happened, had a high hearted wife to keep him up, even to help him with the actual labor of writing. "The Life and Letters of J. R. Green" show forth a great and sweet man. They show, too, a wife whose sympathy and fortitude helped to make his accomplishment possible.

In copying the vast amount of manuscript of her husband's books Mrs. Green contracted writer's cramp and was forced to stop using her right hand. This looked like a final obstacle in the way of the invalid, who did much of his thinking in bed and could not write himself. But Mrs. Green set to work at once learning to write with her left hand.

One of her first practice pages, which she was about to destroy with the rest, her husband took quietly and put in his pocket. Years afterward, when ill health seemed unbearable and in discouragement he felt that he could not work, he used to take out that piece of paper, a living record of his wife's triumph over difficulty. When he saw the painful, patient strokes by which Mrs. Green had learned to write with her left hand, he could work on with something near to inspiration.

Sausages Made While You Wait.

The man who ruined a sausage maker's trade by walking into his shop with a sackful of dead cats and dumping the contents down on the counter now finds a rival—albeit an unintentional one—in the person of a London waiter. The latter worthy, being asked by a customer for sausages, replied that there was none left; but, being of an obliging disposition, he went on to say that if the gentleman did not mind waiting for a few minutes some should be obtained for him—meaning, of course, that they should be sent out for. The customer having signified his willingness to wait, the waiter proceeded to the culinary department to give the necessary instructions, but on arriving there he had the misfortune to step on the tail of a dog which belonged to one of the kitchen attendants. The injured animal immediately let out a series of agonized yelps, whereupon the customer, being evidently a man of imaginative mind, turned pale and left the restaurant hurriedly.—Pearson's.

Trousers In College.

As late as 1812 students in Trinity and St. John's colleges, Cambridge, were prohibited from wearing pantaloons, or trousers, in chapel. Oxford men had already fought for and won the right to wear trousers. These were first allowed in Oxford in 1810, when Rigaud was proctor, and his relaxation of discipline gave great offense to the dons. On Nov. 20, 1815, William Phelps, scholar of Corpus and afterward archdeacon of Carlisle, writes, "I have been invited once to the bachelors' common room, where I found all wore black pantaloons and stockings and white waistcoats." Evidently the discovery caused him some surprise or he would not have thought it worthy of record. Dean Burgon relates in his "Lives of Twelve Great Men" that as late as 1817 the Rev. Edward Miles Rudd as senior fellow of Oriel used to appear at the college "gaudy" in black shorts.

So Thoughtful of Her.

Young Husband (picking up bundle from table)—What have you here, love? Something for me?

Young Wife—Yes, dear. I went down town this morning expressly to buy them for you. I hope you'll like them.

Young Husband—Like them? Of course I'll like them if you bought them. But what are they?

Young Wife—They're nightcaps, dear. I heard you tell Sparkles this morning that you'd go down to the club this evening with him and wet a nightcap, and I made up my mind right away that I'd save you that trouble by seeing that you had some in the house. Just open the parcel and try them on, won't you, love?—Exchange.

MITCHELL HITS OPERATORS.

Less Accidents if They Protected Employes Better, Instead of Cutting Expenses.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, was greatly shocked when he learned of the extent of the disaster of the rolling mill mine at Johnstown, Pa. He is waiting for information from representatives of the organization in that district and it is likely the union will take some action in the way of affording relief to those affected by the explosion. President Mitchell said these mine accidents come with such frequency that it is positively shocking.

"The frequency with which they happen," he said, "is a strong argument why more stringent laws should be passed by legislatures regulating the ventilation of gaseous mines. If mining companies would exercise more care in protecting the lives of their men in their mines instead of trying to reduce the cost of production the occupation of a miner would not be so hazardous."

Cominf Miners' Convention Likely To Do Either One, From What Mitchell Said.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell yesterday consented to say something for publication regarding the coming miners' convention. He said it was utterly impossible to forecast the action of the convention. From his remarks it is almost certain the convention will do one of two things, either decide on a general suspension or provide a defense fund for the anthracite strikers.

Rome, July 12.—It is understood that the question of the withdrawal of the friars from the Philippine islands could be settled immediately, if Washington would accept the oral assurance of the vatican that they will be withdrawn gradually. It was believed here that President Roosevelt can decide whether such a promise can be accepted.

Baked Milk.

When offering food and drink to the invalid, one should avoid things very sweet and very sour, as they are often very hurtful to weak stomachs. Most sick people can take milk, but in many cases it is not well to give it raw. Baked milk is good and may be taken fearlessly into the most delicate stomach. To prepare this properly put two quarts of fresh sweet milk in a jar covered with white writing paper, tightly tied down, and bake it in an oven moderately hot until thick as cream, which will take about eight or ten hours. A less quantity will not require so long.—St. Louis Republic.

THE SECOND GAME WAS HOMESTEAD'S

Both Pitchers Did Excellent Work. Until the Sixth Inning Neither Team Made a Score—East Liverpool Got Six Hits.

East Liverpool lost the second game of the series with Homestead yesterday by a score of 2 to 1. As in the four preceding games played on this, the initial trip for the locals, the game was filled with interest and the errors were scarce on both sides.

Less than the average number of hits were made, both pitchers doing excellent work. Of the six hits made by East Liverpool, Heckathorn is credited with two and Davis with a like number. Ustil the sixth inning neither team scored. Berry, the first man up in this inning, walked. Reark flied out to middle. Heckathorn made a pretty two-base hit to middle advancing Berry to third. Webb flied to middle and Berry beat the throw home, making the only score of the game.

Marshall opened for Homestead by belting one out to left, which Godwin barely touched with the tips of his fingers. Cosgrove got first by placing one behind Patterson. Berry dropped it when thrown to him. McChesney tried to sacrifice and Marshall died at third. Cosgrove taking second. Nagle poked one between second and short and succeeded in scoring McChesney and Cosgrove.

The locals will play at Caston tomorrow, and a large number of enthusiasts have anonunced intention of witnessing the game. Maley has been advertised to pitch the game and no doubt will be a great drawing card.

You cannot afford to disregard the warnings of a weak and diseased heart and put off taking the prescription of the world's greatest authority on heart and nervous disorders—

If your heart palpitates, flutters, or you are short of breath, have smothering spells, pain in left side, shoulder or arm, you have heart trouble and are liable to drop dead any moment.

Major J. W. Woodcock, one of the best known oil operators in the country dropped dead from heart disease recently, at his home in Portland, Ind., while mowing his lawn.—The Press.

Mrs. M. A. Birdsall, Watkins, N. Y., whose portrait heads this advertisement, says: "I write this through gratitude for benefits I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had palpitation of the heart, severe pains under the left shoulder, and my general health was miserable. A few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me entirely.

Steubenville reports a dearth of houses to rent.

Salem will have 12 bands at the congressional convention.

The Carson pool, in Hancock county, is now producing about 1,800 barrels of oil a day.

A pistol wound received on July 4 caused the death by lockjaw of Bryant, the son of Prof. and Mrs. L. L. Tucker, of Mt. Union college.

"Gentle Annie" Costello, known in all the river towns, is in jail at Steubenville. Same old charge. She will probably be shipped out of town.

Rev. Eugene Bigler, a student of Gambier, is located in Lisbon for the summer months and will occupy the pulpit as lay reader in Trinity Episcopal church.

On July 28 the citizens of Bellaire will vote on the issue of $20,000 for the improvement of the water works system and $15,000 for furnishing and equipping the new city hall.

Rev. Asa McDaniel, who has been the pastor of the Hanoverton and New Alexander Disciple churches for four years, has accepted a call from the Central Christian church at Zanesville.

Clyde B. Kenty, of Lisbon, has been admitted to the practice of law in the state of New York. Mr. Kenty took the examination three weeks ago at Rochester. He will remain in Buffalo for the practice of law.

Walter Green, of Salineville, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days for turning on an emergency brake on an excursion train, which brake was located in the toilet room of one of the coaches.

At the convention and tournament of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Association convention at Martin's Ferry, Mayor C. E. Miller, of Toronto, was elected president, and A. C. White, of Salem, secretary.

Abram Cox, the oil leaser, of Wellsburg, W. Va., who has secured over 7,000 acres of land, is happy over his good luck. He sold 800 acres to the Standard Oil company for $1,000 per acre and one-eighth of the oil.

Attorney Lodge Riddle, of Lisbon, has expressed as his opinion that the new road law will not stand the test of a suit. The law was discussed in all its bearings at a meeting held by the farmers of Knox and West townships, at which meeting Mr. Riddle was present.

Lincoln's Hay Crop.

A story of Abraham Lincoln would have to be older than the one below to lose its characteristic savor.

In the summer of 1857 Mr. Lincoln was sitting in his office when he was visited by one of his neighbors, an excellent farmer, but one inclined to increase the size of his crops even after harvesting. He had given on this particular morning a skillfully padded account of the hay he had put in.

"I've been cutting hay, too," remarked Mr. Lincoln.

"Why, Abe, are you farming?"

"Yes."

"What you raise?"

"Just hay."

"Good crop this year?"

"Excellent."

"How many tons?"

"Well, I don't know just how many tons, Simpson, but my men stacked all they could outdoors and then stored the rest in the barn."—Youth's Companion.

Remember the Baker.

At the court of assizes in Venice, when sentence of death is about to be passed, a man clothed in a long black robe enters the court, and advancing to the bench bows profoundly to the judges, saying, "Remember the baker!" Then he bows again and retires. Here is the explanation of the custom: Three centuries ago a baker was executed at Venice for a crime of which he was not guilty. When his innocence was fully proved, the judges who condemned him invested a sum of money, the interest on which serves to keep a lamp perpetually lighted in the palace of the doges, this being called the "lamp of expiation." In addition, their fatal mistake has for 300 years been held up as a warning to their successors on the bench when they are about to inflict the extreme penalty of the law.

Didn't Notice Improvement.

An eastern senator was riding to the capitol on an F street car when a very deaf lady, who sat next to him, asked some questions about Washington and then apologized for being deaf.

"Why don't you try electricity?" sympathetically suggested the senator.

"Well," said the lady, "I was struck by lightning last summer, but I don't see that it did me any good."—Washington Post.

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire has dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

PE-RU-NA IS THE WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND,

Mrs. Jennie Rose, 362 W. Twenty-Second Street, New York City, writes: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "Peruna is a blessing to suffering women. I suffered with female trouble since I began menstruation, and every month I suffered two and three days of untold agony, and had to arrange my work and duties so as to be in bed every month for two days at least.

"My brother was cured of Bright's Disease from the use of Peruna and so I determined to try it for my trouble.

"Imagine my great joy when I found that it relieved me quite a bit the first month and I was entirely without pain during that period after having used Peruna only four months.

"This is about two years ago and all during that time I have suffered no pain. I can now come and go as I like and consider Peruna woman's best friend and wish that every suffering woman might know that she can find relief through the use of this medicine."

Truly yours,

MRS. JENNIE ROSE.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Battle Town, Ky., writes:

"When I wrote you for advice I was very bad off. When I received your letter I commenced using Peruna and it did just what you said it would. I have had a cough for about fifteen years and your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever used. I am so thankful to you for your advice to me."—Mrs. Ellen Thompson.

Mrs. James Eighmey, Grape, Mich., writes:

"I have been troubled with pain before and during my monthlies ever since I was seventeen. I was also troubled with other female weakness. I took your treatment, and am now well, and thank you for your kind advice."—Mrs. James Eighmey.

Mrs. John Meyers, Erhart, O., writes:

"I have been a sufferer from chronic catarrh for years and have thereby lost the sense of smell entirely. I had four of the best physicians in this vicinity without receiving any benefit whatever.

"Now I am once more a well woman. I find Peruna to be the best medicine in the world as it has done me more good than my physician could have done for me. My friends say I look ten years younger. I tell them that Peruna did it. I can't thank you enough for your free advice."—Mrs. John Meyers.

Mrs. Ida Baker, Portsmouth, O., writes:

"I am glad to say that I am well. I have taken Peruna and feel better than I have for ten years; have gained twelve pounds and am still gaining. When I wrote to you for advice I had given up all hope of being well again, and I feel that it has saved my life."—Mrs. Ida Baker.

Alice Scott, of Franklin, Ky., in a letter to Dr. Hartman, says:

"For seven long years I had been a constant sufferer from catarrh of the pelvic organs which resulted in displacement of the uterus. I wrote you telling you all my complaints from the beginning to the present, made happy and much encouraged every time by your kind and fatherly letters of advice and instruction. I am now a strong woman weighing 148 pounds."—Alice Scott.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Major Glenn Contended "Water Cure" Was Not Brutal.

Manila, July 12.—The courtmartial of Captain James A. Ryan, of the Fifteenth cavalry, on thechargeof unnecessary cruelty to natives, was concluded yesterday. It was believed he will be acquitted. The accused, during the day's proceedings, made a lengthy statement defending his actions, and Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth Infantry, counsel for the captain, strongly plead for his exoneration. He contended that the "water cure" was not torture and asserted that its use had saved mode American and Filipino lives than other expedients of the campaign.

The Major scored Judge Rhode for making a report that he was unable to substantiate and quoted a score of orders for the execution of guerrillas during the civil war, to justify Capt. Ryan.

CORONATION AUGUST 9.

Announcement Made That the King Is to Be Moved to the His Yacht.

London, July 12.—The following authorized statement was issued last evening:

"The king has made such excellent progress that his medical advisers believe his majesty is now strong enough to be moved from London. They feel that a change of air is very necessary at the present stage of the healing process. It is hoped that his majesty will be able to leave Buckingham palace Tuesday for the royal yacht, which is at present at Portsmouth."

It is now considered practically certain, in view of this announcement, that King Edward will be crowned Saturday, Aug. 9, since the holding of the coronation ceremony Monday, Aug. 11, would involve another full bank holiday, with the attendant dislocation of general business, while Saturdays are almost universally observed as half holidays.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. An encouraging feature of the meeting of the National Educational association at Minneapolis was the fact that the educators devoted their discussions mainly to ways and means of reforming the primary and grammar grades and left the high schools and colleges alone. The higher institutions are doing their work well in most instances. It is not their province to teach grammar, spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic. The majority of pupils never pass beyond the grammar grade. It is in the common schools that the foundation for an education is laid, and it is there that school reform should begin. It is of the highest importance therefore that instruction in those schools should be thorough. It is not possible for a child to learn much of science; but it is possible for him to gain a thorough knowledge of the rudimentary branches of education. The great number of persons otherwise fairly well educated who are sadly deficient in spelling, writing, and grammar shows that there is plenty of opportunity for missionary work along the lines of effort marked out by the educators in their convention.

Senator Foraker thought a few months ago that there was a possibility of the Democrats securing a majority in the next national house of representatives. There has since been a change in public sentiment and the possibility has vanished. The Republicans were never more united and earnest in the support of their party and of the administration than at present. The people are satisfied with existing prosperity, and have not forgotten the dark days that a Democratic congress brought upon the country less than ten years ago.

One interesting stage of the Eighteenth district congressional campaign will be passed today. This evening it will be known what support each of five announced candidates will have on the first ballot in the coming convention. If Columbiana county meets expectations, Charles S. Speaker will enter the contest with a larger number of delegates than any other aspirant and with most flattering prospects for securing the nomination.

"It is unfortunate," says the Toledo Blade, "that many Democrats are already trying to make the code bill the basis for partisan wrangling." True; but it is not surprising. The Ohio Democrats are usually engaged in a sort of politics that is unfortunate for them as well as other people.

Lord Salisbury objected to Sir Thomas Lipton's elevation to the peerage on the ground that he is "a retail tradesmen." Lipton should have started a brewery or opened a wholesale whisky house somewhere. Then there would have been no complaint.

A man appeared in Chicago the other day who said he could reform the town if they would let him. He was at once locked up as insane. Chicago reformed would not be Chicago.

Columbus is using her increased postal receipts as an argument to prove that she should have a new government building. The same argument applies in East Liverpool.

No apologies are needed, governor. The legislators will need all the help they can get before they complete their task.

Jason N. Hoffstot.

Jason N. Hoffstot, 69 years old, one of the best known merchandise brokers of Pittsburg, died at the home of his daughter in Fleming avenue, Bellevue, Thursday at 3 o'clock. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Fannie Allen, Chicago; Mrs. R. A. McCrae, Rochester, Pa.; Mrs. Robert Heinley, Allegheny, and Mrs. H. S. Gardiner, Pittsburg. Mrs. Hoffstot, who was formerly Miss Evaline Boody, and afterwards married to Mr. Devoy, both residing in East Liverpool for a number of years, and well known to many residents, died some 10 years ago and was buried in Riverview cemetery. The body of Mr. Hoffstot was brought to this city today and the funeral took place this afternoon, the remains being laid beside his wife in Riverview cemetery.

Samuel Derrington.

Samuel Derrington, aged 41 years, died at his home in Drury lane at 4:30 o'clock this morning of consumption. The funeral services will be conducted on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. Clark Crawford officiating. Mr. Derrington has been a resident of the city for about 22 years, and came here from Dresden, Eng. He worked in the local potteries as a dishmaker soon after his arrival, but of late years has been working at the trade of painter. He is survived by his wife, Amanda Derrington, and one son, William, who is employed at the China works. Mr. Derrington was a member of the First M. E. church, and was one of the best known residents of the city.

General I. H. Duval.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 12.—General Isaac Hardin Duval, a prominent civil war veteran and ex-congressman from this district, is dead. He was born in Wellsburg in 1824, served under the government in the west and commanded the first regiment that crossed the plains to California after the discovery of gold, and was successively major, colonel and brevet brigadier general of West Virginia volunteers, and participated in 36 battles and skirmishes. He was state senator, adjutant general, member of congress and United States internal revenue collector. He is survived by his wife and eight children.

SPECIAL FEATURES

To Be Inaugurated at the Services at the First Baptist Church.

The First Baptist church next Sunday will inaugurate some special features. A chorus of 15 voices will furnish music for each service, and in the evening four young ladies will act as ushers and will also take the offering.

The evening services during July will be of a special nature, mostly song services with a 15-minute address by the minister. Next Sunday evening, the subject will be "The Most Powerful Thing in Your Life."

NEW ESTABLISHMENT

In Which an Experienced Workman Will Look After the Watch Repairing.

John H. Morton, whose experience in the watch and jewelry repair business covers a period of 15 years, will open a shop at 174½ Sixth street. Mr. Morton not only thoroughly understands the jewelry business, but is a skilled workman of a high order, who has made a study of the intricacies and mechanism of his particular line. Therefore, his patrons can feel assured that any work left in his care will receive the attention of a master at the art.

He will be pleased to meet his old friends and many new ones at his new location and guarantees satisfactory work in every instance.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. S. J. Cripps, Jackson street. Owing to the absence of a number of the officers no business of any importance was transacted. The treasurer received money for a scholarship, also for the deaconess' fund. The society decided to have a picnic at the camp ground during the latter part of this month. The date has not yet been decided upon.

Meet at Leetonia Next.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

Kilnmen's local No. 9 held an interesting session in Brotherhood hall last evening. Thomas Smith, who was elected recently to the position of 1 per cent secretary, resigned, and Samuel Steel was elected to the chair to fill the unexpired term. Another resignation was that of Mike Reynolds, who was recently elected inside guard. The resignation was accepted and Robert Berger was elected to the unexpired term. These new officers were installed during the evening and besides this business a number of committees were appointed by the chair to attend to several lines of work. The attendance was very large.

While very little has been heard in the past two weeks relative to the proposed plan of consolidating several of the large local potteries, the matter has by no means dropped. It takes many weeks for gigantic deals like this to be put through, and time is everything. Inasmuch as matters have been quiet for a few weeks, that is just the time when some hard work is being done. It is reasonable to think that some inside facts concerning this deal will be ready for the public before long.

The new decorating kiln at the Thompson pottery, which has been in course of erection for the past month, has been completed, and will be used for the first time within a few weeks. The new kiln is one of the most modern in the city.

Work has been commenced upon the excavations for the new additions that are to be built to the decorating kiln department at the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. The improvements that have been decided upon for this plant will be rushed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crewson, of Sebring, formerly of this city, left for a vacation to the Thousand Islands, in the St. Lawrence river. They are accompanied by Mrs. Crewson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rigby, of this city..

Kilndrawers' local No. 17 will meet in Brotherhood hall this evening. It will be the first meeting since the new officers were installed, but there is said to be nothing but routine business to transact.

A number of buyers from Erie, Pa., and Decatur, Ill., have registered at the Thompson House during the past few days. Each left some nice business with the local manufacturers.

Work is said to have begun on the new pottery at Derry, Pa., July 1. Fifty new houses for the accommodation of workmen was to have started at the same time.

John Watson, kilnhand at the Union pottery, has accepted a position with the Vance-Faience pottery at Tiltonville, and left to assume his duties last evening.

Packers' local No. 25 met last evening in regular session, but the attendance was very small and only routine business was considered.

The erection of the new Eliete pottery at Trenton has progressed to such an extent that the first kiln will be drawn about Aug. 1.

The decorating shop of the Ford China company has been working overtime in order to keep up with the rush in that department.

The Vance-Faience pottery at Tiltonville has just completed a large addition in the shape of a ware room.

D. E. McNicol and W. L. Smith, of the D. E. McNicol Pottery company, were in Pittsburg yesterday afternoon on a business trip.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery resumed yesterday. Some repairs were made to the pug machinery during the shut down.

Twelve new ware bins are building at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery of the East Liverpool Potteries company.

A 4,000 piece cup and saucer scheme goods order will soon be placed in this city by the American Cereal company.

The Cartwright pottery will resume operation Monday morning. The plant has been idle for about two weeks.

Trenton potteries have succeeded in getting enough coal for present use by paying $9 and $10 a ton for it.

Saw the Homestead Game.

Officer Clifford Dawson returned last evening from Pittsburg and vicinity, where he visited friends for several days. On Thursday afternoon he witnessed the East Liverpool and Homestead ball game, and states that it was a great contest. He states that Godwin made one of the prettiest catches on record when he pulled down a foul fly for which he was compelled to run a long distance and then jump over an embankment.

Grocers Will Picnic.

At the last meeting of the Retail Grocers' association an invitation to the local grocers to attend a picnic to be given at Stanton park next month was read. It was decided to accept the invitation, and it is quite likely that a number will go. The picnic will be attended by grocers from the northeastern part of the state and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Business Men Organize.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—The Business Men's Protective association of Lisbon has hired a collector and hired two rooms to be used as an office and club room. A supply of papers and magazines will be kept on hand and the merchants expect to use the rooms as a meeting and loating place.

Will Celebrate Labor Day.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—The labor unions of Lisbon decided at a meeting last night to celebrate Labor Day and committees were appointed to make arrangements. They expect to have the usual number of sports and addresses.

Finishing Topographic Survey.

Van H. Manning, of the government geographical survey, is finishing the topographic work of the recent surveys of the different corps. The corps is now located at Fairview, and is working out from that town. The work on the Ohio side is nearly finished.

Ordered to Sell Lots.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—S. K. Hawkins, of Elkton, as administrator of the estate of Willam Lewis, has been ordered by the probate court to sell four lots in Elkton appraised at $620 to pay debts of the estate.

Appointed Administrator.

WELLSVILLE

Which an Italian Entrusted to a Wellsville Man's Care.

A few days ago a Wellsville Italian approached William Winn and asked him to care for a small package until called for. It was wrapped in an old newspaper. The Italian said, 'Me fraid be arrested by cops." Mr. Winn was quite busy at the time, and with his courteous assurance, laid the bundle aside.

The remark of the Italian recurred to him this morning and his curiosity got too much for him, so he concluded to examine the contents of the package. Nearly a bale of paper was unrolled from a leather pocket which was stuffed with money, there being over $800 in the wad.

He was astonished at the Italian putting the money in his trust, but did not care to be custodian of so much boodle. Winn took the money to the bank.

Success at Last Crowns the Efforts of Judge Williams.

Gas is at last being made at the gas plant at Chester. While not in any immense quantities at present, the amount is thought to be enough to prove the invention of Judge Williams, of Sewickley, a success after 15 years of effort on his part. It will take several weeks for the moisture to be dried out of the masonry of the plant, for if gas were made in large quantities at present it would be of an explosive nature. With the masonry dried, all danger of this is past.

When gas is made in large quantities at this plant, it will be burned just outside the plant from a large pipe which has been prepared for that purpose.

Judge Williams, who has been blind for two years, arrived at the plant a few days ago, and although he cannot see he can hear the necessary explosions of gas, and has the knowledge that his life's work is a success. Just a few weeks ago he suffered a preliminary operation on his eyes at a Pittsburg hospital, and has been informed that after thenext operation he will be able to read a paper without the aid of glasses.

THE CITIZENS' LEAGUE

Chester People Meet And Organize And Discuss Plans of Campaign.

The Citizens' League meeting was well attended last night. The league is growing rapidly in membership and interest. Last night it talked over plans of campaign, but nothing of a public nature.

The league effected a permanent organization, president, secretary, treasurer and executive committee being chosen.

Local Talent Engaged.

Old Camping Club Returns.

The "Katzenjammer Kids" Fishing club, 13 in number, of Monaca, are camped at Mill Creek, above Chester. They will remain for six weeks. They are thoroughly enjoying themselves, both at the camp and in the city, and speak highly of their treatment here. They have been camping annually at the same place for the past 12 years, and began when they were boys aged 12 and 13 years.

Three New Rural Routes.

P. S. Keplar, of the rural route branch of the postoffice department, has been in New Cumberland several days this week, and has gone over the three additional routes petitioned for in this county. These routes will be established upon his recommendation, but it will be the first of September before the routes are officially established, the carriers appointed and their bonds filed and approved.

Surgical Operation Required.

J. S. Johnston is visiting his son Sheldon at Sebring. About 20 years ago Mr. Johnston while employed as a brakeman on the Vandalia line, received a bad fall, injuring his left side. Lately a tumor has formed in the side, and is giving him great inconvenience. He will have an operation performed while at Sebring.

Paving Will Be Costly.

It will cost the Rock Springs Street Railway company between $7,000 and $8,000 for paving 18 feet in width of Carolina avenue from the Mark's run bridge to First street on Carolina avenue. The company, though, is fully in favor of the improvement.

Good Crops This Year.

The apple crop along the river in the vicinity of Arroyo will be large for this year. The hill district will practically have no yield at all. Browns Sons' crop will exceed 2,000 barrels. The potato crop will be the largest for many years.

Oil Operations.

Mr. Fink started a well today on his farm in the Turkeyfoot extension. The Frank Morrow well on the Morrow farm, just in, is doing two barrels per day. The Morrows will drill another right away. Robert Sutor drilled both wells.

of express goods after their arrival, charges paid. I called up the express office six successive days this week for an express package I was expecting. I got it at last, and found it had been lying in the office here all the time. Such occurrences are enough to exhaust patience. There is need of a general protest on the part of business men, to see if the public facilities cannot be brought up to date."

PLEASANT HEIGHTS LINE

Mr. Healy Thinks Satisfactory Arrangements About It Will Soon Be Made.

When asked today as to when work constructing the Pleasant Heights extension to the East Liverpool street railway would commence, L. W. Healy, general manager of the road, stated that no definite conclusions had been reached yet. He said that a meeting of the joint committees, representing council, the street railway company and the residents of the section interested might be held soon, although no date for such a conference had yet been decided upon.

At this meeting it is the opinion that matters will be arranged to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, after which Mr. Healy said the subject would possibly be brought before the attention of council again at its next session.

GRAND AUCTION SALE

WITH FREE PRIZE LOTS

The Chester Rolling Mill Company and the South Side Land Company who own 90 per cent. of the desirable property

IN CHESTER, W. VA.

THURSDAY, JULY 24,

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsylvania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also good schools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Great Sale Thursday July 24.

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

THERE is always more or less enjoyment in seeing others made happy. In case you do not see your way is clear to become a buyer get a trolley ticket and come over to the sale anyway, listen to the good music which we shall furnish. Regale yourself with the refreshments served and see your neighbor made happy in his new possessions. But after all the terms of this sale are so easy, a deposit only of $10 on each lot at time of purchase. That there is not one thrifty person in all of this section who will not become an owner of some portion of this excellent property For further information, plats, trolley tickets, &c., call at our offices.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

A Daughter Born—A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Moon, of Fourth street.

Five New Members — Peter Cooper lodge, No. 772, Royal Arcanum, intiated five new members at its last meeting.

Two Cars of Wool Purchased—Lee & Miller, the wool buyers, have purchased and are loading two cars of wool at Industry, Pa., for shipment to Wheeling.

Two Ball Games Arranged — The Elks' base ball team, recently organized, has arranged for two games with Youngstown, one in this city and one at Youngstown.

Membership Increased—The Ohio Valley Circle, No. 43, of the F. M. C., has now increased to 197 members. The ladies' circle numbers 100, and both are enjoying a high degree of prosperity.

Probationers' Meeting—The probationers' class met last evening at the M. E. parsonage. The class is composed of 30 to 40 members who will be received into full membership in about three weeks.

Rechabites' Installation—The new officers of Liberty tent, Rechabites, were installed Thursday night by Installing Officer Frank Robinson, and the ladies by Mrs. Richardson. The officers of Favorite tent will be installed tonight.

A Hay Ride—A large number of young people enjoyed a hay ride to the country last night. At the home of William Pelley, about six miles from the city, they were treated to a fine lunch, and dancing was indulged in for a few hours.

Thrown From His Wheel—While riding down Washinton street on his bicycle late last evening Harry Blair, of the West End, was thrown violently from the wheel against a curb stone. He received no injury except bruises around his right hip, and was soon able to proceed with his ride.

Railway Magnate's Visit—John B. Hoetgen, of New York, representing a number of bondholders of the East Liverpool Railway company, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Manager L. W. Healy, of that company. He made a tour over the entire lines operated by the company, and stopped here on his way west. Mr. Hoefgen is well known in this city and at one time had something to do with the management of the road.

A Dangerous Practice—Complaint is made by residents along the Horn switch of the habit of shifting crews letting cars run down the switch without a brakeman on them to look after their safety. Another car yesterday narrowly missed a citizen on West Market street, he being jerked from the track in the nick of time.

Dismissed the Case.

The case of Abrams & Stewart against Martin Brozka was dismissed by 'Squire McCarron yesterday afternoon on the grounds that the suit was improperly brought. The claim of the plaintiffs was for $17.50, which amount they alleged was due on a policy with the Liverpool & London Insurance company. The 'squire decided that the case should have been filed by the company and not its agents.

years or more ago, a man came to the Ferry to buy $1,000 worth of oil. He said he had a check for $2,000. That he would go to Pittsburg and get his check cashed. He asked the operator at which bank he did business, and was told, and went off saying he would leave $500 on deposit and would pay the other $500 when the oil was shipped. After waiting a week the buyer not appearing, the operator got impatient, for he did not want to hold the oil. Enquiries were made at the bank. It was found that the check was all right. The $2,000 had been drawn and $500 of it had been placed to the credit of the operator.

The depositor had disappeared. It was found that he had stopped at one of the hotels. His bill had been paid, his satchel was left. There were some papers in it, but nothing that would give any clue to his identity, and if he had sunk into the earth he could not have been more completely gone and was never heard from again. There was nothing left for the oil operator to do but to take the money left to his credit, which he did with the reservation of returning it to the owner if he should ever appear, which he did not.

I was surprised to find the postmaster at this place was Rev. W. F. Smith, an M. E. church preacher, now superannuated, who was stationed at Mechanicsville and Rock Creek in 1886 and at Williamsfield two years later. His wife was for many years a resident of this place and after he left the ministry they returned to make it their home. He was a soldier in the Thirteenth O. V. I. for three full years. I also met Will Crooms, who has lived here several years. He has a farm a few miles back in the country and raises vegetables for the East Liverpool market. A younger brother is with him.

The adoption of the list has had a great tendency toward bringing new members into the Brotherhood, especially in the pressers' local.

The principal question receiving the attention of the Brotherhood officials in the east is the petition of the saggermakers to break away from the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers' local and form an indepedent local of their own. The saggermakers find it is not to their advantage to be affiliated with the kilnmen, who exceed them by about 200 members. At their meetings the saggermakers claim that, being in the minority, their grievances are not considered until all matters pertaining to the kilnmen are given an airing and as a result when their business is reached the session is often nearly over, and their matters are often shelved to be considered at the next meeting under the head of unfinished business.

There are many saggermakers who have kept out of the Brotherhood principlly because of this objection. They now claim that with a separate local they can increase their membership to 125 and then be better able to get an insight on local conditions.

A special meeting of the saggermakers has been called for next Monday evening, when Vice President Hutchins will organize them into a separate local to be controlled by their own officers.

Contrary to the general belief the eastern potters played but little part in the recent controversy between the Brotherhood and the Western Manufacturing Potters' association over the reforms asked at the Trenton convention. When the strike question was agitated, circulars were sent to the eastern locals as well as to those in the west, asking for a vote on the question as to whether a strike should be declared.

The Trenton plants not being controlled by the uniform price list, the operatives did not view the question with any seriousness. The locals of this city and Elizabeth failed to vote, while the locals at Camden, where the plants are operated under conditions similar to those which prevail in the Trenton plants, were practically unanimous in voting in favor of a strike. The action of Camden local No. 50 has met with a storm of disapproval from the Trenton members who hold that the question was one for the western locals to decide and that their action should not be met with any interference from those who are not directly affected by the provisions of the uniform list.

The funeral of James P. Stephens, a leading resident of Trenton and a man prominently identified with the pottery industry, who died Tuesday morning, took place at his home on Greenwood avenue Thursday afternoon.

RIVER NEWS.

The Lorena and Virginia are due down tonight at 8 p. m.

The Kanawha, Ben Hur and Keystone State are due up tomorrow.

The river fell two feet since last night.

A fine and trim steam launch passed up the Ohio last evening in charge of Pittsburg excursionists. The craft was fully 40 feet in length, and was making about 25 miles an hour up stream.

The Virginia on her last trip south carried 250 passengers, and the crew were compelled to distribute cots about the boat to accommodate the throng.

MISS FAY LEE,
President of the Shakespearian Club, Kansas City.

Miss Fay Lee.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains". They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603½ North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

Ambulances Coursed Through the Streets Yesterday, Bearing Dead From Mine to Morgue and From Morgue to Home—Heroic Work Done by the Rescuers—Philanthropic Work Started For the Relief of the Distressed Families. Numerous Funds Being Raised Through Entertainments and Private Gifts.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—AT 11 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT: NUMBER OF KNOWN DEAD, 90. NUMBER OF INJURED IN HOSPITALS, 18. NUMBER OF INJURED WHO WENT HOME, 4.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—TWO MEMBERS OF THE RELIEF PARTY SENT HOME FOR A REST SAID UPON LEAVING THE MINE SHORTLY BEFORE 1 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING THAT 52 BODIES WERE PILED UP READY TO BE BROUGHT OUT THE FIRST THING AFTER DAYLIGHT.

THIS DID NOT MEAN THAT THIS NUMBER WAS ALL THE DEAD YET IN THE MINE, AS AT LEAST TWO DANGEROUS HEADINGS HAD YET RESISTED EFFORTS TO PENETRATE THEM.

A Day of Heroic Rescues.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Yesterday was a day of heroic rescues at the fated rolling mill mine of the Cambria Steel company. Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of 40 brave and daring fellows who went down into the bowels of the earth with a very faint hope to spur them that still they might be in time to restore to life some of those who are entombed. Death lurked everywhere around them, but, undaunted, they surged forward, swayed with the noblest of human purposes.

The reward of their efforts was the saving of the lives of 14 of their fellow men and bringing them again into the sunlight and back to loving families.

Dead and maimed bodies were located, but no effort was made to bring them out of the vast theater of death until every human energy was put forward towards seeing that no living soul might escape their aid. That done, the dead were attended to, and in train cars were brought up and exposed to morbid gaze while being transferred to wagons in which to be taken to the morgue. Eighty-seven dead bodies were recovered from the mine between daylight and nightfall. Still a party of officials and miners battled on three miles inside the mine. Occasionally word would come to the surface by some mysterious means that another heap of remains had been exposed to the vision of the searchers. There remained last night the dangerous heading in the Klondike section of the mine yet to be explored. No one knew how many more dead would be found there. The mine officials refrained from guess work on the subject.

150 Victims Low Estimate.

The impression prevailed last night among the outsiders and certain employes of the mine that 150 was a weak estimate of the casualty list.

Fated Johnstown spent yesterday horror-struck. From dawn to dusk flying ambulances coursed the streets bearing gruesome burdens from mine to morgue, from morgue to home. Great throngs surged about the pit mouth, the improvised morgue at the armory, and about the stricken homes of the dead. Bulletin boards were eagerly scanned for news from the scene of the disaster. Exaggerated rumors of all kinds prevailed. One report gained circulation that disaster had overtaken the rescuing party which entered the mine shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning. This proved one of the entertaining yarns that had its origin among the crowd at the pit mouth. Returning rescuers substantiated the denials of the report by officials.

It was difficult to picture with any degree approaching its full worth the work of rescue and the attending scenes and incidents of the day at the center of interest. How brave men went into the jaws of death in its most horrible form, encountered their fellows transformed into raving maniacs by hours of waiting in the pitch darkness of the earth's interior, lifted them moaning from their beds of fallen rock, and then bending and crawling on all fours, carrying them a quarter of a mile underground to where cars could be reached to take them outside.

Philanthropic work has been started in Johnstown for the relief of the distressed families. Numerous funds are being raised through entertainments and private gifts. Every bank is collecting subscriptions and placards soliciting them are conspicuous everywhere.

When the first rescuing party suspended work for a time at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon until conditions became more favorable for rescue work, its members succeeded in counting 87 dead bodies in the main workings of the Klondike section of the mine. A cessation of work was compelled until pure air could be driven into the gas filled headings.

Not a wink of sleep was gained by the anxious miners who escaped the awful calamity of their fellows. Mine Superintendent George P. Robinson, Engineer M. G. Moore, State Mine Inspector Evans and a host of others, volunteers among the miners, all young and sturdy, gathered at the foot of the incline leading up to the Westmont or main entry. They manned a long string of cars, which was watched by the throngs surrounding the morgue with eager interest until it disappeared in the mine.

Life In Some Bodies.

Along in the early part of the afternoon cheering word came from the innermost recesses of the mine that life yet lingered in some of the bodies found. The rescuers made first for No. 4 left heading, which they had been unable to reach the night before. Desolate even for the scene of a mine interior was the heading that stretched out before them. Falls of roof almost choked up the heading but through and over the debris the brave men pushed their way. In the front young Patrick Martin, his brother Peter, Philip White and several cousins of the Martins made their way. Suddenly in an open space they were startled by the maniac laugh which eminated from a blackened form that rushed at them out of the darkness. The man grasped firmly a pick handle and tried in his frenzy to beat down his rescuers. He was overpowered and dragged back to the main heading to the cars. Soon his passion subsided and when brought outside was as docile as could be desired.

The living men in No. 4 heading were found about 11:10 o'clock in the morning. Owing to the difficulty in getting them out over the falls of slate their rescue from the mine was deferred.

The first report that came out of the mine was that 12 men had been found in No. 4 left heading and six still retained the spark of life. Summons were sent for physicians and ambulances. Drs. Woodruff and Updegraff were soon entering the dangerous passage way to the mine.

Rescued Placed In Ambulances.

A half hour later, at 3 p. m., the train of cars came down to where the waiting ambulances stood. Eight men were lifted over the sides of the cars and, half carried, wended their way to the ambulances. They were all Poles. One big, strapping fellow among them collapsed as he reached the ambulance and doctors spent several minutes resusitating him. As the men were driven hurriedly to the Cambria hospital, the train of coal cares, with the physicians, re-entered the mine. In another half hour they came out again, this time with six living, but almost dead, miners. One man in his paroxysms had locked his jaws so that force had to be employed to pry them open for the insertion of life instilling fluids. These six were taken in an unconscious condition to the Cambria hospital. One man brought out with the crowd died just as he reached daylight.

At that time three more headings believed to be filled with the dead were unsearched. Thirty-nine were lying within reach in the main heading. These were brought out at 4:35 p. m.. Their bodies were piled high in the coal cars and covered with canvas.

These remains were in a terrible state, showing that there had been slow death in each case. One of the men had his mouth and nose tied about by a towel. The rest of his face was burned beyond recognition. The bodies of all were twisted in horrible shapes, most of the arms being crooked so as to shield the face. The only one who could be identified at the pit mouth was Fire Boss Joseph Tomlinson.

One of the volunteer rescuers who came out with this load of dead stated that fire was raging in parts of the mine, that would take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive yesterday afternoon had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning a valve on the compressed air pipe line which runs along the entry. One man was found dead with his hands clutched so tightly about a monkey wrench that it could not be removed.

GOOD NEWS PREDOMINATES.

So Dun's Review Said of Business. Unfavorable Weather at Some Points—Labor Disputes.

New York, July 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Good news predominates, although unfavorable weather proved a drawback at many points and new labor disputes arose. There is less than the customary midsummer idleness in manufacturing industries, despite the scarcity of fuel. Commodity prices are fully maintained. Railway earnings thus far available for June average 9.9 per cent larger than last year's and 20.6 per cent above those of 1900.

Statistics of pig iron production on July 1 are somewhat surprising. According to the Iron Age, the weekly output was at a new high record of 572,590 tons, notwithstanding the shortage of fuel. In steel the situation is mixed, heavy lines falling further behind orders, while a number of rod, wire and nail mills in the Pittsburg region have shut down for the usual vacation. Structural steel and railway supplies are urgently sought, so much new business being placed that activity is assured well into 1903.

In woolens the best feature is the re-order business in heavy weights, quick delivery being desired.

Corn has again been the prominent feature of the markets for domestic staples. Speculators at the west secured control of the six million bushels in the visible supply, and compelled the short interests to cover contracts at disastrously high prices. Farmers' reserves are evidently insignificant, for attractive prices do not bring out even a fair volume of receipts. Wheat was quiet and strong, and exports from all ports of the United States only 2,250,729 bushels, compared with 4,353,736 bushels a year ago.

Liabilities of commercial failures for the first week of July amounted to $1,570,358, of which $483,048 were in manufacturing, $636,416 in trading and $450,894 in other lines.

Failures for the week numbered 193 in the United States, against 208 last year, and 19 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

Opening Prices Were at Highest Average Level of Day, Friday.

New York, July 12.—Opening prices yesterday morning were at the highest average level of the day. There were striking advances afterwards, notably in Rock Island and Missouri Pacific, but these proved unavailing to sustain the general market, which sagged slowly but steadily throughout of the rest of the session. Majority of stocks closed lower than Thursday night and the declines were substantial in such stocks as New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern and others which have recently been prominent in the rise. The spurt at the opening was due especially to the encouragement felt on account of the government's monthly crop report, especially in respect to corn, which had a stimulating effect on the demand for grain carrying roads. But it became plain at once that the buying was conspicuous only in Missouri Pacific and Rock Island, which stocks are peculiarly associated with the bull leaders of the market. Atchison and the other Pacifics did not move more than a fraction at any time. The perspective of today's bank statement was the counteracting influence to the crop report. The heavy movement of currency to the interior has been subject of comment all week. The usual preliminary estimates of the regular express movement of currency to the interior indicates a balance against New York of only a little over a million dollars. But the sub-treasury operations promise to bring the decline in the cash reserves up to nearly $5,000,000. The market closed dull and easy.

BOSS OF ROYAL SHOW

DUKE OF NORFOLK'S IMPORTANCE AT THE CORONATION.

By Virtue of His Office as Earl Marshal of England He Has Control of All Details—Premier Peer of the Kingdom.

The most important man in England today, excepting of course King Edward VII. himself, is his grace the Duke of Norfolk, manager of all the details of England's coronation of her hereditary ruler. He is earl marshal of England and premier peer of the realm, and for centuries scions of the noble house to which he belongs have arranged the coronations of British rulers.

He is the man who has decided not only the width of the ermine trimming of the peers' coronation robes and the length of the trains of the peeresses' gowns, but of what materials they should be made. Even the king and queen must bow to his dictum in this regard.

The Duke of Norfolk has had the designing of every garment and ornament that will be seen in Westminster abbey during the coronation and even the prerogative of saying who shall be there and who not. The title he bears is his authority, and though it is possible there will be folk indiscreet enough to question his decisions it will avail them little. When George IV. was crowned at Westminster, the dean and chapter thereof thought themselves badly treated in the amount of space allotted to them in the abbey, and they petitioned the king to rectify the matter, but the monarch replied that what his earl marshal, one of the Duke of Norfolk's ancestors, said was law, and that settled the matter.

At present the duke certainly deserves the new title which has been conferred upon him, that of "the busiest man in London," for by nothing but the hardest sort of work could he ever hope to get through the tremendous task of arranging every last detail of the great show.

The Duke of Norfolk is the richest and most prominent Roman Catholic in England, yet he will have to stand by and hear his religion specifically denounced by the king in the coronation oath. He was an efficient postmaster general and endeared himself to the "man in the street" by resigning that position when the Transvaal war broke out and going to fight in South Africa. He didn't achieve much at the front, but that wasn't his fault.

Although he is almost as famous for his heartiness and good cheer as for his shocking taste in clothes, the greatest of English noblemen has had trouble enough to make a misanthrope of most men. He idolized his beautiful wife, who died soon after their marriage, and his only son is so ill, both in body and mind, that only the most constant care on the part of his father and one of his aunts keeps him alive.

According to well vouched for stories, the Duke of Norfolk has been mistaken on board his yacht for one of his sailors and times without number, while tramping over his broad acres, for one of his "help," but the best of all these veracious anecdotes is that which relates his grace's encounter with one of his sisters at a convent where he had gone, as requested, to distribute some prizes. The retreat was not a long way from Arundel, so the duke, "seedy" as ever, walked over and on entering the grounds was confronted by the portress. The nun, who never had seen the duke before, surveyed the shabby nobleman from head to foot and then remarked:

"My good man, you ought to know that we do not distribute relief on such a day as this."

"Quite so, sister," replied the duke, "but you do distribute prizes, and I have come to distribute them for you."

Of the "stately homes of England" the Duke of Norfolk is the possessor of one of the stateliest. Arundel castle is one of the most beautiful buildings in the kingdom. It is built around three sides of a square, on the fourth of which is a round tower or ancient keep. The great hall is situated below the keep in the inner court, and its windows command fine views of the country lying between Arundel, Chichester, Selsey, Bognor and Littlehampton.

The Norfolk town house in St. James square has an interesting history of its own. When Frederick, prince of Wales, was banished from St. James, he sought refuge with the Duke of Norfolk.

HE MET HIS MATCH.

The Squire Got a Dose of His Own Disagreeable Medicine.

Men, as a rule, are more indifferent and communicative concerning the inroads of age than women are, but the most amiable woman can generally find a pertinent remark to make when approached impertinently on this sacred theme. "Old Squire Jones doesn't speak to me now," said a gentle faced, silver haired lady, "and I don't blame him. He has excellent reasons for not wanting any conversation with me. Several months ago I was sitting in our carriage near the city library, waiting for Helen, when I saw the old squire drive up near me. He always has something unpleasant to say about how old we are all getting and what wrecks we all are, so I pretended not to see him. He came nearer, however, and accosted me.

"'Isn't that you, Mrs. Brown? How d'you do, Mrs. Brown?'

"I turned around and greeted him. 'How do you do, Squire Jones?'

"'My goodness, Mrs. Brown,' the bluff old fellow went on, 'how you have broke! I never would have known you.'

"'Why, Squire Jones,' said I, 'I was just going to say the same thing to you. I never did see a man age as fast as you have. What on earth has made you fail so rapidly? I never would have known you.'

"The poor old squire shrank down in his buggy seat and wilted. He looked half his usual size and ten years older and drove off without saying anything further. It was wicked, really, to deal the poor man such a blow, but if elderly gentlemen want to receive compliments," the silver haired lady laughingly concluded, "they must go about distributing them."—Indianapolis News.

THE RAINBOW.

Lasting Superstitions That Hang About the Arch of Promise.

"Rainbow gold" used to be the warp and woof of many a childish dream. The pot of treasure buried "where the end of the bow touches the ground" has been searched for by trusting children again and again. The present generation of childhood is so blase however, that such gentle fantasies are apt to be received with scorn.

There are many lasting superstitions connected with the arch of promise, however. In many countries the rainbow is spoken of as being a great bent pump or siphon tube, drawing water from the sea by mechanical means.

In parts of Russia, in the Don country and also in Moscow and vicinity the rainbow is known by a word which is equivalent to "the bent water pipe." In nearly all Slavonic dialects it is known by terms signifying "the cloud siphon," and in Hungary it is "the pump," "Noah's pump" or "God's pump."

In the province of Charkov, Russia, the rainbow is said to drain the wells and to prevent this many are provided with heavy, tight fitting stone platforms. In the province of Saratov the bow is said to be under the control of three angels, one of whom pumps the water, the second "feeds" the clouds and the third sends the rain.

The Malayan natives call it by the same name that they do the banded water cobra, only that they add "boba," meaning double headed, the equivalent in English being "the double headed water snake."

The Turkish children are told that if they can touch the rainbow they will at once have silver heads, eyes of ruby and teeth of gold. In Greece they say that the person so unfortunate as to stumble over the end of the rainbow will have his or her sex changed instantly.

The One Man Right.

Copernicus was at one time alone in his belief that the earth and planets revolved round the sun. Galilei was right when he asserted that the moon revolves round the earth, and so was Columbus when he asserted the possibility of sailing round the world. But in all these cases it is possible that others, unknown to fame, may have shared their beliefs.

There are two instances in which one man was absolutely right and, so far as we know, all the rest of mankind wrong. One was that of Newton, the discoverer of the principle of universal gravitation, and the other was that of John Harvey, who was absolutely alone in his conviction that the blood circulates through the veins and arteries of living animals. In this instance so universal was the disbelief that his fellow doctors nicknamed him "the quack," or "circulator," and the word survives to this day as the name of one who makes a profession of medical knowledge which he does not possess.

Justice Greater Than Charity.

The one divine work, the one ordered sacrifice, is to do justice, and it is the last we are ever inclined to do. Anything rather than that. As much charity as you choose, but no justice. "Nay," you will say, "charity is greater than justice." Yes, it is greater; it is the summit of justice; it is the temple of which justice is the foundation. But you can't have the top without the bottom; you cannot build upon charity. You must build upon justice for this main reason, that you have not at first charity to build with. It is the last reward of good work. Do justice to your brother (you can do that whether you love him or not) and you will come to love him. It is all very fine to think you can build upon charity to begin with, but you will find all you have to begin with begins at home and is essentially love of yourself.—Ruskin.

The Word "Awful."

In Mrs. Oliphant's "Life of Principal Tulloch" of St. Andrews we find Dr. Tulloch speaking of some one as "an awful Tory." Mrs. Oliphant says in a footnote:

"Lest the principal should be accused of slang, I may say that the adjective is strictly Scotch and had been employed for generations by a people fond of strong speaking before it crossed the border and gave to the youth of England a freshly energetic if inelegant word."

Freckles.

Some people are born freckled, and others have freckles thrust upon them. The former class might as well accept their freckles as a dispensation of Providence, for nothing can be done for them. The latter can always get rid of their affliction by using a couple of drams of sal ammoniac with an ounce of German cologne, the solution mixed with a pint of distilled water. Applied two or three times a day it will cure the worst case of acquired freckles on record.

Horrible Thought.

Browne—No? My, that's terrible!

Towne—Oh, I don't know. I haven't any sympathy—

Her Way of Putting It.

"It is extravagance to buy such dress lining, Mrs. Bargains."

"It was real cheap, hubby, dear. Only a dollar something a yard."

"How much is 'something?' What was the price?"

"It was $1.98."—Boston Traveler.

Quit quarreling with your neighbors, and the judges and lawyers will soon cease to run everything, as at present. —Atchison Globe.

The Story of the Ticket.

"Every ticket has its story," said a man acquainted with the pawnshops, and one of the sad little tales which he told is repeated by the Philadelphia Telegraph. It was a bitter cold day, and a mite of a boy, not over nine years old, had come in, wrapped in his overcoat. This he peeled off and deposited it upon the pawnbroker's counter.

"Give a dollar 'n' quarter?" he asked in pleading tones.

"Dollar," said the money lender.

"Oh, please give me a dollar 'n' a quarter!"

"Can't do it. Dollar."

The boy was almost crying, and he begged earnestly for the sum he asked. "I want to get my sister's coat out," he said as he laid down 8 cents as interest money. This proposition the pawnbroker accepted, and the boy went shivering into the cold with his sister's coat.

"Is your sister going to a dance tonight?" a bystander asked him.

"No, sir; mom's been sick, an' Maggie had to hock her coat for feed. She's got a job now, an' she's got to have a coat to go to work in. I don't mind the cold; I'm used to it."

Expensive.

"I've quit joking my wife about women carrying their pocket handkerchiefs in their pocketbooks," said Tenspot. "It didn't pay."

"How was that?" asked Hunker.

"She said she'd carry money in hers if she had it. Handed her out $10 on the spot."—Detroit Free Press

RULER OF THE CAPE

Importance of Lord Milner In the Recent South African War—Head and Front of Civil Government. Personality of the Man.

No one has figured more prominently in South African affairs since the outbreak of the Boer war than Lord Alfred Milner, who has been governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa since 1897. While Sir Alfred's duties have not led to the fighting line, as the head and front of the civil government he has led a strenuous life.

The responsibilities resting upon him by virtue of his position at the chief base of supplies and operations in South Africa have been very heavy and at times exceedingly trying. Yet he has discharged them all in a manner that has won for him the praise of his countrymen.

Lord Milner, who is now in his forty-ninth year, can lay no claim to blue blood, for while on his mother's side he is the grandson of a British general his father was a Dr. Charles Milner, a professor of the University of Tubingen. Young Milner was not only born in Germany, but likewise received his early training as a German boy at a German school before going to King's college, and then to Oxford, where he acquired much fame as a scholar.

After taking his degree young Milner studied law and was called to the bar in 1881. Not finding this to his liking he entered journalism and became a member of W. T. Stead's Pall Mall Gazette. He remained with the Gazette until 1885, when he entered politics.

His first essay in politics was disappointing. He stood for parliament as a Liberal and was defeated. For the next three years he was private secretary of Mr. Goshen, then chancellor of the exchequer. He was thus behind the scenes while the great operation of converting the English debt was going on and acquired a knowledge of finance that has since been of great value.

Lord Milner, on the recommendation of Mr. Goshen, entered the Egyptian service in 1889 and as undersecretary of state for finance played an important part in the development of that country. The book which he wrote on his return entitled "England In Egypt" ran through several editions and is recognized as the standard authority on the subject.

After a brief tenure of chairman of the commissioners of inland revenue Lord Milner was sent in the year of the queen's jubilee to South Africa. There his duties were larger and more important than any he had yet undertaken.

To begin with, he was and is governor of the Cape of Good Hope, constitutional sovereign of a responsible colony, bound by the fleeting policies of colonial ministers. Then, as high commissioner, he is supreme ruler of a great native population in Basutoland and the Bechuana protectorate, governing the semi-independent native chiefs by means of local commissioners. He also has supreme authority over the territory of the Chartered companies, but with no direct share in its administration. When the Boer war broke out and the two Boer republics were annexed, he was appointed their governor, still retaining that office.

When Lord Milner visited England last year, he was made much of in ministerial circles and was raised to the peerage by King Edward, taking the title of Lord Milner of Cape Town. He is described as having a sharp, thin face and as looking much older than he really is. Lord Milner is a bachelor. His salary at Cape Town is $40,000 a year besides a liberal allowance for expenses.

Lord Milner is not wealthy, and it has been said that he is without any fortune. Notwithstanding his large salary, like all English officials he regards it his duty to spend his salary and allowances in maintaining the dignity of his position.

Lord Milner is by choice a hard worker. He eschews the pursuit of pleasure except such as comes in the course of work as a dreary nuisance. He is therefore classed as a good man—"good" as our fathers used the word.

The success of Lord Milner's career is due to hard work and singleness of purpose. Wherever he has been placed he has labored to the end that what he accomplished should be done right as he viewed it.

As a ruler of South Africa he has been regarded as severe. He is first of all an imperialist, always working to extend the dominion of Great Britain. He as much as any other individual was responsible for the Boer war.

ADVISING AN ARTIST.

The Novel Suggestion That Was Contributed by Uncle Silas.

Uncle Silas Eastman and his wife took summer boarders. One year they had a number of artists, who were attracted by the picturesque loneliness of the Eastman farm, and Uncle Silas never hesitated to say afterward that artists were "beyond him."

"They make no trouble about their eating," he said to a friend when at last the boarders had taken their way to fresh fields. "You couldn't call 'em prompt, but then they never minded whether things were hot or cool. Least-ways they never found any fault.

"But they've got curious notions and mighty little faculty and common sense. One of 'em was to work on a sunset piece all the time he was here. I went out one evening and asked him how he was getting on, and he says:

"'Oh, Uncle Silas, the light changes so fast, and the effect is so hard to get, and there's only one night more.'

"He was a nice little fellow, and I felt sorry for him, so I says: 'Well, why in tunket haven't the rest of 'em took hold with ye and helped ye out? There's room enough on that canvas for all four of ye to be working together! I bet ye never thought of asking 'em, now did ye?' I says.

"And do ye believe me, I'm as sure as I'm standing here in my overshoes from the blank look that spread over his face that the idea had never come into his poor, foolish head till I put it there!

"They've got their place, artists have, but there'd ought to be a gardeen 'pointed over every one of 'em that I ever saw! Yes, sir!"—Youth's Companion.

Of Age.

Some few days ago a policeman was sent to serve a summons on a notorious poacher. This person, who lived alone and had evaded service successfully for some time, was the owner of a male goat. My friend, whom I will call Mac, went to the defendant's house, but the wily poacher, observing his approach, had fled, leaving the door unfastened. Mac saw the goat tied up in a corner, entered and solemnly read the summons to him, after which he stuck the copy on his horns. He then went home and indorsed the paper thus:

"Served by leaving a copy of this summons in defendant's residence at —, with an inmate," etc.

When proving service, Mac was asked by the magistrate:

"Was the inmate of age?"

"Your worship," said my friend, laying his hand on the middle button of his tunic, "he had a beard down to that."—London Tit-Bits.

The Theologian's Point.

A dispute recently arose at a beer table in Germany between a group of university men as to which science was the oldest.

A representative of the law declared that it was jurisprudence, for this science must have been known in paradise, seeing that Adam and Eve were evicted therefrom.

"Why," said a graduate of medicine, "medicine is certainly of older date. Just think of the operation that Adam had to submit to in order that a rib should be obtained for Eve!"

"No, no, gentlemen," retorted an electro technician, "for before anything was created God said, 'Let there be light!'"

Then came the theologian, who said, "I do not want to appear presumptuous, but I think that precedence belongs to theology, for before it was light it was—dark!"

What Causes Headache.

Exhausted and irritable conditions of the nervous system produce headaches. The cure is to restore the action of the nerves to their normal condition and give the heart a tonic. IRISH LAND TROUBLE

BIDS FAIR TO SURPASS OUTBREAK OF TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Once again Ireland is in the midst of a land war. The trouble has been brewing for some time, and Castlebar jail, in which so many Irish members of parliament have at various times spent periods of retirement, is again likely to be filled with distinguished guests.

The trouble had its beginning on the De Freyne estates, in Roscommon county, and is likely to assume even greater proportions than the violent outbreaks of twenty years ago, for the reason that the United Irish league, started in 1898, is stronger today than the Land league was in 1881.

For more than fifty years there has been more or less trouble on the De Freyne estates. There are about 10,000 tenants on this great estate. The tenants are desirous of purchasing their buildings, and Lord De Freyne, who rarely visits his property, might be glad to sell the property were it not that the tenants do not seem inclined to pay arrears of rents, which must be done, according to the land act of 1871, before it is possible to apply to the courts for purchase of the land.

Some of these arrears of rent have been accumulating for forty years or more, and the tenants say their holdings—not more than six acres on the average—are too small to enable them to pay rent. Under advice of the United Irish league most of the tenants are withholding a part at least of even the small sums they could pay, putting the money instead into the league, which holds out to them the hope of bringing the landlord to terms.

Lord De Freyne recently issued a circular to his tenants intimating that it was a case of pay up or fight, and fight it is. There have been several evictions already, and a few of the tenants have ventured to pay their rent, but they have been regarded by the others as traitors and have been given to understand by reason of boycotts and midnight raids that they need a lesson in patriotism.

Despite the activities of the police signal fires on the hills, the blowing of horns and clanging of church bells are summoning the people of the district together for secret meetings. Already the law is declared powerless. A few days ago an officer achieved the idea of serving writs on some of the tenants while the men folk were away at a fair. Although he was accompanied by six policemen, the women collected and by means of sticks and stones made it hot for the invaders, who finally had to get out.

With all this preliminary trouble one can get some idea of what will happen when 2,000 families comprising some 10,000 persons are turned out in a bunch. Coner O'Kelly, a good looking young Irish member of parliament, who, with four other members of the United league, was sent to Castlebar in December for making a speech which the government thought unlawful, is now at liberty. Speaking of the trouble at De Freyne, he said, "If bloodshed should result from throwing 10,000 people out on the roadside, there will be an outbreak in Ireland that will have serious consequences for the government of the country."

John Dillon, chairman of the Irish Nationalist party in the house of commons, also foresees serious trouble. But whatever happens he is sure to be in the thick of it. Mr. Dillon, who, it will be recalled, was recently suspended for a breach of parliamentary rules in applying the epithet "blank liar" to Joseph Chamberlain, knows how it feels to receive punishment. He was the first of the Parnellites to suffer in the famous suspension of 1881.

Mr. Dillon, by the way, is not a rude, unlettered apostle of revolution. He belongs indeed to eminently fashionable society. He married the daughter of a judge, though he himself has slept in a prison cell. He was educated at a university and is a member of the Irish Royal College of Surgeons. Mr. Dillon is about fifty years old.

One reason the coming conflict bids fair to be memorable is that for the first time since Parnell's downfall there is a united Irish party in parliament, and with the keen joy of a fight to look forward to there is no sign that it will fall apart.

A FATAL MISTAKE

Is Often Made by the Wisest of East Liverpool People.

It's a fatal mistake to neglect back ache.

Back ache is the first symptom of kidney ills.

Serious complications follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them promptly.

Don't delay until too late.

Until it becomes Diabetes—Bright's Disease.

Read what an East Liverpool citizen says:

Mrs. Mary Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney complaint in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a severe attack of rheumatism; for three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend, lean back against a chair or reach up. I could not lie on my back and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the W. & W. pharmacy, did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper states them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of backache and all other symptoms of kidney trouble.

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Men who look much older than they are never appear to such disadvantage as with the wife who keeps her matronly beauty. The secret of health and the manly vigor which goes with health is nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased there is loss of nutrition, and corresponding physical weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, which prevent nutrition, and makes men healthy and vigorous.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years, and was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "I also suffered much with constipation. I tried many different medicines which were recommended to cure the trouble but these only made me worse. I had such a weak and debilitated appearance that it seemed as if I had hardly any blood in my whole body. At last I came across an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's. I at once tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I used about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery' which brought me back to my former state of health."

BAPTIST UNION MET

Young Peoples Church Sociey Conventions Heard Addresses.

Opened Second Day's Session Yesterday—Chapman Chosen President and Other Officers Selected. Speeches on Different Subjects.

Providence, R. I., July 12.—The Baptist Young People's union convention began its second day here yesterday with prayer meetings in the First Baptist church, where Rev. E. P. Tuller, of Detroit, Mich., spoke upon a "Call to Battle," and in Infantry hall, where Rev. Walter Calley, of Boston, addressed a great audience upon "The Girdle of Consecration."

The order of exercises was taken up at 9:30 o'clock with "the open parliament," led by President E. W. Hunt, D. D.

The nominating committee presented at 10:30 a list of officers for the coming year, all of whom were elected, as follows:

President, John H. Chapman, Illinois; vice president, George Miller, Maryland; second vice president, Thomas Trotter, D. D., Nova Scotia; third vice president, Samuel Seymour, Pennsylvania; recording secretary, H. W. Reid, Illinois; treasurer, H. B. Osgood, Chicago; members of the board of managers, Ira M. Pierce, D. D., H. W. Reid, J. W. Low, C. S. Burton, H. F. Perry, D. D., W. H. Geiswert, D. D., E. W. Hunt, D. D., George T. Webb and M. L. Britton.

The board of managers and state officials met at 4 o'clock for the transaction of business pertaining to the order. The five conferences begun Thursday were continued late yesterday afternoon under the supervision of Prof. F. L. Anderson, Newton Centre, Mass.; Rev. H. F. Perry, D. D., Chicago; Prof. J. M. Stiffler, D. D., Chester, Pa.; Rev. J. W. Weddell, D. D, Davenport, Ia., and Miss L. E. Pushnell, Chicago.

The evening meetings were conducted simultaneously in Infantry hall and in the First Baptist church. In connection with the presentation of the senior all around banner, Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D., of Kansas City, Mo., spoke in the former place upon "God's Estimate of His Works," while Rev. Thomas Anderson, of Omaha, Neb., spoke upon the same subject in the church.

NO PROSELYTING IN SCHOOLS.

Wright So Declared as to Charges Made In Catholic Times, Regarding Philippines.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Root has addressed an identical letter to persons complaining that teachers in the Philippines have been proselyting and attempting to convert Catholics to the Protestant faith. It says in part:

"The following dispatch has now been received from Governor Wright:

'Secretary of War, Washington:

"'Referring to telegram from your office of 6th inst., charges made by Catholic Times unfounded in every essential particular. Untrue that nearly all American teachers are Protestant preachers and proselyters. The fact is one division superintendent was preaching in the United States a short time, then became teacher. Possibly two or three similar instances among teachers. Bryan, head of normal school, was never clergyman and never occupied a pulpit here or anywhere. There are now two American Catholic teachers in school of instruction (Normal school) and five in Manila city schools. Native teachers in city numbering 140, all Catholic. Untrue that teachers of normal schools are proselyting and that school graduates only Protestants. Exceptional that any graduate is other than Catholic. Untrue that Filipino is taught that Protestantism brings enlightenment and Catholicism ignorance and tyranny. No reason to suppose that Stone, superintendent, and Oliver, principal, Manila, bigoted or anti-Catholic. Both deny it, as also the statement that graduates of Catholic university have been refused place in Manila and sent into the wilderness. Private secretary of Commissioner Moses, Catholic, also private secretary of Atkinson, general superintendent of public instruction, also three division superintendents. Have shown your cable to Rev. William D. McKinnon, Catholic priest, a member of the advisory board, general instruction, who confirms the statement of facts made by the above. Law to inaugurate public school system forbids religious instruction in schools or school buildings by teachers, but allows same three days a week in school buildings, by priest or preacher, out of school hours, upon request of parents (see section 16, act 74). This intended as concession to Catholic sentiment. There are about 3,400 native teachers employed in the islands, all of whom are Catholics. Teachers selected without reference to religion and not allowed to preach or teach religion in schools. No discrimination against Catholic teachers.

CORONATION SOUVENIRS.

London Dealers Prepared to Capture the American Dollar.

Americans who attend the coronation of King Edward will find a splendid opportunity to gratify their taste for souvenirs. London jewelers, badge-makers and that ilk have prepared innumerable articles, costly and cheap, to commemorate the event. There are busts and pins and buttons galore in the cheaper variety, and for those who want to expend more there are costly articles in precious metals and jewels up to fabulous amounts.

remembered, and souvenirs will be treasured by generations to come. Among the more costly articles shown in London are many medallion portraits, some of the king, some of the queen and others of the two together, these with a ring at the top and some set around with jewels.

A pair of cuff links are in the form of oval buttons, a big C outlining one and in the center the remainder of the word "coronation," while on the other button are the intwined letters "E. R.," with a tiny "VII." between them.

A pretty brooch of diamonds, olivines and rubies has the figures "1902" intwined and surmounted with a crown. One other small brooch has the letters "E. R." joined by a crown and surmounted by the "VII.," and one "1902" pin has the date on a bar of gold surmounted by a crown, and another, a crown from which rays of gold ascend, has the date across the broadest part of the rays.

A diamond and enamel bar brooch has a crown in the center, a shamrock and thistle finishing the two ends of the bar and joined by a spray of green leaves in the rose of England below.

Perhaps the souvenirs that will appeal to the Americans abroad will be the coronation spoons. These are in great variety and are comparatively inexpensive. They are shown in many styles. Some of the handsomest have Westminster abbey in the bowl.

Smaller spoons with heart shaped bowls are differently finished. One has the coat of arms of Great Britain in the bowl, the letters "E. R." surmounted by a crown and with date at the top of the handle. Another has nothing in the bowl, but a head of the king on the top of the handle.

MR. HACKETT'S FIND.

Young Texas Actress Who Scored a Success In "The Crisis."

One of the most charming young actresses who have recently achieved successes before the footlights is Miss Charlotte Walker, who scored a hit in the role of Virginia Carvel in "The Crisis."

Miss Walker was discovered by James K. Hackett, who has made quite a record in bringing out leading ladies.

MISS CHARLOTTE WALKER.

Miss Walker is a Texas girl, who until last fall had only been seen in small parts in light comedy.

During the past season she played in "Don Cæsar's Return" and also appeared in "The Gentleman of France" with Kyrle Bellew, in neither of which plays she had a chance to show her quality.

When Miss Walker was given the role of the southern heroine of "The Crisis" by Mr. Hackett, she at once vindicated the faith he had in her ability, scoring a pronounced success.

NOTABLE MAN HUNTS

HOW CRIMINALS HAVE BEEN CHASED TO ENDS OF EARTH.

Benson, Who Posed as Mme. Patti Agent, Cheated Justice by Death Relentless Energy of the Police In Tracking Counterfeiters.

There have been many long pursuits of criminals, great in the distance traveled, the obstacles overcome and the persistence of the pursuing officers, but that of Sergeant Wood of the Natal (South Africa) police is doubtless a record breaker. The man sought by Sergeant Wood was charged with embezzling large sums of money at Pietermaritzburg. He got away from South Africa and went to New York. Although the detective had information as to where his quarry was hiding, yet he had first to visit London to obtain the necessary extradition papers. Then he hurried to America and with the assistance of the United States police ran down his man. By the time he had reached Maritzburg he had been traveling hard for nearly three months and had covered nearly 21,000 miles.

One of the sternest chases of recent years was after Loys Darrell, formerly sergeant in the Seventh United States cavalry. Darrell enlisted at the beginning of the Spanish-American war and distinguished himself at Cuba. There he fell in love with a pretty Spanish girl and beggared himself in buying finery for his sweetheart. To obtain more money he robbed and murdered a companion in arms named Crouch. He then fled.

A detective named Dupuy was put upon the murderer's track and, finding a clew, started for New Orleans. He was right in his surmise that Darrell had gone there, but when he arrived the bird had flown. He had left on a British mule transport for South Africa. Dupuy took train for New York, fast boat for Southampton, rushed by rail across Europe, caught a boat of the German East African line and finally arrived at Beira, in Portuguese East Africa.

There he waited like a spider for a fly, and just as Darrell was fancying himself safe from pursuit he pounced upon him. Later on the detective deposited his prisoner safely in Castle William jail in New York. He had traveled in all 31,000 miles and spent $4,250 in the chase.

One of the most astonishing criminals England ever produced was a man named Benson, who began operations in London with two confederates. He organized a series of swindling companies in the city, while he himself, pretending to be an invalid, lived in the greatest luxury in the Isle of Wight. He posed as a great philanthropist, was foremost in charitable works and went into the very best society. By dint of bribing certain officers of the law he lived for some years on the proceeds of his swindles. But one day the crash came. He was arrested, sentenced and got a long term in Portsmouth jail.

No sooner was he out than he was at his old tricks again. These culminated in Switzerland, where he managed to gain the affections of the daughter of an English officer. Through her he induced her father to trust him with the investment of his entire capital, some $35,000. He bolted with the money. Chased across Europe, a detective caught him at Bremen. To avoid scandal the victim promised not to prosecute if Benson would give up the money. The latter did so and left for America. Hardly was the vessel out of sight before it was discovered that the bundle of scrip the thief had handed over was worth at most $160.

Followed across the Atlantic, Benson escaped to Mexico, where he made £5,000 by passing himself off as Mme. Patti's agent and selling forged concert tickets. By this time his photograph was in almost ever police bureau in the world. Yet he dodged and twisted under a dozen aliases and was heard of in almost every South American state before a clever New York detective ran him down in Rio after a two years' hunt.

Even then he cheated justice. Landed in prison in New York, he walked upstairs, chatting amiably to his jailer. Suddenly he made a spring and jumped clean over the banister. He was picked up with a broken back and died that night.

The police never exhibit more relentless energy than in hunting down a coiner. A coiner's crime is against government, and so the whole forces of the state are against him. The United States suffers far more from coiners than England does and is proportionately keen to run down such offenders. Early in 1900 a man named Hastings was surprised in his workshop, from which he had issued many thousands of small silver coins, but he was too quick for his would be captors and escaped. No fewer than seven secret service men were put on his track. The remarkable fact is that Hastings never attempted to leave the states.

Elifer, one of the detectives, got a hint that a stranger was in the woods. He took a blanket and some food and hid himself in a thicket. Very early in the morning Hastings passed, carrying a bag of food. Elifer tracked him to his refuge and saw that the forger was armed. He waited some distance away in hiding. When night came, Hastings came out with a dark lantern and searched every bush near his hiding place. At last he was satisfied and went back. So soon as Elifer felt sure the man was asleep he crept up and had the handcuffs on him before he could awake. On the way to the jail Hastings told his captor that he had seen him on ten different occasions and had once, in Cincinnati, been within three feet of him in a theater.—Chicago Chronicle.

PROJECTED NEW CAR LINE HAS NOT BEEN GIVEN UP

W. L. Thompson Says a Railway Will Be Built to the Park If He Has to Do It Himself.

HE THINKS THE OPPOSITION WILL DIE OUT.

There is every prospect that within the next year the residents of this city can ride to Thompson park over a new street railway.

"The majority of those persons opposed to the construction of the proposed railway from the city up Pennsylvania avenue to the boulevard," said W. L. Thompson this afternoon, "I believe will be the strongest supporters of the scheme as soon as they weigh the matter carefully."

Continuing Mr. Thompson said: "The matter of building this road immediately has been dropped, but it will be taken up again very soon. A street railway has a tendency to increase the value of any territory through which it is run, and if in other cities why not in East Liverpool? People in Pittsburg along the principal street of the city, Fifth avenue, did not object to a good street railway service. It had a tendency to increase business in the lower part of the city, and in the outskirts it increased the value of residence properties. The same can be done in this city, and the fact has been proven."

When asked if he would begin work on this line soon, Mr. Thompson did not care to express himself on the matter, but from the way he talked one was led to believe that an additional road would be built in the territory designated. In fact, the gentleman said that a road would be built to the park if he had to build it himself.

The remark was quite a broad one, and it is known that when Mr. Thompson makes up his mind to make an improvement, it is generally made. As to to the route that will be traversed by the road nothing definite can be learned, as all matters concerning it are yet in embryo.

It is known that Mr. Healy, of the East Liverpool railway company, has the privilege to construct an extension to the Calcutta road branch from its present terminus at Thompson park, through to the East End, but when work on this extension is to be commenced cannot be learned. This company has a large amount of work on its hands just at present, and the opinion of many is that the road via the boulevard to the East End will be begun before fall.

SAGGER MAKERS FORM NEW LOCAL

They Are Reported at Loggerheads With Trenton Kilnmen Just Now.

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., July 11.—The installation of a uniform price list in the sanitary potteries, which went into effect last Monday, marks a new epoch in the history of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in this city.

Directly upon the success of the Brotherhood, comes the news of dissension in the ranks of the local assembly of the K. of L., prompted by the refusal of the Trenton Manufacturing Potters' association to adopt the uniform price list which they presented last April.

The Knights of Labor are composed principally of insurgent jiggermen, who withdrew from the organization after its first attempt to install the uniform list in the general ware plants of the east.

William Clayton, who was the controlling influence of the Knights of Labor, has withdrawn from that organization, and is using his oratorical powers in advocating the belief of the Seventh Day Adventists.

Albert Craat, who along with Clayton was one of the organizers of the jiggermen, has left the organization and is now foreman of the pressing shop of the Mercer pottery.

For more than a year past the Knights of Labor have been advertising their fast increasing membership, which, as now seen, was simply a movement to secure members from the Brotherhood. A mixed local was formed, comprising jiggermen, kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, numbering in all only about 125 members.

The organization last April created considerable surprise by advocating the adoption of a uniform price list for general ware plants which was submitted to the manufacturers for approval. The list compiled by the insurgents was pigeon holed, and nothing more has been heard of it, save the many attempts of the Knights of Labor to secure a conference.

The adoption of the sanitary list virtually goes to show that the Brotherhood has been recognized by the manufacturers as the controlling body among the potters. The success which the Brotherhood has attained in the west in settling local disputes has appealed to the manufacturers, who have consented to treat with the Brotherhood officials in the future.

The new sanitary list affects about 1,200 clay workers, who are distributed among the plants located in the following cities: Kokomo, Wheeling, Tiffin, New Castle, Camden, Elizabeth and Trenton.

The list provides for a general increase averaging from 8 to 10 per cent, and a more uniform rate to be paid in the manufacture of specialties.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY LEADS IN B. & L. ASSETS.

This City Has $1,348,452 in Such Associations—Its People Believe in Co-Operation.

John J. Purinton, secretary of the Potters' Building & Savings company, is preparing a paper on "The Conditions of the Building & Loan Associations of Eastern Ohio," which is to be read at the annual meeting at Put-in-Bay this year. He says that Columbiana county leads all the eastern counties both in the number of building and loan associations, number of members and amount of money deposited with them. Columbiana county having $2,413,788.88 of assets. Of this amount the East Liverpool associations have $1,348,452.07.

There is no city in the state of Ohio outside of Dayton that makes as good per capita a showing as this. And when we remember that this money and these associations are the property of 5,000 stockholders and not the property of 40 or 50 moneyed men, we more fully appreciate the substantial character of our city and citizens, and the high standing and regard in which the building and loans are held by the laboring class.

A CROWD SOON COLLECTED

A goose-pasturing without precedent in this city occurred last night in the Smoky row district. It was witnessed by scores of people and they are all suffering today from hearty and side-bursting fits of laughter forced upon them by the unusually comic accompaniments to the joke. The name of the victim is known, but by his earnest request it is withheld. He came to the city some time ago and has been regularly employed by a plastering firm.

It seems that since coming to the city he has been unable to find a young lady friend of the sort he desired. He confided to another young man at the Washington house, who promised to help him out. He promised an introduction to a most attractive young woman and promised to arrange for a meeting. Then he called his friends together and the plans for the joke were laid.

Returning to the plasterer, the joker invited him to follow. He followed and was led up the street to a dark corner. Both stood there a few minutes, waiting for the lady. The plasterer was struck dumb by the appearance of another man backed by a dozen friends. A revolver was suddenly thrust in his face and the new comer said: "I've got you now. You are the man that has been after my wife for months."

Before giving the victim a chance to reply the pistol, loaded with blank cartridges, was fired several times. The hotel man made it strong by failing with loud moans to the pavement. The scene that followed beats anything on record. The poor fellow, scared almost to death, started on a wild run up the street with the gang after him firing their pistols at every stride. Reaching the C. & P. freight yards he sank to the ground and moaned, almost inaudibly. "Please don't shoot me. I never did any wrong in my life."

His appeals came to naught. The crowd by this time had increased to over 200, many being attracted from neighboring streets, made a rush on the unlucky chap, and after a dozen or more volleys were fired at him he once more took to his heels. The last seen of him was far up the railroad track, disappearing around the end of a box car.

A THIRD TRACK

From Rochester to Wellsville Among Proposed C. & P. Improvements.

The Cleveland & Pittsburg Railroad company proposes to make more improvements about this city than the general public has anticipated. The laying of a double track is not all. It is said the purpose of the company is to build a third track from Rochester to Wellsville, and from that point to Bellaire there will be two tracks. In this city surveyors are now at work making a survey for the third track. Under the old survey for two tracks, the new track would be run along the line of the fence at the Hotel Lake property. That this need not be done the new survey has been ordered.

The matter of securing additional property about this city, it is said, has slackened somewhat, but the original intention of the company is not dropped.

Did Not Interfere.

John Monsey, foreman of the East End sewer pipe works, denies that he interfered in the arrest of Gould, an employe of the works by a colored constable from Wellsville. Mr. Monsey asked the constable to defer making the arrest until evening in order not to delay the work of the plant. The colored official threatened Mr. Monsey with arrest, and he ordered him from the premises. This ended the incident.

Raised the Quarantine.

A DISAPPEARANCE AT SMITH'S FERRY

One of the Traditions of the Town Which Recalls the Oil Excitement.

EDITOR J. A. HOWELL'S PEN

Interesting Features of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania Suburb. Charming Spot For an Outing—Tale of Ohio River Floods.

J. A. Howells, editor of the Ashtabula Sentinel, has been spending his vacation at Smith's Ferry. Mr. Howells is a brother of the novelist, W. D. Howells, and like him wields a facile pen. In a letter to his paper, he writes thus of East Liverpool's Pennsylvania suburb:

This is a charming spot for a summer outing. A mile below is the line which divides Pennsylvania from Ohio and West Virginia. In front of the hotel is a country road and then a locust grove on the brink of the river. At the back of the hotel is a counry road and the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad, and then the hills rise abruptly 200 or 300 feet, clothed to the very top with trees and bushes. We are told that the view from the top of the hill gives a magnificent stretch of the Ohio and country and for miles up and down the river. We will believe it without trying to prove it by climbing up the hill.

In the grove are two stones, three feet high and 6x10 inches square; between them is a smaller one on which there is a meridian mark. A short time since a party of government surveyors came along and erected a frame work over it which looks like a hen coop made to keep ostriches in. It is made of odds and ends of drift wood but to give it some dignity, a notice printed on cloth is tacked on it which reads: "United States Geological survey. $250 fine for molesting this signal. $25 reward to informer."

We are kept busy watching the river and a little ferry boat plies across the river at this place. It is very interesting to see the little boat going back and forth. It is propelled by the force of the current.

Just now nothing could be more charming and restful than a stay on the banks of the la Belle river—Ohio. The water is up to the banks and the banks are green to the water's edge. As we look across the river from our shady grove, we see on the bank a dozes large houses in generous yards which face the river, and occupy a mile frontage. A half mile back, hills rise off the bottom to the height of one or two hundred feet, their sides and tops covered with forest, wheat oats, corn and orchards. The varying colors from deep green to golden grain gives a picture which can never be tiresome, especially at this time when the monotony—if there can be a monotony in a broad river—is broken every hour or two by a passing steamer. Later, say in August and September, when the river has run down to a third of its present width, and the boats have ceased to run, then that part of the interest in the river is gone.

The dwellers on the banks of the Ohio have their troubles as well as their joys. There are few places along the river, where the people live on the "first bank," that they are not liable to be driven out of their houses by high water. The hotel where we are stopping was built in 1835. Its occupants have been driven into the second story probably a dozen times since it was built, and in 1884, the water was four feet deep all over the first floors; in March of the present year the water was within two feet of the first floor. The merchant next door had to move everything out of the basement of his store, and the water was within six inches of the floor. After being drowned out there is a bad time for the "women folks," as the flood leaves a thick coat of mud, and the damp floors make a mess of everything.

Thirty years ago the oil boom was on at this place. Smith's Ferry became at once an important point. Many flowing wells were struck and speculation was rampant. People came to buy territory and to buy oil. At this time there is one well which for all these years has given a small but steady yield, and furnishes a good monthly revene to its fortunate owner.

One of the oldest residents related to us this incident. Some thirty

SECRET SERVICE MAN

IN THIS CITY LOOKING AFTER COUNTERFEIT COIN.

A Large Amount of It Is Now Reported In Circulation Here.

Circulation of spurious coin in the city has given rise to the filing of numerous complaints at police headquarters during the past week. Although it is said that the counterfeit is in some cases of large denomination the greater number detected consists of dimes. The street car companies are probably suffering the heaviest of any, but the merchants are close seconds.

A secret service man is in the city and doing all possible to run down the circulators. It is the general opinion that those doing the work are strangers and a close watch is being kept on suspicious looking men.

A GILT-EDGE CAMP

Quarters of East Liverpool Boys at Port Huron Interestingly Described.

The Resorter, published at Port Huron, Mich., has the following in its last issue about the Gilt Edge Camping club of this city:

"The Gilt Edge Camping club, 27 strong, is now camping below LaSalle Beach. The young men are from East Liverpool, O., a section where the hot weather drives its inhabitants to a cooler clime, and they seek here along the shore of the lake recreation and comfort for a short period of three weeks. The club is a new one, this being its first year's camp, but the boys intend enjoying themselves just as if they were old timers.

"Their outfit consists of a dining tent, cooking tent and two sleeping tents, one of the latter holding 24 men. They have gasoline torches to illuminate their quarters and large banners have been put up to let the people know who they are. Two large American flags have also been raised in front of their camp. The club arrived Saturday by boat and expects to stay here for three weeks."

Incorporation Papers Filed for Another Projected Electric Railway.

Columbus, July 12.—(Special.)—The Youngstown & Southeastern Electric Railway company was incorporated at the office of the secretary of state late Friday afternoon. The new concern starts out with a capitalization of $50,000. It is proposed in the articles of incorporation to construct a line of electric railway from Youngstown to Poland. There are three points further west which it is understood are to be reached later on, but articles will have to be amended. This may be done at any time the company sees fit to do so.

The incorporators are H. E. Hamilton, Thomas E. Connell, E. H. Moore, Gordon Cook and James F. McNally.

HORSE FELL ON STREET

Dr. Ogden And Mayor Davidson Thrown Out And the Latter Bruised.

Mayor Davidson and Dr. C. B. Ogden narrowly escaped serious injury this morning while taking a pleasure drive in the latter's buggy. They were on Market street and were turning at the corner of Third street, when the horse very suddenly and unexpectedly fell, throwing the occupants to the pavement.

Dr. Ogden was not hurt in the least, but the mayor sustained bruises on his face and right leg which, although not serious, will cause him considerable pain for a few days. The horse in falling sprained its forelegs and was badly shaken up.

Improvement Hoped For When Postal Telegraph Co. Takes Hold.

UP-TOWN OFFICES NEEDED.

Information said to be authentic comes from Pittsburg to the effect that the Postal Telegraph company will succeed to the Western Union company's telegraph business on the C. & P. some time next fall.

The change is one that will be welcomed by the business men of East Liverpool, for as one of them remarked today, the telegraphic service could not well be worse, and the chances are greatly in favor of a change for the better when the other company takes hold.

"The thing most needed here," said a prominent business man today, "is an uptown telegraph office. Next to that is needed an office that shall be open all night. There are towns with half of East Liverpool's population that have both these facilities, because there is some competition in the telegraph business, some desire to get business and to oblige the public. East Liverpool is placed on a par with Industry and Smith's Ferry, with a telegraph office at the railroad station and nowhere else.

"The messenger service here is abominable and if a man wants to send a telegram in a hurry he must send it or carry it down to the depot. Even when he gets there, there is no assurance that it will be sent until a batch of railroad company's business is disposed of. I have known telegrams filed early in the evening to be so late in reaching their destination that they could not be delivered that night. Frequently it is the case that a telegram filed in some distant city the evening before is not received in East Liverpool until the next morning, simply because East Liverpool was too busy to take it up to midnight, the time of closing.

"This is very annoying, especially when the message relates to important matters, and business men seldom telegraph unless the message is important.

"No blame for this condition of affairs attaches to the company employes in this city. They do the best they can with the facilities afforded them; but the facilities, instead of being those to which a third-class city is entitled, are those ordinarily accorded to third-rate country villages.

"Protesting does no good. Scores of business men have protested until they got tired; the service gets worse instead of better. The best we can hope for is a change for the better when the Postal company takes hold here. The business done will be immensely increased if a telegraph office is established uptown, the number of operators and messengers added to and the office kept open all night. It is scarcely likely that the Western Union will go out of business altogether along the C. & P., and rival telegraph offices may be the result. Everybody will rejoice to see the Western Union's monopoly ended.

"Another matter," continued the gentleman, "which everybody would be glad to see remedied, is the Adams Express business in this city. That company, like the telegraph company, has its office in the most inconvenient and least accessible quarter of the town. That is not all. It seems neither to desire business nor to care for what business it has. I have known, in the past few days, several instances in which packages have lain in the express office two to three weeks, although the addressee's names were in the city directory and in the telephone books, and no effort whatever was made to notify them. In other cities it is customary at least to put a postal card in the postoffice in such cases. But the Adams Express company, having a monopoly, evidently thinks it useless to waste postal cards in East Liverpool.

"Nobody does business with the Adams Express company if he can help it, but in East Liverpool there is no help. There is certainly need that steps be taken to secure the delivery

East End Boys Making Use of a Tent Taken from Show People.

Because they were unable to collect all the compensation due them from a company that had something to do with the recent turnfest at Columbian park, "Bones," Whalen and "Brigham" Young, well known young men of the East End, took a large tent instead. This they have erected on a spacious lot in Calhoun's addition, and each evening there are dacning, acrobatic feats and singing, all for nothing.

The boys have named their new venture the Calhoun Song and Dance hall, and as the admission is free large crowds spend a few hours under the tent in the evenings. The boys give a creditable performance.

Beautiful Flower Beds.

Motorman Gus Brandenburg, who resides on Railroad street near Ralston crossing, and whose property faces the street railway, takes pleasure in arrasging various beds of flowers in his yard, and this year it seems he has done better than in past seasons. After Brandenberg has finished his run on the East Liverpool street railway he is soon found working about his flowers, and every bit of work he does seems to add to the beauty of the place. The arrangement of the various flower beds is most artistic.

Stone Throwing Must Cease.

Throwing stones, just for the fun of the sport is liable to get some youngsters into serious trouble if the practice is not stopped. John Baker, a small boy, making his home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Chafin, has probably found this out by this time. J. Friley has asked Officer Fisher to read the city ordinance to the boy relative to promiscuous throwing of stones. A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friley was struck on the arm by one of the stones and this morning the arm is quite sore.

Communion Tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Dean, of Salineville, who has been assisting Rev. D. W. McQuiston in the series of special meetings at the Second U. P. church, left this morning for his home in Salineville. It was thought that he would be able to assist at the regular communion service at this church tomorrow morning, but arrangements for this end could not be satisfactorily made.

Best Wheat Crop For Years.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

When James Miles went to his work at the new plant of the Laughlin company this morning his face was wreated in smiles, for a little son came to their home last evening.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pollock, who was reported as being critically ill yesterday, was greatly improved this morning, and it is now said that she is out of danger.

Alex Chafin has commenced to demolish a warehouse that he built on Erie street overlooking the engine room of the East End sewer pipe works. This building will be removed to the bottom, upon which the several East End potteries are built.

COUNTERFEIT STAMPS

Offered to Postmasters—New Sort of Green Goods Game.

A new swindling game has been sprung in the green goods line, and it is said is being worked with grea success. The dupes are third and fourth class postmasters. Up to date nearly a thousand have fallen victims to the game and each has lost between $500 and $1,000.

Counterfeit stamps are offered, manufactured from understroyed plates of the government — undistinguishable from the genuine. When the indiscreet postmaster reaches the swindler's rendezvous, games of substitution are worked and the victim retires from the place a heavy loser and subject to a heavy penalty. The swindling gang it is said, is working toward Ohio from New York.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility.

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

Bridal Couple Seranaded.

A pary of some 30 or 40 young people Thursday evening made the fact very generally known by their serenading that one of East Liverpool's well known business men has just returned from his wedddding trip. The gentleman is Edgar P. McHenry, the well known carpenter, and his bride, lately Miss Rebecca E. Williams, of Scranton, Pa. The wedding took place June 25, after which a tour of Detroit, Niaga Falls and other northern resorts was made.

An English King's Death.

William Rufus was killed by an arrow, either accidental or with murderous intent. He died in the New forest, his body was stripped by tramps and the next day was found by a charcoal burner, who placed the naked corpse on his cart, hoping to receive a reward. On the way to Winchester the cart was upset, and the king's body fell in the mire. Covered with filth and black with charcoal, it arrived in Winchester, where it was buried in the cathedral. A few years later the tower fell and crushed the tomb, and 600 years after the Puritans rifled the grave and played football with the king's skull.

Cruikshank's "Fagin."

HIS WIFE'S TRIUMPH.

A Memento That Was Inspiring to John Richard Green.

It has been the fate of many men of letters to have ill health bearing them down as they struggled on toward literary achievements. Thus beset in recent times were Stevenson, Richard Jeffries and J. R. Green. Each of these, it happened, had a high hearted wife to keep him up, even to help him with the actual labor of writing. "The Life and Letters of J. R. Green" show forth a great and sweet man. They show, too, a wife whose sympathy and fortitude helped to make his accomplishment possible.

In copying the vast amount of manuscript of her husband's books Mrs. Green contracted writer's cramp and was forced to stop using her right hand. This looked like a final obstacle in the way of the invalid, who did much of his thinking in bed and could not write himself. But Mrs. Green set to work at once learning to write with her left hand.

One of her first practice pages, which she was about to destroy with the rest, her husband took quietly and put in his pocket. Years afterward, when ill health seemed unbearable and in discouragement he felt that he could not work, he used to take out that piece of paper, a living record of his wife's triumph over difficulty. When he saw the painful, patient strokes by which Mrs. Green had learned to write with her left hand, he could work on with something near to inspiration.

Sausages Made While You Wait.

The man who ruined a sausage maker's trade by walking into his shop with a sackful of dead cats and dumping the contents down on the counter now finds a rival—albeit an unintentional one—in the person of a London waiter. The latter worthy, being asked by a customer for sausages, replied that there was none left; but, being of an obliging disposition, he went on to say that if the gentleman did not mind waiting for a few minutes some should be obtained for him—meaning, of course, that they should be sent out for. The customer having signified his willingness to wait, the waiter proceeded to the culinary department to give the necessary instructions, but on arriving there he had the misfortune to step on the tail of a dog which belonged to one of the kitchen attendants. The injured animal immediately let out a series of agonized yelps, whereupon the customer, being evidently a man of imaginative mind, turned pale and left the restaurant hurriedly.—Pearson's.

Trousers In College.

As late as 1812 students in Trinity and St. John's colleges, Cambridge, were prohibited from wearing pantaloons, or trousers, in chapel. Oxford men had already fought for and won the right to wear trousers. These were first allowed in Oxford in 1810, when Rigaud was proctor, and his relaxation of discipline gave great offense to the dons. On Nov. 20, 1815, William Phelps, scholar of Corpus and afterward archdeacon of Carlisle, writes, "I have been invited once to the bachelors' common room, where I found all wore black pantaloons and stockings and white waistcoats." Evidently the discovery caused him some surprise or he would not have thought it worthy of record. Dean Burgon relates in his "Lives of Twelve Great Men" that as late as 1847 the Rev. Edward Miles Rudd as senior fellow of Oriel used to appear at the college "gaudy" in black shorts.

So Thoughtful of Her.

Young Husband (picking up bundle from table)—What have you here, love? Something for me?

Young Wife—Yes, dear. I went downtown this morning expressly to buy them for you. I hope you'll like them.

Young Husband—Like them? Of course I'll like them if you bought them. But what are they?

Young Wife—They're nightcaps, dear. I heard you tell Sparkles this morning that you'd go down to the club this evening with him and wet a nightcap, and I made up my mind right away that I'd save you that trouble by seeing that you had some in the house. Just open the parcel and try them on, won't you, love?—Exchange.

MITCHELL HITS OPERATORS.

Less Accidents if They Protected Employes Better, Instead of Cutting Expenses.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, was greatly shocked when he learned of the extent of the disaster of the rolling mill mine at Johnstown, Pa. He is waiting for information from representatives of the organization in that district and it is likely the union will take some action in the way of affording relief to those affected by the explosion. President Mitchell said these mine accidents come with such frequency that it is positively shocking.

"The frequency with which they happen," he said, "is a strong argument why more stringent laws should be passed by legislatures regulating the ventilation of gaseous mines. If mining companies would exercise more care in protecting the lives of their men in their mines instead of trying to reduce the cost of production the occupation of a miner would not be so hazardous."

DEFENSE FUND OR STRIKE.

Cominf Miners' Convention Likely To Do Either One, From What Mitchell Said.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell yesterday consented to say something for publication regarding the coming miners' convention. He said it was utterly impossible to forecast the action of the convention. From his remarks it is almost certain the convention will do one of two things, either decide on a general suspension or provide a defense fund for the anthracite strikers.

ORAL PROMISE ABOUT FRIARS.

Withdrawal Question Could Be Settled at Once, If Washington Would Accept It.

Rome, July 12.—It is understood that the question of the withdrawal of the friars from the Philippine islands could be settled immediately, if Washington would accept the oral assurance of the vatican that they will be withdrawn gradually. It was believed here that President Roosevelt can decide whether such a promise can be accepted.

Baked Milk.

When offering food and drink to the invalid, one should avoid things very sweet and very sour, as they are often very hurtful to weak stomachs. Most sick people can take milk, but in many cases it is not well to give it raw. Baked milk is good and may be taken fearlessly into the most delicate stomach. To prepare this properly put two quarts of fresh sweet milk in a jar covered with white writing paper, tightly tied down, and bake it in an oven moderately hot until thick as cream, which will take about eight or ten hours. A less quantity will not require so long.—St. Louis Republic.

THE SECOND GAME WAS HOMESTEAD'S

Both Pitchers Did Excellent Work. Until the Sixth Inning Neither Team Made a Score—East Liverpool Got Six Hits.

East Liverpool lost the second game of the series with Homestead yesterday by a score of 2 to 1. As in the four preceding games played on this, the initial trip for the locals, the game was filled with interest and the errors were scarce on both sides.

Less than the average number of hits were made, both pitchers doing excellent work. Of the six hits made by East Liverpool, Heckathorn is credited with two and Davis with a like number. Ustil the sixth inning neither team scored. Berry, the first man up in this inning, walked. Reark flied out to middle. Heckathorn made a pretty two-base hit to middle advancing Berry to third. Webb flied to middle and Berry beat the throw home, making the only score of the game.

Marshall opened for Homestead by belting one out to left, which Godwin barely touched with the tips of his fingers. Cosgrove got first by placing one behind Patterson. Berry dropped it when thrown to him. McChesney tried to sacrifice and Marshall died at third. Cosgrove taking second. Nagle poked one between second and short and succeeded in scoring McChesney and Cosgrove.

The locals will play at Caston tomorrow, and a large number of enthusiasts have announced intention of witnessing the game. Maley has been advertised to pitch the game and no doubt will be a great drawing card.

Lincoln's Day Crop.

A story of Abraham Lincoln would have to be older than the one below to lose its characteristic savor.

In the summer of 1857 Mr. Lincoln was sitting in his office when he was visited by one of his neighbors, an excellent farmer, but one inclined to increase the size of his crops even after harvesting. He had given on this particular morning a skillfully padded account of the hay he had put in.

"I've been cutting hay, too," remarked Mr. Lincoln.

"Why, Abe, are you farming?"

"Yes."

"What you raise?"

"Just hay."

"Good crop this year?"

"Excellent."

"How many tons?"

"Well, I don't know just how many tons, Simpson, but my men stacked all they could outdoors and then stored the rest in the barn."—Youth's Companion.

Remember the Baker.

At the court of assizes in Venice, when sentence of death is about to be passed, a man clothed in a long black robe enters the court, and advancing to the bench bows profoundly to the judges, saying, "Remember the baker!" Then he bows again and retires. Here is the explanation of the custom: Three centuries ago a baker was executed at Venice for a crime of which he was not guilty. When his innocence was fully proved, the judges who condemned him invested a sum of money, the interest on which serves to keep a lamp perpetually lighted in the palace of the doges, this being called the "lamp of expiation." In addition, their fatal mistake has for 300 years been held up as a warning to their successors on the bench when they are about to inflict the extreme penalty of the law.

Didn't Notice Improvement.

An eastern senator was riding to the capitol on an F street car when a very deaf lady, who sat next to him, asked some questions about Washington and then apologized for being deaf.

"Why don't you try electricity?" sympathetically suggested the senator.

"Well," said the lady, "I was struck by lightning last summer, but I don't see that it did me any good."—Washington Post.

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire has dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

PE-RU-NA IS THE WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND,

Mrs. Jennie Rose, 362 W. Twenty-Second Street, New York City, writes: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "Peruna is a blessing to suffering women. I suffered with female trouble since I began menstruation, and every month I suffered two and three days of untold agony, and had to arrange my work and duties so as to be in bed every month for two days at least.

"My brother was cured of Bright's Disease from the use of Peruna and so I determined to try it for my trouble.

"Imagine my great joy when I found that it relieved me quite a bit the first month and I was entirely without pain during that period after having used Peruna only four months.

"This is about two years ago and all during that time I have suffered no pain. I can now come and go as I like and consider Peruna woman's best friend and wish that every suffering woman might know that she can find relief through the use of this medicine."

Truly yours,

MRS. JENNIE ROSE.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Battle Town, Ky., writes:

"When I wrote you for advice I was very bad off. When I received your letter I commenced using Peruna and it did just what you said it would. I have had a cough for about fifteen years and your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever used. I am so thankful to you for your advice to me."—Mrs. Ellen Thompson.

Mrs. James Eighmey, Grape, Mich., writes:

"I have been troubled with pain before and during my monthlies ever since I was seventeen. I was also troubled with other female weakness. I took your treatment, and am now well, and thank you for your kind advice."—Mrs. James Eighmey.

Mrs. John Meyers, Erhart, O., writes:

"I have been a sufferer from chronic catarrh for years and have thereby lost the sense of smell entirely. I had four of the best physicians in this vicinity without receiving any benefit whatever. "Now I am once more a well woman. I find Peruna to be the best medicine in the world as it has done me more good than my physician could have done for me. My friends say I look ten years younger. I tell them that Peruna did it. I can't thank you enough for your free advice."—Mrs. John Meyers.

Mrs. Ida Baker, Portsmouth, O., writes:

"I am glad to say that I am well. I have taken Peruna and feel better than I have for ten years; have gained twelve pounds and am still gaining. When I wrote to you for advice I had given up all hope of being well again, and I feel that it has saved my life."—Mrs. Ida Baker.

Alice Scott, of Franklin, Ky., in a letter to Dr. Hartman, says:

"For seven long years I had been a constant sufferer from catarrh of the pelvic organs which resulted in displacement of the uterus. I wrote you telling you all my complaints from the beginning to the present, made happy and much encouraged every time by your kind and fatherly letters of advice and instruction. I am now a strong woman weighing 148 pounds."—Alice Scott.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

RYAN'S ACQUITTAL EXPECTED

Major Glenn Contended "Water Cure" Was Not Brutal.

Manila, July 12.—The courtmartial of Captain James A. Ryan, of the Fifteenth cavalry, on thechargeof unnecessary cruelty to natives, was concluded yesterday. It was believed he will be acquitted. The accused, during the day's proceedings, made a lengthy statement defending his actions, and Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth Infantry, counsel for the captain, strongly plead for his exoneration. He contended that the "water cure" was not torture and asserted that its use had saved more American and Filipino lives than other expedients of the campaign.

The Major scored Judge Rhode for making a report that he was unable to substantiate and quoted a score of orders for the execution of guerrillas during the civil war, to justify Capt. Ryan.

CORONATION AUGUST 9.

Announcement Made That the King Is to Be Moved to the His Yacht.

London, July 12.—The following authorized statement was issued last evening:

"The king has made such excellent progress that his medical advisers believe his majesty is now strong enough to be moved from London. They feel that a change of air is very necessary at the present stage of the healing process. It is hoped that his majesty will be able to leave Buckingham palace Tuesday for the royal yacht, which is at present at Portsmouth."

It is now considered practically certain, in view of this announcement, that King Edward will be crowned Saturday, Aug. 9, since the holding of the coronation ceremony Monday, Aug. 11, would involve another full bank holiday, with the attendant dislocation of general business, while Saturdays are almost universally observed as half holidays.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. An encouraging feature of the meeting of the National Educational association at Minneapolis was the fact that the educators devoted their discussions mainly to ways and means of reforming the primary and grammar grades and left the high schools and colleges alone. The higher institutions are doing their work well in most instances. It is not their province to teach grammar, spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic. The majority of pupils never pass beyond the grammar grade. It is in the common schools that the foundation for an education is laid, and it is there that school reform should begin. It is of the highest importance therefore that instruction in those schools should be thorough. It is not possible for a child to learn much of science; but it is possible for him to gain a thorough knowledge of the rudimentary branches of education. The great number of persons otherwise fairly well educated who are sadly deficient in spelling, writing, and grammar shows that there is plenty of opportunity for missionary work along the lines of effort marked out by the educators in their convention.

Senator Foraker thought a few months ago that there was a possibility of the Democrats securing a majority in the next national house of representatives. There has since been a change in public sentiment and the possibility has vanished. The Republicans were never more united and earnest in the support of their party and of the administration than at present. The people are satisfied with existing prosperity, and have not forgotten the dark days that a Democratic congress brought upon the country less than ten years ago.

One interesting stage of the Eighteenth district congressional campaign will be passed today. This evening it will be known what support each of five announced candidates will have on the first ballot in the coming convention. If Columbiana county meets expectations, Charles S. Speaker will enter the contest with a larger number of delegates than any other aspirant and with most flattering prospects for securing the nomination.

"It is unfortunate," says the Toledo Blade, "that many Democrats are already trying to make the code bill the basis for partisan wrangling." True; but it is not surprising. The Ohio Democrats are usually engaged in a sort of politics that is unfortunate for them as well as other people.

Lord Salisbury objected to Sir Thomas Lipton's elevation to the peerage on the ground that he is "a retail tradesmen." Lipton should have started a brewery or opened a wholesale whisky house somewhere. Then there would have been no complaint.

A man appeared in Chicago the other day who said he could reform the town if they would let him. He was at once locked up as insane. Chicago reformed would not be Chicago.

Columbus is using her increased postal receipts as an argument to prove that she should have a new government building. The same argument applies in East Liverpool.

No apologies are needed, governor. The legislators will need all the help they can get before they complete their task.

Jason N. Hoffstot.

Jason N. Hoffstot, 69 years old, one of the best known merchandise brokers of Pittsburg, died at the home of his daughter in Fleming avenue, Bellevue, Thursday at 3 o'clock. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Fannie Allen, Chicago; Mrs. R. A. McCrae, Rochester, Pa.; Mrs. Robert Heinley, Allegheny, and Mrs. H. S. Gardiner, Pittsburg. Mrs. Hoffstot, who was formerly Miss Evaline Boody, and afterwards married to Mr. Devoy, both residing in East Liverpool for a number of years, and well known to many residents, died some 10 years ago and was buried in Riverview cemetery. The body of Mr. Hoffstot was brought to this city today and the funeral took place this afternoon, the remains being laid beside his wife in Riverview cemetery.

Samuel Derrington.

Samuel Derrington, aged 41 years, died at his home in Drury lane at 4:30 o'clock this morning of consumption. The funeral services will be conducted on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. Clark Crawford officiating. Mr. Derrington has been a resident of the city for about 22 years, and came here from Dresden, Eng. He worked in the local potteries as a dishmaker soon after his arrival, but of late years has been working at the trade of painter. He is survived by his wife, Amanda Derrington, and one son, William, who is employed at the China works. Mr. Derrington was a member of the First M. E. church, and was one of the best known residents of the city.

General I. H. Duval.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 12.—General Isaac Hardin Duval, a prominent civil war veteran and ex-congressman from this district, is dead. He was born in Wellsburg in 1824, served under the government in the west and commanded the first regiment that crossed the plains to California after the discovery of gold, and was successively major, colonel and brevet brigadier general of West Virginia volunteers, and participated in 36 battles and skirmishes. He was state senator, adjutant general, member of congress and United States internal revenue collector. He is survived by his wife and eight children.

SPECIAL FEATURES

To Be Inaugurated at the Services at the First Baptist Church.

The First Baptist church next Sunday will inaugurate some special features. A chorus of 15 voices will furnish music for each service, and in the evening four young ladies will act as ushers and will also take the offering.

The evening services during July will be of a special nature, mostly song services with a 15-minute address by the minister. Next Sunday evening, the subject will be "The Most Powerful Thing in Your Life."

NEW ESTABLISHMENT

In Which an Experienced Workman Will Look After the Watch Repairing.

John H. Morton, whose experience in the watch and jewelry repair business covers a period of 15 years, will open a shop at 174½ Sixth street. Mr. Morton not only thoroughly understands the jewelry business, but is a skilled workman of a high order, who has made a study of the intricacies and mechanism of his particular line. Therefore, his patrons can feel assured that any work left in his care will receive the attention of a master at the art.

He will be pleased to meet his old friends and many new ones at his new location and guarantees satisfactory work in every instance.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. S. J. Cripps, Jackson street. Owing to the absence of a number of the officers no business of any importance was transacted. The treasurer received money for a scholarship, also for the deaconess' fund. The society decided to have a picnic at the camp ground during the latter part of this month. The date has not yet been decided upon.

Meet at Leetonia Next.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

Kilnmen's local No. 9 held an interesting session in Brotherhood hall last evening. Thomas Smith, who was elected recently to the position of 1 per cent secretary, resigned, and Samuel Steel was elected to the chair to fill the unexpired term. Another resignation was that of Mike Reynolds, who was recently elected inside guard. The resignation was accepted and Robert Berger was elected to the unexpired term. These new officers were installed during the evening and besides this business a number of committees were appointed by the chair to attend to several lines of work. The attendance was very large.

While very little has been heard in the past two weeks relative to the proposed plan of consolidating several of the large local potteries, the matter has by no means dropped. It takes many weeks for gigantic deals like this to be put through, and time is everything. Inasmuch as matters have been quiet for a few weeks, that is just the time when some hard work is being done. It is reasonable to think that some inside facts concerning this deal will be ready for the public before long.

The new decorating kiln at the Thompson pottery, which has been in course of erection for the past month, has been completed, and will be used for the first time within a few weeks. The new kiln is one of the most modern in the city.

Work has been commenced upon the excavations for the new additions that are to be built to the decorating kiln department at the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. The improvements that have been decided upon for this plant will be rushed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crewson, of Sebring, formerly of this city, left for a vacation to the Thousand Islands, in the St. Lawrence river. They are accompanied by Mrs. Crewson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rigby, of this city..

Kilndrawers' local No. 17 will meet in Brotherhood hall this evening. It will be the first meeting since the new officers were installed, but there is said to be nothing but routine business to transact.

A number of buyers from Erie, Pa., and Decatur, Ill., have registered at the Thompson House during the past few days. Each left some nice business with the local manufacturers.

Work is said to have begun on the new pottery at Derry, Pa., July 1. Fifty new houses for the accommodation of workmen was to have started at the same time.

John Watson, kilnhand at the Union pottery, has accepted a position with the Vance-Faience pottery at Tiltonville, and left to assume his duties last evening.

Packers' local No. 25 met last evening in regular session, but the attendance was very small and only routine business was considered.

The erection of the new Eliete pottery at Trenton has progressed to such an extent that the first kiln will be drawn about Aug. 1.

The decorating shop of the Ford China company has been working overtime in order to keep up with the rush in that department.

The Vance-Faience pottery at Tiltonville has just completed a large addition in the shape of a ware room.

D. E. McNicol and W. L. Smith, of the D. E. McNicol Pottery company, were in Pittsburg yesterday afternoon on a business trip.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery resumed yesterday. Some repairs were made to the pug machinery during the shut down.

Twelve new ware bins are building at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery of the East Liverpool Potteries company.

A 4,000 piece cup and saucer scheme goods order will soon be placed in this city by the American Cereal company.

The Cartwright pottery will resume operation Monday morning. The plant has been idle for about two weeks.

Trenton potteries have succeeded in getting enough coal for present use by paying $9 and $10 a ton for it.

Saw the Homestead Game.

Officer Clifford Dawson returned last evening from Pittsburg and vicinity, where he visited friends for several days. On Thursday afternoon he witnessed the East Liverpool and Homestead ball game, and states that it was a great contest. He states that Godwin made one of the prettiest catches on record when he pulled down a foul fly for which he was compelled to run a long distance and then jump over an embankment.

Grocers Will Picnic.

At the last meeting of the Retail Grocers' association an invitation to the local grocers to attend a picnic to be given at Stanton park next month was read. It was decided to accept the invitation, and it is quite likely that a number will go. The picnic will be attended by grocers from the northeastern part of the state and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Business Men Organize.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—The Business Men's Protective association of Lisbon has hired a collector and hired two rooms to be used as an office and club room. A supply of papers and magazines will be kept on hand and the merchants expect to use the rooms as a meeting and loafing place.

Will Celebrate Labor Day.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—The labor unions of Lisbon decided at a meeting last night to celebrate Labor Day and committees were appointed to make arrangements. They expect to have the usual number of sports and addresses.

Finishing Topographic Survey.

Van H. Manning, of the government geographical survey, is finishing the topographic work of the recent surveys of the different corps. The corps is now located at Fairview, and is working out from that town. The work on the Ohio side is nearly finished.

Ordered to Sell Lots.

Lisbon, July 12.—(Special)—S. K. Hawkins, of Elkton, as administrator of the estate of Wililam Lewis, has been ordered by the probate court to sell four lots in Elkton appraised at $620 to pay debts of the estate.

Appointed Administrator.

WELLSVILLE

$800 IN THE ROLL

Which an Italian Entrusted to a Wellsville Man's Care.

A few days ago a Wellsville Italian approached William Winn and asked him to care for a small package until called for. It was wrapped in an old newspaper. The Italian said, 'Me fraid be arrested by cops." Mr. Winn was quite busy at the time, and with his courteous assurance, laid the bundle aside.

The remark of the Italian recurred to him this morning and his curiosity got too much for him, so he concluded to examine the contents of the package. Nearly a bale of paper was unrolled from a leather pocket which was stuffed with money, there being over $800 in the wad.

He was astonished at the Italian putting the money in his trust, but did not care to be custodian of so much boodle. Winn took the money to the bank.

MISSING FOR A WEEK

Unaccountable Disappearance of a Wellsville Married Man.

The wife of John D. Morley, who resides on Commerce street is in a grievous state of mind over the absence of her husband, who has been missing for nearly a week. When he left home in the evening he had a considerable sum of money and she has fears that he was foully dealt with. Morley is 35 years old, asd has a wife and four children.

Ill While at Work.

Alonzo Murdock fell from a ladder back of Main street near the public square yesterday, while he was painting. He was taken to his home, Fifth and Coal streets, where he rallied from the attack of painters' colic from which he had been suffering. Mr. Murdock was severely bruised by the fall.

Success at Last Crowns the Efforts of Judge Williams.

Gas is at last being made at the gas plant at Chester. While not in any immense quantities at present, the amount is thought to be enough to prove the invention of Judge Williams, of Sewickley, a success after 15 years of effort on his part. It will take several weeks for the moisture to be dried out of the masonry of the plant, for if gas were made in large quantities at present it would be of an explosive nature. With the masonry dried, all danger of this is past.

When gas is made in large quantities at this plant, it will be burned just outside the plant from a large pipe which has been prepared for that purpose.

Judge Williams, who has been blind for two years, arrived at the plant a few days ago, and although he cannot see he can hear the necessary explosions of gas, and has the knowledge that his life's work is a success. Just a few weeks ago he suffered a preliminary operation on his eyes at a Pittsburg hospital, and has been informed that after thenext operation he will be able to read a paper without the aid of glasses.

THE CITIZENS' LEAGUE

Chester People Meet And Organize And Discuss Plans of Campaign.

The Citizens' League meeting was well attended last night. The league is growing rapidly in membership and interest. Last night it talked over plans of campaign, but nothing of a public nature.

The league effected a permanent organization, president, secretary, treasurer and executive committee being chosen.

Local Talent Engaged.

Old Camping Club Returns.

The "Katzenjammer Kids" Fishing club, 13 in number, of Monaca, are camped at Mill Creek, above Chester. They will remain for six weeks. They are thoroughly enjoying themselves both at the camp and in the city, and speak highly of their treatment here. They have been camping annually at the same place for the past 12 years, and began when they were boys aged 12 and 13 years.

Three New Rural Routes.

P. S. Kepiar, of the rural route branch of the postoffice department, has been in New Cumberland several days this week, and has gone over the three additional routes petitioned for in this county. These routes will be established upon his recommendation, but it will be the first of September before the routes are officially established, the carriers appointed and their bonds filed and approved.

Surgical Operation Required.

J. S. Johnston is visiting his son Sheldon at Sebring. About 20 years ago Mr. Johnston while employed as a brakeman on the Vandalia line, received a bad fall, injuring his left side. Lately a tumor has formed in the side, and is giving him great inconvenience. He will have an operation performed while at Sebring.

Paving Will Be Costly.

It will cost the Rock Springs Street Railway company between $7,000 and $8,000 for paving 18 feet in width of Carolina avenue from the Mark's run bridge to First street on Carolina avenue. The company, though, is fully in favor of the improvement.

Good Crops This Year.

The apple crop along the river in the vicinity of Arroyo will be large for this year. The hill district will practically have no yield at all. Browns Sons' crop will exceed 2,000 barrels. The potato crop will be the largest for many years.

Oil Operations.

Mr. Fink started a well today on his farm in the Turkeyfoot extension. The Frank Morrow well on the Morrow farm, just in, is doing two barrels per day. The Morrows will drill another right away. Robert Sutor drilled both wells.

CHESTER NCTES.

Mrs. James Wright and daughters, Sadie and Ethel, of the west End, attended the railway picnic at Silve Lake today.

J. O. Heddleston is spending a two weeks' vacation at Marietta.

Mrs. James Stewart, of Hookstown, sustained a compound fracture of the left thigh through a fall from a porch.

The five new handsome residences in John Shrader's addition are about completed.

Mrs. Frank Huiton, near Asbury Chapel, is seriously ill. Dr. Donehoo is in attendance.

Attorney John R. Donehoo, of New Cumberland, was in Chester yesterday on legal business.

Prosecuting Attorney McKenzie, of New Cumberland, was in Chester yesterday on business.

Prof. Robert A. Morrow, of Pittsburg, a professor of music, is the guest of Lawrence Baxter.

The household effects of C. A. Smith arrived yesterday, and he will spend the summer at his new residence in Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore Walters, guests of Dr. J. T. Elliott and wife for some days, returned home to Vandergrift, Pa., this morning.

A committee of citizens from Uhrichsville were in Chester yesterday arranging for a picnic at Rock Springs for a date in August.

Mrs. Harry Huff, of St. John street, was called home from Sistersville, W. Va., today by the death of her relative, Gorge Mountford.

John Angred, of Wheeling, was in the city today looking for a location for a carriage manufactory. He secured a place and will locate here.

Mrs. Belle Bowman, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McClure, of Fifth street, for two weeks, returned to New Castle, Pa., this morning.

H. G. Mullen and wife and Harry E Mencer and wife, of Tiffin, who were here attending the funeral of their relative, Thomas Bott, returned home last evening.

Prof. J. Brad Craig, of Hookstown, will fill the position of first assistant of Beaver schools at a salary of $800 per year and Miss Corinne Mercer that of third assistant at a salary of $450 per year.

of express goods after their arrival, charges paid. I called up the express office six successive days this week for an express package I was expecting. I got it at last, and found it had been lying in the office here all the time. Such occurrences are enough to exhaust patience. There is need of a general protest on the part of business men, to see if the public facilities cannot be brought up to date."

PLEASANT HEIGHTS LINE

Mr. Healy Thinks Satisfactory Arrangements About It Will Soon Be Made.

When asked today as to when work constructing the Pleasant Heights extension to the East Liverpool street railway would commence, L. W. Healy, general manager of the road, stated that no definite conclusions had been reached yet. He said that a meeting of the joint committees, representing council, the street railway company and the residents of the section interested might be held soon, although no date for such a conference had yet been decided upon.

At this meeting it is the opinion that matters will be arranged to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, after which Mr. Healy said the subject would possibly be brought before the attention of council again at its next session.

Building a Sewer.

A large sewer extending from Spring street to Calcutta road, a distance of two squares, is buiding on the hill. The work is in charge of City Engineer J. C. Kelly. Street Commissioner Frank Dickey and force are cleaning the paved streets today.

GRAND AUCTION SALE

WITH FREE PRIZE LOTS

The Chester Rolling Mill Company and the South Side Land Company who own 90 per cent. of the desirable property

IN CHESTER, W. VA.

THURSDAY, JULY 24,

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsylvania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also good schools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Great Sale Thursday July 24.

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

Lot lies perfectly level and front 30 feet on grassy lawn to the front. This property is on the west end of Sixth street and one of the few down town residences for sale.

High Class Residences We have them in all parts of the city. They are generally occupied by their owners. For reasons that are obvious to all owners of fine properties they do not want general publicity made of the fact that their "home" property is for sale. These properties we are ever ready to tell you of on condition that you evince enough interest to make inquiry of us. You'll never get prices or particulars in our advertising columns of them. Don't think that we cannot suit you. Try us. Further, we'll save you money.

300 Dwellings For Sale. Have you ever seen our mammoth For Sale List? If not call and get one, or send us your address and we will mail you a copy. When you come to us you have a selection of properties to choose from representing three-fourths of all the properties on sale in the city. We make it profitable to do business through us. Give us 20 minutes of your time; if we don't interest you, we'll say no more about it. We make terms of purchase to suit you.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

A Daughter Born—A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Moon, of Fourth street.

Five New Members — Peter Cooper lodge, No. 772, Royal Arcanum, intiated five new members at its last meeting.

Two Cars of Wool Purchased—Lee & Milller, the wool buyers, have purchased and are loading two cars of wool at Industry, Pa., for shipment to Wheeling.

Two Ball Games Arranged—The Elks' base ball team, recently organized, has arranged for two games with Youngstown, one in this city and one at Youngstown.

Membership Increased—The Ohio Valley Circle, No. 43, of the F. M. C., has now increased to 197 members. The ladies' circle numbers 100, and both are enjoying a high degree of prosperity.

Probationers' Meeting—The probationers' class met last evening at the M. E. parsonage. The class is composed of 30 to 40 members who will be received into full membership in about three weeks.

Rechabites' Installation—The new officers of Liberty tent, Rechabites, were installed Thursday night by Installing Officer Frank Robinson, and the ladies by Mrs. Richardson. The officers of Favorite tent will be installed tonight.

A Hay Ride—A large number of young people enjoyed a hay ride to the country last night. At the home of William Pelley, about six miles from the city, they were treated to a fine lunch, and dancing was indulged in for a few hours.

Thrown From His Wheel—While riding down Washinton street on his bicycle late last evening Harry Blair, of the West End, was thrown violently from the wheel against a curb stone. He received no injury except bruises around his right hip, and was soon able to proceed with his ride.

Railway Magnate's Visit—John B. Hoetgen, of New York, representing a number of bondholders of the East Liverpool Railway company, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Manager L. W. Healy, of that company. He made a tour over the entire lines operated by the company, and stopped here on his way west. Mr. Hoefgen is well known in this city and at one time had something to do with the management of the road.

A Dangerous Practice—Complaint is made by residents along the Horn switch of the habit of shifting crews letting cars run down the switch without a brakeman on them to look after their safety. Another car yesterday narrowly missed a citizen on West Market street, he being jerked from the track in the nick of time.

Dismissed the Case.

The case of Abrams & Stewart against Martin Brozka was dismissed by 'Squire McCarron yesterday afternoon on the grounds that the suit was improperly brought. The claim of the plaintiffs was for $17.50, which amount they alleged was due on a policy with the Liverpool & London Insurance company. The 'squire decided that the case should have been filed by the company and not its agents.

years or more ago, a man came to the Ferry to buy $1,000 worth of oil. He said he had a check for $2,000. That he would go to Pittsburg and get his check cashed. He asked the operator at which bank he did business, and was told, and went off saying he would leave $500 on deposit and would pay the other $500 when the oil was shipped. After waiting a week the buyer not appearing, the operator got impatient, for he did not want to hold the oil. Enquiries were made at the bank. It was found that the check was all right. The $2,000 had been drawn and $500 of it had been placed to the credit of the operator.

The depositor had disappeared. It was found that he had stopped at one of the hotels. His bill had been paid, his satchel was left. There were some papers in it, but nothing that would give any clue to his identity, and if he had sunk into the earth he could not have been more completely gone and was never heard from again. There was nothing left for the oil operator to do but to take the money left to his credit, which he did with the reservation of returning it to the owner if he should ever appear, which he did not.

I was surprised to find the postmaster at this place was Rev. W. F. Smith, an M. E. church preacher, now superannuated, who was stationed at Mechanicsville and Rock Creek in 1886 and at Williamsfield two years later. His wife was for many years a resident of this place and after he left the ministry they returned to make it their home. He was a soldier in the Thirteenth O. V. I. for three full years. I also met Will Crooms, who has lived here several years. He has a farm a few miles back in the country and raises vegetables for the East Liverpool market. A younger brother is with him.

SAGGER MAKERS

The adoption of the list has had a great tendency toward bringing new members into the Brotherhood, especially in the pressers' local.

The principal question receiving the attention of the Brotherhood officials in the east is the petition of the saggermakers to break away from the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers' local and form an indepedent local of their own. The saggermakers find it is not to their advantage to be affiliated with the kilnmen, who exceed them by about 200 members. At their meetings the saggermakers claim that, being in the minority, their grievances are not considered until all matters pertaining to the kilnmen are given an airing and as a result when their business is reached the session is often nearly over, and their matters are often shelved to be considered at the next meeting under the head of unfinished business.

There are many saggermakers who have kept out of the Brotherhood principlly because of this objection. They now claim that with a separate local they can increase their membership to 125 and then be better able to get an insight on local conditions.

A special meeting of the saggermakers has been called for next Monday evening, when Vice President Hutchins will organize them into a separate local to be controlled by their own officers.

Contrary to the general belief the eastern potters played but little part in the recent controversy between the Brotherhood and the Western Manufacturing Potters' association over the reforms asked at the Trenton convention. When the strike question was agitated, circulars were sent to the eastern locals as well as to those in the west, asking for a vote on the question as to whether a strike should be declared.

The Trenton plants not being controlled by the uniform price list, the operatives did not view the question with any seriousness. The locals of this city and Elizabeth failed to vote, while the locals at Camden, where the plants are operated under conditions similar to those which prevail in the Trenton plants, were practically unanimous in voting in favor of a strike. The action of Camden local No. 50 has met with a storm of disapproval from the Trenton members who hold that the question was one for the western locals to decide and that their action should not be met with any interference from those who are not directly affected by the provisions of the uniform list.

The funeral of James P. Stephens, a leading resident of Trenton and a man prominently identified with the pottery industry, who died Tuesday morning, took place at his home on Greenwood avenue Thursday afternoon.

RIVER NEWS.

The Lorena and Virginia are due down tonight at 8 p. m.

The Kanawha, Ben Hur and Keystone State are due up tomorrow.

The river fell two feet since last night.

A fine and trim steam launch passed up the Ohio last evening in charge of Pittsburg excursionists. The craft was fully 40 feet in length, and was making about 25 miles an hour up stream.

The Virginia on her last trip south carried 250 passengers, and the crew were compelled to distribute cots about the boat to accommodate the throng.

MISS FAY LEE,

President of the Shakespearian Club, Kansas City.

Miss Fay Lee.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains". They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603½ North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Ambulances Coursed Through the Streets Yesterday, Bearing Dead From Mine to Morgue and From Morgue to Home—Heroic Work Done by the Rescuers—Philanthropic Work Started For the Relief of the Distressed Families. Numerous Funds Being Raised Through Entertainments and Private Gifts.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—AT 11 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT: NUMBER OF KNOWN DEAD, 90. NUMBER OF INJURED IN HOSPITALS, 18. NUMBER OF INJURED WHO WENT HOME, 4.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., JULY 12.—TWO MEMBERS OF THE RELIEF PARTY SENT HOME FOR A REST SAID UPON LEAVING THE MINE SHORTLY BEFORE 1 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING THAT 52 BODIES WERE PILED UP READY TO BE BROUGHT OUT THE FIRST THING AFTER DAYLIGHT.

THIS DID NOT MEAN THAT THIS NUMBER WAS ALL THE DEAD YET IN THE MINE, AS AT LEAST TWO DANGEROUS HEADINGS HAD YET RESISTED EFFORTS TO PENETRATE THEM.

A Day of Heroic Rescues.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Yesterday was a day of heroic rescues at the fated rolling mill mine of the Cambria Steel company. Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of 40 brave and daring fellows who went down into the bowels of the earth with a very faint hope to spur them that still they might be in time to restore to life some of those who are entombed. Death lurked everywhere around them, but, undaunted, they surged forward, swayed with the noblest of human purposes.

The reward of their efforts was the saving of the lives of 14 of their fellow men and bringing them again into the sunlight and back to loving families.

Dead and maimed bodies were located, but no effort was made to bring them out of the vast theater of death until every human energy was put forward towards seeing that no living soul might escape their aid. That done, the dead were attended to, and in train cars were brought up and exposed to morbid gaze while being transferred to wagons in which to be taken to the morgue. Eighty-seven dead bodies were recovered from the mine between daylight and nightfall. Still a party of officials and miners battled on three miles inside the mine. Occasionally word would come to the surface by some mysterious means that another heap of remains had been exposed to the vision of the searchers. There remained last night the dangerous heading in the Klondike section of the mine yet to be explored. No one knew how many more dead would be found there. The mine officials refrained from guess work on the subject.

150 Victims Low Estimate.

The impression prevailed last night among the outsiders and certain employes of the mine that 150 was a weak estimate of the casualty list.

Fated Johnstown spent yesterday horror-struck. From dawn to dusk flying ambulances coursed the streets bearing gruesome burdens from mine to morgue, from morgue to home. Great throngs surged about the pit mouth, the improvised morgue at the armory, and about the stricken homes of the dead. Bulletin boards were eagerly scanned for news from the scene of the disaster. Exaggerated rumors of all kinds prevailed. One report gained circulation that disaster had overtaken the rescuing party which entered the mine shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning. This proved one of the entertaining yarns that had its origin among the crowd at the pit mouth. Returning rescuers substantiated the denials of the report by officials.

It was difficult to picture with any degree approaching its full worth the work of rescue and the attending scenes and incidents of the day at the center of interest. How brave men went into the jaws of death in its most horrible form, encountered their fellows transformed into raving maniacs by hours of waiting in the pitch darkness of the earth's interior, lifted them moaning from their beds of fallen rock, and then bending and crawling on all fours, carrying them a quarter of a mile underground to where cars could be reached to take them outside.

Philanthropic work has been started in Johnstown for the relief of the distressed families. Numerous funds are being raised through entertainments and private gifts. Every bank is collecting subscriptions and placards soliciting them are conspicuous everywhere.

When the first rescuing party suspended work for a time at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon until conditions became more favorable for rescue work, its members succeeded in counting 87 dead bodies in the main workings of the Klondike section of the mine. A cessation of work was compelled until pure air could be driven into the gas filled headings.

Not a wink of sleep was gained by the anxious miners who escaped the awful calamity of their fellows. Mine Superintendent George P. Robinson, Engineer M. G. Moore, State Mine Inspector Evans and a host of others, volunteers among the miners, all young and sturdy, gathered at the foot of the incline leading up to the Westmont or main entry. They manned a long string of cars, which was watched by the throngs surrounding the morgue with eager interest until it disappeared in the mine.

Life In Some Bodies.

Along in the early part of the afternoon cheering word came from the innermost recesses of the mine that life yet lingered in some of the bodies found. The rescuers made first for No. 4 left heading, which they had been unable to reach the night before. Desolate even for the scene of a mine interior was the heading that stretched out before them. Falls of roof almost choked up the heading, but through and over the debris the brave men pushed their way. In the front young Patrick Martin, his brother Peter, Philip White and several cousins of the Martins made their way. Suddenly in an open space they were startled by the maniac laugh which eminated from a blackened form that rushed at them out of the darkness. The man grasped firmly a pick handle and tried in his frenzy to beat down his rescuers. He was overpowered and dragged back to the main heading to the cars. Soon his passion subsided and when brought outside was as docile as could be desired.

The living men in No. 4 heading were found about 11:10 o'clock in the morning. Owing to the difficulty in getting them out over the falls of slate their rescue from the mine was deferred.

The first report that came out of the mine was that 12 men had been found in No. 4 left heading and six still retained the spark of life. Summons were sent for physicians and ambulances. Drs. Woodruff and Updegraff were soon entering the dangerous passage way to the mine.

Rescued Placed In Ambulances.

A half hour later, at 3 p. m., the train of cars came down to where the waiting ambulances stood. Eight men were lifted over the sides of the cars and, half carried, wended their way to the ambulances. They were all Poles. One big, strapping fellow among them collapsed as he reached the ambulance and doctors spent several minutes resusitating him. As the men were driven hurriedly to the Cambria hospital, the train of coal cares, with the physicians, re-entered the mine. In another half hour they came out again, this time with six dying, but almost dead, miners. One man in his paroxysms had locked his jaws so that force had to be employed to pry them open for the insertion of life instilling fluids. These six were taken in an unconscious condition to the Cambria hospital. One man brought out with the crowd died just as he reached daylight.

At that time three more headings believed to be filled with the dead, were unsearched. Thirty-nine were lying within reach in the main heading. These were brought out at 4:35 p. m.. Their bodies were piled high in the coal cars and covered with canvas.

These remains were in a terrible state, showing that there had been slow death in each case. One of the men had his mouth and nose tied about by a towel. The rest of his face was burned beyond recognition. The bodies of all were twisted in horrible shapes, most of the arms being crooked so as to shield the face. The only one who could be identified at the pit mouth was Fire Boss Joseph Tomlinson.

One of the volunteer rescuers who came out with this load of dead stated that fire was raging in parts of the mine, that would take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive yesterday afternoon had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning a valve on the compressed air pipe line which runs along the entry. One man was found dead with his hands clutched so tightly about a monkey wrench that it could not be removed.

GOOD NEWS PREDOMINATES.

So Dun's Review Said of Business. Unfavorable Weather at Some Points—Labor Disputes.

New York, July 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Good news predominates, although unfavorable weather proved a drawback at many points and new labor disputes arose. There is less than the customary midsummer idleness in manufacturing industries, despite the scarcity of fuel. Commodity prices are fully maintained. Railway earnings thus far available for June average 9.9 per cent larger than last year's and 20.6 per cent above those of 1900.

Statistics of pig iron production on July 1 are somewhat surprising. According to the Iron Age, the weekly output was at a new high record of 372,590 tons, notwithstanding the shortage of fuel. In steel the situation is mixed, heavy lines falling further behind orders, while a number of rod, wire and nail mills in the Pittsburg region have shut down for the usual vacation. Structural steel and railway supplies are urgently sought, so much new business being placed that activity is assured well into 1903.

In woolens the best feature is the re-order business in heavy weights, quick delivery being desired.

Corn has again been the prominent feature of the markets for domestic staples. Speculators at the west secured control of the six million bushels in the visible supply, and compelled the short interests to cover contracts at disastrously high prices. Farmers' reserves are evidently insignificant, for attractive prices do not bring out even a fair volume of receipts. Wheat was quiet and strong, and exports from all ports of the United States only 2,250,729 bushels, compared with 4,353,736 bushels a year ago.

Liabilities of commercial failures for the first week of July amounted to $1,570,358, of which $483,048 were in manufacturing, $636,416 in trading and $450,894 in other lines.

Failures for the week numbered 193 in the United States, against 208 last year, and 19 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

Opening Prices Were at Highest Average Level of Day, Friday.

New York, July 12.—Opening prices yesterday morning were at the highest average level of the day. There were striking advances afterwards, notably in Rock Island and Missouri Pacific, but these proved unavailing to sustain the general market, which sagged slowly but steadily throughout of the rest of the session. Majority of stocks closed lower than Thursday night and the declines were substantial in such stocks as New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern and others which have recently been prominent in the rise. The spurt at the opening was due especially to the encouragement felt on account of the government's monthly crop report, especially in respect to corn, which had a stimulating effect on the demand for grain carrying roads. But it became plain at once that the buying was conspicuous only in Missouri Pacific and Rock Island, which stocks are peculiarly associated with the bull leaders of the market. Atchison and the other Pacifics did not move more than a fraction at any time. The perspective of today's bank statement was the counteracting influence to the crop report. The heavy movement of currency to the interior has been subject of comment all week. The usual preliminary estimates of the regular express movement of currency to the interior indicates a balance against New York of only a little over a million dollars. But the sub-treasury operations promise to bring the decline in the cash reserves up to nearly $5,000,000. The market closed dull and easy.

BOSS OF ROYAL SHOW

DUKE OF NORFOLK'S IMPORTANCE AT THE CORONATION.

By Virtue of His Office as Earl Marshal of England He Has Control of All Details—Premier Peer of the Kingdom.

The most important man in England today, excepting of course King Edward VII. himself, is his grace the Duke of Norfolk, manager of all the details of England's coronation of her hereditary ruler. He is earl marshal of England and premier peer of the realm, and for centuries scions of the noble house to which he belongs have arranged the coronations of British rulers.

He is the man who has decided not only the width of the ermine trimming of the peers' coronation robes and the length of the trains of the peeresses' gowns, but of what materials they should be made. Even the king and queen must bow to his dictum in this regard.

The Duke of Norfolk has had the designing of every garment and ornament that will be seen in Westminster abbey during the coronation and even the prerogative of saying who shall be there and who not. The title he bears is his authority, and though it is possible there will be folk indiscreet enough to question his decisions it will avail them little. When George IV. was crowned at Westminster, the dean and chapter thereof thought themselves badly treated in the amount of space allotted to them in the abbey, and they petitioned the king to rectify the matter, but the monarch replied that what his earl marshal, one of the Duke of Norfolk's ancestors, said was law, and that settled the matter.

At present the duke certainly deserves the new title which has been conferred upon him, that of "the busiest man in London," for by nothing but the hardest sort of work could he ever hope to get through the tremendous task of arranging every last detail of the great show.

The Duke of Norfolk is the richest and most prominent Roman Catholic in England, yet he will have to stand by and hear his religion specifically denounced by the king in the coronation oath. He was an efficient postmaster general and endeared himself to the "man in the street" by resigning that position when the Transvaal war broke out and going to fight in South Africa. He didn't achieve much at the front, but that wasn't his fault.

Although he is almost as famous for his heartiness and good cheer as for his shocking taste in clothes, the greatest of English noblemen has had trouble enough to make a misanthrope of most men. He idolized his beautiful wife, who died soon after their marriage, and his only son is so ill, both in body and mind, that only the most constant care on the part of his father and one of his aunts keeps him alive.

According to well vouched for stories, the Duke of Norfolk has been mistaken on board his yacht for one of his sailors and times without number, while tramping over his broad acres, for one of his "help," but the best of all these veracious anecdotes is that which relates his grace's encounter with one of his sisters at a convent where he had gone, as requested, to distribute some prizes. The retreat was not a long way from Arundel, so the duke, "seedy" as ever, walked over and on entering the grounds was confronted by the portress. The nun, who never had seen the duke before, surveyed the shabby nobleman from head to foot and then remarked:

"My good man, you ought to know that we do not distribute relief on such a day as this."

"Quite so, sister," replied the duke, "but you do distribute prizes, and I have come to distribute them for you."

Of the "stately homes of England" the Duke of Norfolk is the possessor of one of the stateliest. Arundel castle is one of the most beautiful buildings in the kingdom. It is built around three sides of a square, on the fourth of which is a round tower or ancient keep. The great hall is situated below the keep in the inner court, and its windows command fine views of the country lying between Arundel, Chichester, Selsey, Bognor and Littlehampton.

The Norfolk town house in St. James square has an interesting history of its own. When Frederick, prince of Wales, was banished from St. James, he sought refuge with the Duke of Norfolk.

HE MET HIS MATCH.

The Squire Got a Dose of His Own Disagreeable Medicine.

Men, as a rule, are more indifferent and communicative concerning the inroads of age than women are, but the most amiable woman can generally find a pertinent remark to make when approached impertinently on this sacred theme. "Old Squire Jones doesn't speak to me now," said a gentle faced, silver haired lady, "and I don't blame him. He has excellent reasons for not wanting any conversation with me. Several months ago I was sitting in our carriage near the city library, waiting for Helen, when I saw the old squire drive up near me. He always has something unpleasant to say about how old we are all getting and what wrecks we all are, so I pretended not to see him. He came nearer, however, and accosted me.

"'Isn't that you, Mrs. Brown? How d'you do, Mrs. Brown?'

"I turned around and greeted him. 'How do you do, Squire Jones?'

"'My goodness, Mrs. Brown,' the bluff old fellow went on, 'how you have broke! I never would have known you.'

"'Why, Squire Jones,' said I, 'I was just going to say the same thing to you. I never did see a man age as fast as you have. What on earth has made you fail so rapidly? I never would have known you.'

"The poor old squire shrank down in his buggy seat and wilted. He looked half his usual size and ten years older and drove off without saying anything further. It was wicked, really, to deal the poor man such a blow, but if elderly gentlemen want to receive compliments," the silver haired lady laughingly concluded, "they must go about distributing them."—Indianapolis News.

THE RAINBOW.

Lasting Superstitions That Hang About the Arch of Promise.

"Rainbow gold" used to be the warp and woof of many a childish dream. The pot of treasure buried "where the end of the bow touches the ground" has been searched for by trusting children again and again. The present generation of childhood is so blase however, that such gentle fantasies are apt to be received with scorn.

There are many lasting superstitions connected with the arch of promise, however. In many countries the rainbow is spoken of as being a great bent pump or siphon tube, drawing water from the sea by mechanical means.

In parts of Russia, in the Don country and also in Moscow and vicinity the rainbow is known by a word which is equivalent to "the bent water pipe." In nearly all Slavonic dialects it is known by terms signifying "the cloud siphon," and in Hungary it is "the pump," "Noah's pump" or "God's pump."

In the province of Charkov, Russia the rainbow is said to drain the wells and to prevent this many are provided with heavy, tight fitting stone platforms. In the province of Saratov the bow is said to be under the control of three angels, one of whom pumps the water, the second "feeds" the clouds and the third sends the rain.

The Malayan natives call it by the same name that they do the banded water cobra, only that they add "boba," meaning double headed, the equivalent in English being "the double headed water snake."

The Turkish children are told that if they can touch the rainbow they will at once have silver heads, eyes of ruby and teeth of gold. In Greece they say that the person so unfortunate as to stumble over the end of the rainbow will have his or her sex changed instantly.

The One Man Right.

Copernicus was at one time alone in his belief that the earth and planets revolved round the sun. Galilei was right when he asserted that the moon revolves round the earth, and so was Columbus when he asserted the possibility of sailing round the world. But in all these cases it is possible that others, unknown to fame, may have shared their beliefs.

There are two instances in which one man was absolutely right and, so far as we know, all the rest of mankind wrong. One was that of Newton, the discoverer of the principle of universal gravitation, and the other was that of John Harvey, who was absolutely alone in his conviction that the blood circulates through the veins and arteries of living animals. In this instance so universal was the disbelief that his fellow doctors nicknamed him "the quack," or "circulator," and the word survives to this day as the name of one who makes a profession of medical knowledge which he does not possess.

Justice Greater Than Charity.

The one divine work, the one ordered sacrifice, is to do justice, and it is the last we are ever inclined to do. Anything rather than that. As much charity as you choose, but no justice. "Nay," you will say, "charity is greater than justice." Yes, it is greater; it is the summit of justice; it is the temple of which justice is the foundation. But you can't have the top without the bottom; you cannot build upon charity. You must build upon justice for this main reason, that you have not at first charity to build with. It is the last reward of good work. Do justice to your brother (you can do that whether you love him or not) and you will come to love him. It is all very fine to think you can build upon charity to begin with, but you will find all you have to begin with begins at home and is essentially love of yourself.—Ruskin.

The Word "Awful."

In Mrs. Oliphant's "Life of Principal Tulloch" of St. Andrews we find Dr. Tulloch speaking of some one as "an awful Tory." Mrs. Oliphant says in a footnote:

"Lest the principal should be accused of slang, I may say that the adjective is strictly Scotch and had been employed for generations by a people fond of strong speaking before it crossed the border and gave to the youth of England a freshly energetic if inelegant word."

Freckles.

Some people are born freckled, and others have freckles thrust upon them. The former class might as well accept their freckles as a dispensation of Providence, for nothing can be done for them. The latter can always get rid of their affliction by using a couple of drams of sal ammoniac with an ounce of German cologne, the solution mixed with a pint of distilled water. Applied two or three times a day it will cure the worst case of acquired freckles on record.

Horrible Thought.

Browne—No? My, that's terrible!

Towne—Oh, I don't know. I haven't any sympathy—

Her Way of Putting It.

"It is extravagance to buy such dress lining, Mrs. Bargains."

"It was real cheap, hubby, dear. Only a dollar something a yard."

"How much is 'something?' What was the price?"

"It was $1.98."—Boston Traveler.

Quit quarreling with your neighbors, and the judges and lawyers will soon cease to run everything, as at present. —Atchison Globe.

The Story of the Ticket.

"Every ticket has its story," said a man acquainted with the pawnshops, and one of the sad little tales which he told is repeated by the Philadelphia Telegraph. It was a bitter cold day, and a mite of a boy, not over nine years old, had come in, wrapped in his overcoat. This he peeled off and deposited it upon the pawnbroker's counter.

"Give a dollar 'n' quarter?" he asked in pleading tones.

"Dollar," said the money lender.

"Oh, please give me a dollar 'n' a quarter!"

"Can't do it. Dollar."

The boy was almost crying, and he begged earnestly for the sum he asked. "I want to get my sister's coat out," he said as he laid down 8 cents as interest money. This proposition the pawnbroker accepted, and the boy went shivering into the cold with his sister's coat.

"Is your sister going to a dance tonight?" a bystander asked him.

"No, sir; mom's been sick, an' Maggie had to hock her coat for feed. She's got a job now, an' she's got to have a coat to go to work in. I don't mind the cold; I'm used to it."

Expensive.

"I've quit joking my wife about women carrying their pocket handkerchiefs in their pocketbooks," said Tenspot. "It didn't pay."

"How was that?" asked Hunker.

"She said she'd carry money in hers if she had it. Handed her out $10 on the spot."—Detroit Free Press.

RULER OF THE CAPE

Importance of Lord Milner In the Recent South African War—Head and Front of Civil Government. Personality of the Man.

No one has figured more prominently in South African affairs since the outbreak of the Boer war than Lord Alfred Milner, who has been governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa since 1897. While Sir Alfred's duties have not led to the fighting line, as the head and front of the civil government he has led a strenuous life.

The responsibilities resting upon him by virtue of his position at the chief base of supplies and operations in South Africa have been very heavy and at times exceedingly trying. Yet he has discharged them all in a manner that has won for him the praise of his countrymen.

Lord Milner, who is now in his forty-ninth year, can lay no claim to blue blood, for while on his mother's side he is the grandson of a British general his father was a Dr. Charles Milner, a professor of the University of Tubingen. Young Milner was not only born in Germany, but likewise received his early training as a German boy at a German school before going to King's college, and then to Oxford, where he acquired much fame as a scholar.

After taking his degree young Milner studied law and was called to the bar in 1881. Not finding this to his liking he entered journalism and became a member of W. T. Stead's Pall Mall Gazette. He remained with the Gazette until 1885, when he entered politics.

His first essay in politics was disappointing. He stood for parliament as a Liberal and was defeated. For the next three years he was private secretary of Mr. Goshen, then chancellor of the exchequer. He was thus behind the scenes while the great operation of converting the English debt was going on and acquired a knowledge of finance that has since been of great value.

Lord Milner, on the recommendation of Mr. Goshen, entered the Egyptian service in 1889 and as undersecretary of state for finance played an important part in the development of that country. The book which he wrote on his return entitled "England In Egypt" ran through several editions and is recognized as the standard authority on the subject.

After a brief tenure of chairman of the commissioners of inland revenue Lord Milner was sent in the year of the queen's jubilee to South Africa. There his duties were larger and more important than any he had yet undertaken.

To begin with, he was and is governor of the Cape of Good Hope, constitutional sovereign of a responsible colony, bound by the fleeting policies of colonial ministers. Then, as high commissioner, he is supreme ruler of a great native population in Basutoland and the Bechuana protectorate, governing the semi-independent native chiefs by means of local commissioners. He also has supreme authority over the territory of the Chartered companies, but with no direct share in its administration. When the Boer war broke out and the two Boer republics were annexed, he was appointed their governor, still retaining that office.

When Lord Milner visited England last year, he was made much of in ministerial circles and was raised to the peerage by King Edward, taking the title of Lord Milner of Cape Town. He is described as having a sharp, thin face and as looking much older than he really is. Lord Milner is a bachelor. His salary at Cape Town is $40,000 a year besides a liberal allowance for expenses.

Lord Milner is not wealthy, and it has been said that he is without any fortune. Notwithstanding his large salary, like all English officials he regards it his duty to spend his salary and allowances in maintaining the dignity of his position.

Lord Milner is by choice a hard worker. He eschews the pursuit of pleasure except such as comes in the course of work as a dreary nuisance. He is therefore classed as a good man—"good" as our fathers used the word.

The success of Lord Milner's career is due to hard work and singleness of purpose. Wherever he has been placed he has labored to the end that what he accomplished should be done right as he viewed it.

As a ruler of South Africa he has been regarded as severe. He is first of all an imperialist, always working to extend the dominion of Great Britain. He as much as any other individual was responsible for the Boer war.

ADVISING AN ARTIST.

The Novel Suggestion That Was Contributed by Uncle Silas.

Uncle Silas Eastman and his wife took summer boarders. One year they had a number of artists who were attracted by the picturesque loneliness of the Eastman farm, and Uncle Silas never hesitated to say afterward that artists were "beyond him."

"They make no trouble about their eating," he said to a friend when at last the boarders had taken their way to fresh fields. "You couldn't call 'em prompt, but then they never minded whether things were hot or cool. Leastways they never found any fault.

"But they've got curious notions and mighty little faculty and common sense. One of 'em was to work on a sunset piece all the time he was here. I went out one evening and asked him how he was getting on, and he says:

"'Oh, Uncle Silas, the light changes so fast, and the effect is so hard to get, and there's only one night more.'

"He was a nice little fellow, and I felt sorry for him, so I says: 'Well, why in tunket haven't the rest of 'em took hold with ye and helped ye out? There's room enough on that canvas for all four of ye to be working together! I bet ye never thought of asking 'em, now did ye?' I says.

"And do ye believe me, I'm as sure as I'm standing here in my overshoes from the blank look that spread over his face that the idea had never come into his poor, foolish head till I put it there!

"They've got their place, artists have, but there'd ought to be a gardeen 'pointed over every one of 'em that I ever saw! Yes, sir!"—Youth's Companion.

Of Age.

Some few days ago a policeman was sent to serve a summons on a notorious poacher. This person, who lived alone and had evaded service successfully for some time, was the owner of a male goat. My friend, whom I will call Mac, went to the defendant's house, but the wily poacher, observing his approach, had fled, leaving the door unfastened. Mac saw the goat tied up in a corner, entered and solemnly read the summons to him, after which he stuck the copy on his horns. He then went home and indorsed the paper thus:

"Served by leaving a copy of this summons in defendant's residence at —, with an inmate," etc.

When proving service, Mac was asked by the magistrate:

"Was the inmate of age?"

"Your worship," said my friend, laying his hand on the middle button of his tunic, "he had a beard down to that."—London Tit-Bits.

The Theologian's Point.

A dispute recently arose at a beer table in Germany between a group of university men as to which science was the oldest.

A representative of the law declared that it was jurisprudence, for this science must have been known in paradise, seeing that Adam and Eve were evicted therefrom.

"Why," said a graduate of medicine, "medicine is certainly of older date. Just think of the operation that Adam had to submit to in order that a rib should be obtained for Eve!"

"No, no, gentlemen," retorted an electro technician, "for before anything was created God said, 'Let there be light!'"

Then came the theologian, who said, "I do not want to appear presumptuous, but I think that precedence belongs to theology, for before it was light it was—dark!"

IRISH LAND TROUBLE

BIDS FAIR TO SURPASS OUTBREAK OF TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Once again Ireland is in the midst of a land war. The trouble has been brewing for some time, and Castlebar jail, in which so many Irish members of parliament have at various times spent periods of retirement, is again likely to be filled with distinguished guests.

The trouble had its beginning on the De Freyne estates, in Roscommon county, and is likely to assume even greater proportions than the violent outbreaks of twenty years ago, for the reason that the United Irish league, started in 1898, is stronger today than the Land league was in 1881.

For more than fifty years there has been more or less trouble on the De Freyne estates. There are about 10,000 tenants on this great estate. The tenants are desirous of purchasing their buildings, and Lord De Freyne, who rarely visits his property, might be glad to sell the property were it not that the tenants do not seem inclined to pay arrears of rents, which must be done, according to the land act of 1871, before it is possible to apply to the courts for purchase of the land.

Some of these arrears of rent have been accumulating for forty years or more, and the tenants say their holdings—not more than six acres on the average—are too small to enable them to pay rent. Under advice of the United Irish league most of the tenants are withholding a part at least of even the small sums they could pay, putting the money instead into the league, which holds out to them the hope of bringing the landlord to terms.

Lord De Freyne recently issued a circular to his tenants intimating that it was a case of pay up or fight, and fight it is. There have been several evictions already, and a few of the tenants have ventured to pay their rent, but they have been regarded by the others as traitors and have been given to understand by reason of boycotts and midnight raids that they need a lesson in patriotism.

Despite the activities of the police signal fires on the hills, the blowing of horns and clanging of church bells are summoning the people of the district together for secret meetings. Already the law is declared powerless. A few days ago an officer achieved the idea of serving writs on some of the tenants while the men folk were away at a fair. Although he was accompanied by six policemen, the women collected and by means of sticks and stones made it hot for the invaders, who finally had to get out.

With all this preliminary trouble one can get some idea of what will happen when 2,000 families comprising some 10,000 persons are turned out in a bunch. Conor O'Kelly, a good looking young Irish member of parliament, who, with four other members of the United league, was sent to Castlebar in December for making a speech which the government thought unlawful, is now at liberty. Speaking of the trouble at De Freyne, he said, "If bloodshed should result from throwing 10,000 people out on the roadside, there will be an outbreak in Ireland that will have serious consequences for the government of the country."

John Dillon, chairman of the Irish Nationalist party in the house of commons, also foresees serious trouble. But whatever happens he is sure to be in the thick of it. Mr. Dillon, who, it will be recalled, was recently suspended for a breach of parliamentary rules in applying the epithet "blank liar" to Joseph Chamberlain, knows how it feels to receive punishment. He was the first of the Parnellites to suffer in the famous suspension of 1881.

Mr. Dillon, by the way, is not a rude, unlettered apostle of revolution. He belongs indeed to eminently fashionable society. He married the daughter of a judge, though he himself has slept in a prison cell. He was educated at a university and is a member of the Irish Royal College of Surgeons. Mr. Dillon is about fifty years old.

One reason the coming conflict bids fair to be memorable is that for the first time since Parnell's downfall there is a united Irish party in parliament, and with the keen joy of a fight to look forward to there is no sign that it will fall apart.

A FATAL MISTAKE

Is Often Made by the Wisest of East Liverpool People.

It's a fatal mistake to neglect back ache.

Back ache is the first symptom of kidney ills.

Serious complications follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them promptly.

Don't delay until too late.

Until it becomes Diabetes—Bright's Disease.

Read what an East Liverpool citizen says:

Mrs. Mary Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney complaint in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a severe attack of rheumatism; for three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend, lean back against a chair or reach up. I could not lie on my back and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the W. & W. pharmacy, did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper states them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of backache and all other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Men who look much older than they are never appear to such disadvantage as with the wife who keeps her matronly beauty. The secret of health and the manly vigor which goes with health is nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased there is loss of nutrition, and corresponding physical weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, which prevent nutrition, and makes men healthy and vigorous.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years and was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "I also suffered much with constipation. I tried many different medicines which were recommended to cure the trouble but these only made me worse. I had such a weak and debilitated appearance that it seemed as if I had hardly any blood in my whole body. At last I came across an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's. I at once tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. I used about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery' which brought me back to my former state of health."

BAPTIST UNION MET

Young Peoples Church Sociey Conventions Heard Addresses.

Opened Second Day's Session Yesterday—Chapman Chosen President and Other Officers Selected. Speeches on Different Subjects.

Providence, R. I., July 12.—The Baptist Young People's union convention began its second day here yesterday with prayer meetings in the First Baptist church, where Rev. E. P. Tuller, of Detroit, Mich., spoke upon a "Call to Battle," and in Infantry hall, where Rev. Walter Calley, of Boston, addressed a great audience upon "The Girdle of Consecration."

The order of exercises was taken up at 9:30 o'clock with "the open parliament," led by President E. W. Lunt, D. D.

The nominating committee presented at 10:30 a list of officers for the coming year, all of whom were elected, as follows:

President, John H. Chapman, Illinois; vice president, George Miller, Maryland; second vice president, Thomas Trotter, D. D., Nova Scotia; third vice president, Samuel Seymour, Pennsylvania; recording secretary, H. W. Reid, Illinois; treasurer, H. B. Osgood, Chicago; members of the board of managers, Ira M. Pierce, D. D., H. W. Reid, J. W. Low, C. S. Burton, H. F. Perry, D. D., W. H. Geiswert, D. D., E. W. Hunt, D. D., George T. Webb and M. L. Britton.

The board of managers and state officials met at 4 o'clock for the transaction of business pertaining to the order. The five conferences begun Thursday were continued late yesterday afternoon under the supervision of Prof. F. L. Anderson, Newton Centre, Mass.; Rev. H. F. Perry, D. D., Chicago; Prof. J. M. Stiffler, D. D., Chester, Pa.; Rev. J. W. Weddell, D. D. Davenport, Ia., and Miss L. E. Pushnell, Chicago.

The evening meetings were conducted simultaneously in Infantry hall and in the First Baptist church. In connection with the presentation of the senior all around banner, Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D., of Kansas City, Mo., spoke in the former place upon "God's Estimate of His Works," while Rev. Thomas Anderson, of Omaha, Neb., spoke upon the same subject in the church.

NO PROSELYTING IN SCHOOLS.

Wright So Declared as to Charges Made In Catholic Times, Regarding Philippines.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Root has addressed an identical letter to persons complaining that teachers in the Philippines have been proselyting and attempting to convert Catholics to the Protestant faith. It says in part:

"The following dispatch has now been received from Governor Wright:

'Secretary of War, Washington:

"'Referring to telegram from your office of 6th inst., charges made by Catholic Times unfounded in every essential particular. Untrue that nearly all American teachers are Protestant preachers and proselyters. The fact is one division superintendent was preaching in the United States a short time, then became teacher. Possibly two or three similar instances among teachers. Bryan, head of normal school, was never clergyman and never occupied a pulpit here or anywhere. There are now two American Catholic teachers in school of instruction (Normal school) and five in Manila city schools. Native teachers in city numbering 140, all Catholic. Untrue that teachers of normal schools are proselyting and that school graduates only Protestants. Exceptional that any graduate is other than Catholic. Untrue that Filipino is taught that Protestantism brings enlightenment and Catholicism ignorance and tyranny. No reason to suppose that Stone, superintendent, and Oliver, principal, Manila, bigoted or anti-Catholic. Both deny it, as also the statement that graduates of Catholic university have been refused place in Manila and sent into the wilderness. Private secretary of Commissioner Moses, Catholic, also private secretary of Atkinson, general superintendent of public instruction, also three division superintendents. Have shown your cable to Rev. William D. McKinnon, Catholic priest, a member of the advisory board, general instruction, who confirms the statement of facts made by me above. Law to inaugurate public school system forbids religious instruction in schools or school buildings by teachers, but allows same three days a week in school buildings, by priest or preacher, out of school hours, upon request of parents (see section 16, act 74). This intended as concession to Catholic sentiment. There are about 3,400 native teachers employed in the islands, all of whom are Catholics. Teachers selected without reference to religion and not allowed to preach or teach religion in schools. No discrimination against Catholic teachers.

"'Wright.'"

London Dealers Prepared to Capture the American Dollar.

Americans who attend the coronation of King Edward will find a splendid opportunity to gratify their taste for souvenirs. London jewelers, badge-makers and that ilk have prepared innumerable articles, costly and cheap, to commemorate the event. There are busts and pins and buttons galore in the cheaper variety, and for those who want to expend more there are costly articles in precious metals and jewels up to fabulous amounts.

England does not crown a sovereign every day, and the event is one to be remembered, and souvenirs will be treasured by generations to come. Among the more costly articles shown in London are many medallion portraits, some of the king, some of the queen and others of the two together, these with a ring at the top and some set around with jewels.

SOUVENIR CORONATION BUST.

A pair of cuff links are in the form of oval buttons, a big C outlining one and in the center the remainder of the word "coronation," while on the other button are the intwined letters "E. R.," with a tiny "VII." between them.

A pretty brooch of diamonds, olivines and rubies has the figures "1902" intwined and surmounted with a crown. One other small brooch has the letters "E. R." joined by a crown and surmounted by the "VII.," and one "1902" pin has the date on a bar of gold surmounted by a crown, and another, a crown from which rays of gold ascend, has the date across the broadest part of the rays.

A diamond and enamel bar brooch has a crown in the center, a shamrock and thistle finishing the two ends of the bar and joined by a spray of green leaves in the rose of England below.

Perhaps the souvenirs that will appeal to the Americans abroad will be the coronation spoons. These are in great variety and are comparatively inexpensive. They are shown in many styles. Some of the handsomest have Westminster abbey in the bowl.

Smaller spoons with heart shaped bowls are differently finished. One has the coat of arms of Great Britain in the bowl, the letters "E. R." surmounted by a crown and with date at the top of the handle. Another has nothing in the bowl, but a head of the king on the top of the handle.

MR. HACKETT'S FIND.

Young Texas Actress Who Scored a Success In "The Crisis."

One of the most charming young actresses who have recently achieved successes before the footlights is Miss Charlotte Walker, who scored a hit in the role of Virginia Carvel in "The Crisis."

Miss Walker was discovered by James K. Hackett, who has made quite a record in bringing out leading ladies.

MISS CHARLOTTE WALKER.

Miss Walker is a Texas girl, who until last fall had only been seen in small parts in light comedy.

During the past season she played in "Don Cæsar's Return" and also appeared in "The Gentleman of France" with Kyrle Bellew, in neither of which plays she had a chance to show her quality.

When Miss Walker was given the role of the southern heroine of "The Crisis" by Mr. Hackett, she at once vindicated the faith he had in her ability, scoring a pronounced success.

NOTABLE MAN HUNTS

HOW CRIMINALS HAVE BEEN CHASED TO ENDS OF EARTH.

Benson, Who Posed as Mme. Patti Agent, Cheated Justice by Death Relentless Energy of the Police In Tracking Counterfeiters.

There have been many long pursuits of criminals, great in the distance traveled, the obstacles overcome and the persistence of the pursuing officers, but that of Sergeant Wood of the Natal (South Africa) police is doubtless a record breaker. The man sought by Sergeant Wood was charged with embezzling large sums of money at Pietermaritzburg. He got away from South Africa and went to New York. Although the detective had information as to where his quarry was hiding, yet he had first to visit London to obtain the necessary extradition papers. Then he hurried to America and with the assistance of the United States police ran down his man. By the time he had reached Maritzburg he had been traveling hard for nearly three months and had covered nearly 21,000 miles.

One of the sternest chases of recent years was after Loys Darrell, formerly sergeant in the Seventh United States cavalry. Darrell enlisted at the beginning of the Spanish-American war and distinguished himself at Cuba. There he fell in love with a pretty Spanish girl and beggared himself in buying finery for his sweetheart. To obtain more money he robbed and murdered a companion in arms named Crouch. He then fled.

A detective named Dupuy was put upon the murderer's track and, finding a clew, started for New Orleans. He was right in his surmise that Darrell had gone there, but when he arrived the bird had flown. He had left on a British mule transport for South Africa. Dupuy took train for New York, fast boat for Southampton, rushed by rail across Europe, caught a boat of the German East African line and finally arrived at Beira, in Portuguese East Africa.

There he waited like a spider for a fly, and just as Darrell was fancying himself safe from pursuit he pounced upon him. Later on the detective deposited his prisoner safely in Castle William jail in New York. He had traveled in all 31,000 miles and spent $4,250 in the chase.

One of the most astonishing criminals England ever produced was a man named Benson, who began operations in London with two confederates. He organized a series of swindling companies in the city, while he himself, pretending to be an invalid, lived in the greatest luxury in the Isle of Wight. He posed as a great philanthropist, was foremost in charitable works and went into the very best society. By dint of bribing certain officers of the law he lived for some years on the proceeds of his swindles. But one day the crash came. He was arrested, sentenced and got a long term in Portsmouth jail.

No sooner was he out than he was at his old tricks again. These culminated in Switzerland, where he managed to gain the affections of the daughter of an English officer. Through her he induced her father to trust him with the investment of his entire capital, some $35,000. He bolted with the money. Chased across Europe, a detective caught him at Bremen. To avoid scandal the victim promised not to prosecute if Benson would give up the money. The latter did so and left for America. Hardly was the vessel out of sight before it was discovered that the bundle of scrip the thief had handed over was worth at most $160.

Followed across the Atlantic, Benson escaped to Mexico, where he made £5,000 by passing himself off as Mme. Patti's agent and selling forged concert tickets. By this time his photograph was in almost ever police bureau in the world. Yet he dodged and twisted under a dozen aliases and was heard of in almost every South American state before a clever New York detective ran him down in Rio after a two years' hunt.

Even then he cheated justice. Landed in prison in New York, he walked upstairs, chatting amiably to his jailer. Suddenly he made a spring and jumped clean over the banister. He was picked up with a broken back and died that night.

The police never exhibit more relentless energy than in hunting down a coiner. A coiner's crime is against government, and so the whole forces of the state are against him. The United States suffers far more from coiners than England does and is proportionately keen to run down such offenders. Early in 1900 a man named Hastings was surprised in his workshop, from which he had issued many thousands of small silver coins, but he was too quick for his would be captors and escaped. No fewer than seven secret service men were put on his track. The remarkable fact is that Hastings never attempted to leave the states.

Ellfer, one of the detectives, got a hint that a stranger was in the woods. He took a blanket and some food and hid himself in a thicket. Very early in the morning Hastings passed, carrying a bag of food. Ellfer tracked him to his refuge and saw that the forger was armed. He waited some distance away in hiding. When night came, Hastings came out with a dark lantern and searched every bush near his hiding place. At last he was satisfied and went back. So soon as Ellfer felt sure the man was asleep he crept up and had the handcuffs on him before he could awake. On the way to the jail Hastings told his captor that he had seen him on ten different occasions and had once, in Cincinnati, been within three feet of him in a theater.—Chicago Chronicle.
